THE GRAND JURY

MADE NO REPORT

On the Alleged Jury Box Tampering Case

Alleged Bribery of Alderman Hayes in Connection With Granting of Telephone Franchise Not Reported on—John Clancey and Arthur W. McDonald Indicted for Manslaughter

THE GRAND JURY REPORTED AT THE COURT HOUSE TODAY AND NO REPORT WAS MADE ON THE ALLEGED ATTEMPTED BRIBERY OF ALDERMAN HAYES IN CONNECTION WITH THE RECENT ATTEMPT OF THE INDEPENDENT TELEPHONE CO. TO GET A FRANCHISE IN THIS CITY. IN THE REPORT NO MENTION IS MADE EITHER OF THE JURY BOX TAMPERING CASE IN WHICH ALDERMEN HAYES AND WALKER AND THE CITY CLERK AND HIS EMPLOYES WERE CALLED AS WITNESSES.

The grand jury reported its findings on the cases submitted in the September session at the court house in Gorham street this morning and after the arraignment of the defendants at present in the Lowell jail, the court and jury proceeded to Cambridge on the 12.12 train and finished their report in that city. There were eight cases in the Lowell jail awaiting the action of the grand jury and 50 in the Cambridge jail.

Judge Bell presided over the session and District Attorney Sanderson and his assistant, Arnold Scott, presented the cases.

The most important of the Lowell jail cases was that of John J. Clancey whom the grand jury indicted for manslaughter in assaulting and beating William Dillon so as to cause the death of the latter. Clancey pleaded not guilty of manslaughter and the court placed him under $5000, to appear for trial during the session.

Albert E. Bailey was indicted on four counts of breaking and entering at Pepperell and he pleaded guilty.

George H. Anderson, the farm hand who stole about everything not nailed in the home of Frederick Casey in Billerica, was indicted on counts of larceny and of receiving stolen property. He pleaded guilty.

William Burns and Fedita Colprone, indicted for breaking and entering the saloon of John Donohoe in Moody street, both pleaded guilty.

Rose Perreault pleaded guilty to an indictment for adultery with Frank Lessard.

James B. Fisher was indicted for being unlawfully married to Ethel A. Morris in that he had a lawful wife living at the time of his second marriage and he was also indicted for adultery with Ethel A. Morris. He pleaded guilty.

No bill was found against Luigi Welcome and he was discharged.

District Attorney Sanderson in reply to a question by a reporter of The Sun stated that the case of Messrs. Dow, Beals et. als., were set down for trial on September 17th and would take place then or as near that date as possible. He was unable to state whether the cases would be heard in Lowell or Cambridge.

JURY TAMPERING CASE.

The biggest surprise in a long time was the sudden and unexpected summons of Chairman Walker, Alderman Hayes, City Clerk Dadman, City Messenger Pattee, Assistant Clerk McCarthy and Misses Hill and Storey of the city clerk's office who were ordered before the grand jury yesterday in an investigation of the manner in which the recent panel of jurymen was drawn.

At the special meeting of the board of aldermen a week ago last Monday jurors were drawn, and Alderman Hayes was designated to do the drawing. The list drawn was as follows:—Freeman M. Bill, 61 Eleventh street; Joseph Farley, barber; Samuel J. Coote, 308 High street; Frank C. Breed, 67 Midland street; Herbert Pilling, 44 Harvard street; John C. King, 213 East Merrimack street.

Upon examining the slips of paper Clerk Dadman found the Freeman Bill slip written in ink, and instead of "Eleventh street," it read "Element," a mistake in spelling. Knowing that it was the custom to typewrite the names for the jury box, he questioned his clerks and they were sure that they had not written a name with pen and ink.

After conference with Chairman Walker, Clerk Dadman disowned the Freeman Bill slip, and decided to bring the matter before the district attorney.

State Officer Rhoades had a private conference with the city clerk Tuesday afternoon, but it was supposed to have relation to the aldermanic cases then before the grand jury.

The grand jury opened its session at 9.30 this morning, hearing the witnesses in the complaint against Dr. Demosthenes Generalis, for alleged criminal libel. They made their partial report shortly after 11 o'clock. The regular list of indictments was not given out until they reached Cambridge at one o'clock.

HARVARD CREW

TO BE GUESTS OF THE REIDS.

PUTNEY, Eng., Sept. 7.—Both the Harvard and Cambridge crews were out for brief periods this morning to keep their muscles tuned up but the work done was confined to practicing starts in which the experts found little to chose between the crews. Each side apparently is quietly confident but among outsiders and riverside oarsmen there is an entire absence of that self-confidence regarding the result which is almost always present a full week before the annual Oxford-Cambridge contests. Generally speaking the professionals favor the Americans and the amateurs pin their faith to the Cambridge crew.

Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid will follow the race tomorrow in a launch, jointly chartered by Harvard and Cambridge for the accommodation of their friends.

The Harvard men who have arranged to sail for home on the American line steamer St. Louis, September 15, will spend Sunday at Cambridge and go to Wrest Park September 16 as the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Reid.

FOR RECRUITS

"DETENTION BUILDINGS" TO BE CONSTRUCTED AT NEWPORT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The navy department will shortly open bids for the construction of several "detention buildings" at the naval training station at Newport, R. I., the sum of $34,321 having been appointed by congress at its last session for this work. It is the intention of the department to use these buildings for the quartering of the recruits during the first few weeks at the station so as to observe their physical condition and thereby prevent the spreading of any hidden disease to the other buildings at the station. Five of the buildings will contain four sets of living quarters for fourteen men each and the sixth building will contain the cook house, laundry, boiler room and the quarters of the petty officers on duty at the camp.

INSTANT DEATH

Six Men Were Killed at Progresso

MERIDIA, Yucatan, Sept. 7. The parting of a cable on the British steamer Halla in the port of Progresso brought instant death to six men yesterday. They were in a small boat alongside the steamer which was being unloaded when several tons of boxed machinery broke from the hoists and crashed down squarely on top of the small boat. Two were rescued unhurt.

It is understood that the boat will be detained in port until an official investigation can be made of the accident which has excited much comment. All the dead are Mexicans.

INSURGENT LEADER

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the Herald from Havana, Cuba, says:

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgent forces in Pinar Del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. To a correspondent Col. Guerra said:

"You can tell the people north that I am going to take the offensive. If I have not done so already it was because I had to perfect the organization and attend to matters which appeared to be of first importance. I shall not attempt to hold towns or fortify a position in the hills. I shall continue to move rapidly everywhere."

"Has the government made any proposals of peace?" was asked.

"Officially none," replied Guerra. "A committee came to see me two days ago and another of veterans Thursday. Many veterans are awaiting further movements. Unless we obtain an honorable peace they will join us. I have made no proposition to the government. I have no authority to name conditions of peace. I am simply a soldier, obeying the orders of the central committee which is merely a revolutionary body without taking the form of a government. I obey their directions and recognize their authority.

"Perhaps you would like to know who is my candidate for president. I have none. If Palma should be elected by the people I would be the first to declare my allegiance. I will support any man elected. If the American people had such a government as exists here they would not let it remain in power five days."

HALF FARE

MAY BE ASKED FOR SAILORS OF U. S. NAVY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The suggestion has been made to the navy department that if arrangements could be made with the railroad companies to carry sailors of the navy at half fare or reduced rates it would be of great benefit to the service and would cause the enlistment of more men from the inland towns who are now compelled to pay the full fare out of their own pocket when they wish to see their home folk. The sailors of the British navy are permitted to travel on the various boat and railway lines at reduced rates and it has been pointed out to the department that an American bluejacket in uniform will be transported for half fare in England or the colonies.

BUSY TIME FOR CARPENTERS

Pay Roll Swolen Because of Extra Work

The superintendent of lands and buildings reports that all necessary repairs have been made on the schoolhouses, and the buildings are now ready for the pupils.

The lands and buildings department have been very busy of late, as extensive repairs were made on school houses.

A great deal of work was done at the high school. A new fire escape has been installed, a new floor was laid in the principal's office and other repairs of a minor nature have been made.

The boilers of the high school annex were extensively repaired and the furnaces of the main building were thoroughly overhauled.

The Highland grammar school has had a number of new ceilings. New floors have been laid in the Butler, Edson, Franklin and Varnum grammar schools. Rollers were repaired at the Butler, Edson, Franklin and Varnum grammar schools. Other repairs have already been mentioned in The Sun.

The expenses for this department are always highest at this time of year, as, in order to get the work done on time, new names are added to the pay roll.

HENRY M. WHITNEY

May be Tendered the Congressional Nomination

By Democrats of Fifth District—Dunbar and Ames Will Have Joint Debate—Nat. Allen After Col. Ames — Campaign Warms Up Materially

Hon. Henry M. Whitney, the apostle of reciprocity and who made such an excellent run for lieutenant governor last year, may be the democratic candidate for congress in this district against the winner of the Dunbar-Ames contest, should he not be a candidate for governor.

The idea of drafting a strong candidate has been discussed by several local politicians the past few days and the name of Henry M. Whitney has aroused considerable enthusiasm. They are confident that if Mr. Whitney could be induced to accept the nomination he would defeat any candidate of the other side and they consider that Mr. Whitney would make a most valuable man for New England interests in congress.

While a candidate has never been drafted in this district before it is an old custom and is allowable.

The Bohemian club held a delightful outing at the Arlington camp on the banks of the Concord river yesterday. Humphrey O'Sullivan was host and toastmaster and the affair was purely and exclusively a social occasion. Fred H. Rourke and Col. J. H. Carmichael were among the guests, but there was nothing doing in the political line.

John L. Hunt will be a democratic candidate for senator. When Mr. Hunt appeared at headquarters for his papers Secretary William J. McCluskey entered into a financial discussion with the candidate, according to Mr. Hunt, whereas the latter objected to such mercenary methods and after quoting the case of Donahue vs. O'Brien threatened to invite the secretary before the grand jury. Mr. Hunt later informed a reporter of The Sun that after receiving his papers he would gladly assist the party both financially and morally, but he disliked the idea of being obliged to put up money as a prerequisite for securing said papers, particularly as the law forbids such procedure.

Sec. McCluskey on the other hand was both surprised and chagrined to think that his old friend Mr. Hunt would question his methods or motives even for the short space of one minute. "Mr. Hunt may certainly have his papers without even the payment of a solitary yen which is much less than a cent in value," quoth Sec. McCluskey. "The papers were not ready when he called and I merely suggested that a contribution from the gentleman would be duly appreciated and put to proper uses. Far be it from me to hold up so eminent a democrat and so enthusiastic a campaigner as my friend Hunt. Perish the thought!"

A report was circulated yesterday to the effect that either Fred H. Rourke or Col. Carmichael would withdraw from the mayoralty contest and leave the field against Mayor Casey clear to the other. Mr. Rourke when seen said: "I cannot withdraw now and have had no intention of withdrawing. I will be in the contest till the finish."

Col. Carmichael when seen said: "I have not stated positively that I will be a candidate. I do not know whether I shall run for mayor or not. Until I find out about certain things I shall not know either. I cannot say when I shall be able to declare myself one way or the other."

The plot thickens!

Ames has challenged Dunbar to a duel!

Dunbar has accepted and has chosen his seconds.

The weapons will be words.

For ring-side seats apply to Colonel Chadwick or Joe Legare.

The go will be at catch-weights.

Congressman Ames to Mr. Dunbar:

"Though my opponent is a lawyer, which I am not, and inasmuch as his half-hearted challenge to a joint debate only appeared in a paper at this end of the district, I gladly accept here in Reading the challenge of my opponent, Mr. Dunbar, to a joint debate on any or all of the issues of the campaign at any time and at any place."

Mr. Dunbar to Congressman Ames:

"A political speech delivered by you in Reading last evening does not, like all of your previous utterances, appear this morning in any newspaper. I learned, notwithstanding, that in this speech you challenged me to meet you in joint debate upon any or all of the issues of our congressional contest. This challenge I eagerly accept.

"My campaign committee chairman, Col. Alfred M. Chadwick, will meet you or such representative as you may designate, and make proper arrangements for our debate in regular course."

Ames says that Dunbar challenged him in a half-hearted manner in a country paper which no one in Lowell reads. Dunbar claims that he didn't challenge Ames at all but was glad to get a crack at him and states furthermore that while Ames was careful to have all his other speeches printed broadcast through the district the speech containing the challenge did not appear in any of the papers. Verily things are warming up a bit.

And now comes Nathaniel Allen with a deep-seated grievance against Congressman Ames with a petition for an injunction up his sleeve. It was Allen who wrote for and received the letter from Speaker Cannon endorsing Congressman Ames which the latter has had published throughout the district. The trouble between the congressman and Mr. Allen occurred early last evening when for some reason known only to Mr. Allen he insists that the congressman cease to use Speaker Cannon's letter to Mr. Allen. It may be that Cannon has no requested.

Clinton P. Tuttle, a clerk in the auditor's office, is said to be a candidate for register of deeds against Capt. Joe Thompson.

MORE ARRESTS

In Naturalization Cases in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Just as certain politicians wer beginning to feel that the investigation by United States Atty. French's office into alleged naturalization frauds would amount to nothing two arrests came yesterday with rumors of more to follow.

Yesterday afternoon William J. Monahan, a coachman, of 64 Whitney street, Roxbury, was arrested by U. S. Marshal Waters on complaint of Frank Burke, a secret service operator. Monahan was a witness on a paper issued to Daniel J. Holmes, a carpenter, 68 Whitney street, on Jan. 25, 1904. Statements sworn to in this paper are said to be false.

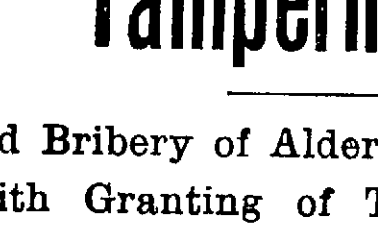

Holmes was taken into custody yesterday, but was not locked up at the Charles street jail, as was Monahan.

MINOR ACCIDENTS.

BOGUS BONDS

Used by Hipple to Rob Philadelphia Bank

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 6.—Rumors of arrests of directors of the looted Real Estate Trust Co. hit the air today. District Attorney Bell declares in most emphatic terms that no man will be spared in the effort to bring to justice those responsible for the dissipation of the depositors' money. The statement is made that 2 directors who were also members of the bar, have profited to the extent of $750,000 in the past three years by accepting fees from Adolph Segal for passing on security tendered by him for loans from the bank, aggregating $5,300,000. So far as is known, warrants have not yet been issued for these men.

President Hipple's plaintive cry from his grave, "Segal got all," has aroused the depositors to a high pitch of indignation. Facts are fast coming to light revealing new forms of duplicity on the part of men entrusted with the depositors' money and the trust funds of large and small estates. Investigation shows that the looting of the trust company will cost the Presbyterians less than $100,000.

Receiver Earle said today:

"Hipple was not content with stealing with the same bond or stock certificate once, but did it several times over.

"He would, for instance, receive a bond or certificate as collateral for a loan, the security representing a safe margin. Then if Segal came along asking for a loan and presenting insufficient security, Hipple would take the good security, deposit with a note of another man and place it with Segal's note. In this manner the directors were brought to believe that the sound certificate was collateral for the loan to Segal. This sort of plan was repeated by Hipple as often as Segal's demands seemed to render it necessary."

It was established that the substitution of the bogus bonds for good bonds among the trust securities of the Presbyterian general assembly board, was accomplished by Hipple through a species of sleight of hand. He went to the box in the vault containing the best securities in question, with the pretext of cutting coupons in order to cash them and place the proceeds to the credit of the board. After the box was opened, Hipple informed the clerk that somebody at the door wanted to see him for a moment. The clerk unsuspectingly left Hipple alone for this brief interval. The time was sufficient to enable him to substitute two bogus bonds for two genuine bonds, which he afterward hypothecated for the benefit of himself or Segal.

William F. North, treasurer of the company, and M. S. Collingwood, assistant treasurer, who were arrested yesterday on charges of aiding in the wrecking of the bank, were held before Magistrate Koscherspenger today. District Attorney Bell in outlining the case, said he would prove that the accused men with Hipple were engaged in a general conspiracy to defraud the trust company and that as a result of their acts more than $5,000,000

THREE KILLED

ALYRIA, Ohio, Sept. 6—Three men were killed and a dozen seriously injured by the falling of the second floor of the new factory building of the Garford Co. under construction here today. Those rescued from the ruins are said to be in a critical condition.

SCHAEFER'S STORY

Told to the Suffolk County Grand Jury

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Henry T. Schaefer of Winchester appeared before the grand jury today in response to a summons served yesterday from the office of District Attorney John B. Moran. Schaefer recently issued a letter in which he claimed that he had been approached by one of Mr. Moran's friends asking what contribution he would make to the Moran campaign if selected to run with the district attorney as lieutenant governor and his appearance before the grand jury is a result of his allegations.

After Mr. Schaefer had been in the grand jury room for nearly three quarters of an hour, he was excused for five minutes while Edward Alden, one of his clerks, testified. At 12 o'clock Mr. Schaefer was again called before the grand jury.

The grand jury adjourned for the day after it had concluded its examination of Mr. Schaefer. Soon afterward it was announced at the district attorney's offices that summonses had been issued for William A. Gaston, Mr. Lloyd and Dr. Taylor. The two last named were mentioned by Mr. Schaefer in his letter to District Attorney Moran. The three men will appear before the grand jury tomorrow.

Miss Deibold's nose was smashed and one eye is cut. It is thought that during a struggle both were thrown from the boat and drowned.

GOES HOME TO DIE

Young Italian to Carry Out Suicide Pact

A Dramatic Scene as He Was About to Board the Steamship—His Brother Implored Him Not to Make the Journey—Girl to Whom He Was Betrothed Committed Suicide

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A dramatic scene occurred on the French line pier today as the steamer La Provence left for Havre. Among the passengers was Luigi Contanrini, 34 years of age, who was bound for his old home in Lecco, province of Lombardi, Italy, to keep a suicide pact to die on his sweetheart's grave.

Antonio Contanrini, brother of the passenger created the scene on the pier and afterwards told his brother's story.

He said that Luigi became bethrothed to Josephine Ballatini, a girl in his native town. His parents opposed the match, preferring a wealthier suitor and Luigi with his sweetheart's promise to keep faith came to this country to seek his fortune. He established himself at Beaver, Okla., where he secured a farm and tilled it successfully. Then he wrote for Josephine to come but she replied that she could not, that her parents forbade, that she intended to commit suicide and that she expected Luigi to join her in death.

News quickly came that the girl had carried out her purpose and Luigi sold his property at Beaver and started for Italy to kill himself on the girl's grave. His brother Antonio lives in Paterson, N. J., and Luigi went to him, told him the story and bade him farewell. Entreaties failed to swerve the man and on the pier today Antonio made his final appeal. He clung to his brother, kissed him and implored him not to go. Luigi shook his head. Antonio fell on his knees, raised a crucifix aloft and with tears in his eyes, renewed his pleadings. Luigi could not be moved and finally turning his back on Antonio went on board La Provence.

When the ship sailed Luigi stood at the rail and watched Antonio who had again fallen to his knees and with outstretched arms was beckoning his brother.

MAD DOG SCARE

The People of Dracut Troubled Again

Another mad dog scare has visited Dracut. This time a meek little spaniel, the property of one Daniel Gibbons of Nashua, had a bad turn of mind today and was taken with an appetite for the flesh of other dogs.

At the Beaver Brook mills he bit two dogs and at the point where the Canobie Lake cars cross Lakeview avenue he engaged in one John Furgeson, a weaver in the Tremont & Suffolk mills of this city, who shot him dead. Mr. Furgeson reported the matter to the authorities and the dog's head will be sent to Boston for examination.

CANNELTON, Ind., Sept. 7.—The general offices of the Indiana cotton mills have been removed to this place from Louisville, where they have been for many years. This is considered an advantage to the town as all business of the mills, the chief industry of the town, will now be transferred here. Lee Rodman is vice-president and William C. Chamberlain is treasurer of the company.

CHANGES MAIN OFFICE.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Papers for the change of place of business of the Gloversville Textile Co. have been filed in the county clerk's office. The company will now have its main office located in North Tonawanda instead of Gloversville, as before.

MAY HAVE SHIRT PLANT.

RENSSELAER, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Representatives of a Rutland, Vt., shirt manufactory were in town inspecting a strip of land just north of the Barnet shoddy manufacturing plant on North Forbes avenue. The manufacturers, it is said, are desirous of establishing a factory in close proximity to Troy and if satisfactory inducements are offered will probably locate on the strip of land, which afford them direct connection with the Collar City, by the Albany & Troy Belt line. This is the second time within the last few months that these men have visited this site, but the attention of the chamber of commerce has not been brought to the matter. The manufacturers are, it is said, desirous of securing a strip of land 200 by 100 feet, with railroad frontage.

BREAKING CEMENT

BY STEAM TO SAVE PAVING BLOCKS.

The Worcester Post has the following which will be of interest to street makers:

The work of extending the high service pipe in Main street from the Worcester market to the new Odd Fellows building was commenced this morning by the water department.

In connection with this work, the officials of the water department are experimenting with a new method for tearing up the paving blocks preparatory to excavating.

Heretofore, the process of tearing up pavements has usually rendered unfit for usefulness a great many of the stone blocks, as the blocks would break before the cement. This made the job of opening up a street an expensive one in more ways than one.

Officials of the department, in trying to devise some scheme, whereby the work could be made easier and cheaper, hit upon the idea of steaming the cement, before trying to remove the paving blocks.

This plan is being given a test this week and officials of the water department are much pleased with the results.

Two 60-feet length of two inch steam pipe are encased in a wooden box, which is laid over the pavement which is to be removed. The box is then covered with sacks of sand and bales of hay for the purpose of confining the steam inside the box, and the steam is then sent through the pipes from a portable engine, from 80 to 90 pounds pressure being maintained.

After having been steamed for a day the cement is disintegrated, making it possible to remove the paving blocks uninjured, and therefore suitable for use again.

FAVORS DUNBAR

The Lawrence Telegram Gives Its Reason Why

The following is from the Lawrence Telegram of Sept. 5:

FOR CONGRESS—FRANK E. DUNBAR.

The above declaration will leave the question of the position of the Telegram in the present congressional contest no longer in doubt. The decision behind the declaration has been made only after careful deliberation, but now that it is made every honorable effort will be used in this column to bring about the success that we believe Mr. Dunbar deserves.

No Republican newspaper should editorially choose between aspirants for a party nomination without the best of reasons, but if there are such reasons we believe that for a party paper to keep neutral is often for it to fail to rise to its full responsibilities.

For four years The Telegram has endeavored to find some work that has been performed by the Congressman from the 5th District that justified his continuance in office, but without success. Not a newspaper in the state has suggested either achievement or promise to encourage the search, and so far as Lawrence is concerned, only at election time is the name of Ames even heard within the borders of the city.

The measure of a congressman is broad in manhood, high in attainments, deep in character. For the 5th District it is all these and more. It calls for sympathy and acquaintance with the peculiar needs of this peculiar district. In the belief that Mr. Ames fails to meet the measure all along the line we turn from him at this time when he seeks to add yet another term to the four years he has already had in Washington. To go into details is not the purpose of this announcement; they will be given fully and emphatically in the coming few weeks.

The district is fortunate in the alternative that is offered in the present opposition to the Congressman. For five weeks Mr. Dunbar has been attacked by Congressman Ames and accused in all manner of ways that might injure him in the district. The rantings of his opponent have at last led the people to query for themselves as to who Mr. Dunbar really is, and their investigations are sure to be favorable to his candidacy.

As we shall discuss the present issue before the Republican party in the 5th District, we shall endeavor to be fair to both parties, but it will be a fairness that recognizes the duty to criticise as well as the privilege to commend. In Mr. Dunbar the 5th District Republicans have a big man in the best sense of the word to rally around, and The Telegram will delight to sound the call in the city of Lawrence. From now until caucus day the call is "FOR CONGRESS, FRANK E. DUNBAR: A STRONG, FULL ROUNDED, AND VIRILE CITIZEN TRAINED TO THE DISTRICT'S NEEDS, AND POSSESSING ABILITY TO PROMOTE THEM."

PENSION SYSTEM

Favored by Trades Union Congress

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 6.—Pensions for everybody at the age of sixty was among the proposals adopted at today's session of the trades union congress. The advocates of the resolution contended that the money necessary for the pensions could easily be raised from among the wealthy by taxing land values.

The resolution in favor of treaties of arbitration, coupled with an emphatic protest against the increase of armaments or insidious attempts to introduce conscription in Great Britain, was also carried.

The congress also instructed the labor members of parliament to insist that trades union rates of wages be inserted in all government contracts and the establishment of a national minimum wage to protect the working people against the evil of "sweating."

COLONEL AMES

Appeals to Voters of Reading

READING, Sept. 6.—Hon. Butler Ames of Lowell, bearded the lion in its den when he last night advocated his own congressional candidacy in this town, where a large proportion of the voting population are either officers or employes of the two transportation corporations which he claims are out for his political scalp.

Col. Ames was half an hour late owing to a breakdown of his touring car, but the 300 men in the audience were kept interested by an orchestra. Col. Ames was attended by Postmaster Abbott, Arthur E. Roberts, Chairman Killam of the selectmen, E. B. Drake, president of the Ames campaign club, and club members. Postmaster Abbott presided.

The speaker reviewed at length his course at Washington, and the legislation he had secured. A reception followed the speaking.

THE VIM'S RACE

American Yacht Took Third Event for Roosevelt Cup

MARBLEHEAD, Sept. 6 Governor's Day in the German-American yacht race series was ushered in today with clear skies, fresh southwest winds and smooth seas.

In the light of the first two races of the series the conditions again favored the American boats. Still there seemed to be a general desire that the foreign boats might win one race, and as great preparations had been made for the reception to Gov. Guild today and an illumination in honor of the German victory this morning that Old might be the day for a German victory.

Marblehead harbor was crowded with yachts when the start rose this morning. A dozen large schooners, a score of steam yachts and a small navy of little craft of all descriptions floated on the placid surface. Close in shore lay the three German yachts easily recognized now by their mahogany colored sides, their light green decks and little masthead pennants, which two of them flew.

The American yachts spent the night at their customary anchorage far up at the head of the harbor well out of the way of prowling speed launches and careless sailing masters.

The crews of all six yachts were about the first ones out of bed and two or three hours before the start was made for Half Way Rock, two or three of the yachts were making sail stretching spins about the harbor.

The Vim which won yesterday's race was especially active in these preliminary canters in the ocean paddock.

Designer Gardener, strangely enough, expressed some disappointment over yesterday's contest, and said this morning that the Vim would have to go faster. Her new sail was therefore overhauled this morning and a couple of battens put in the leach.

The Wannsee's sail was also changed a bit but nothing was done to make it flew better and old American yachtsmen expressed the opinion that the foreign yachts would never win with their rails cut so flat.

Some of the yachtsmen eager to get as much sport as possible out of the event, suggested that before the German yachts left, a race be arranged for all six yachts, with the crews changed and the Germans sailing the American yachts.

The wind increased gradually during the forenoon from six miles an hour to about 13, a little more than an hour before the time set for the start.

For the first time in the series the Germans were somewhat slow in starting. The Vim was one of the first boats to leave followed closely by the Wannsee. The Glueckauf and Tilly, however, did not get away from their moorings until nearly 10 o'clock while the two other American boats, Auk and Caramba, brought up the rear. There was plenty of wind to send the yachts out to the starting point at a lively gait. At 10 o'clock there was every indication of a pick race.

The course set to Half Way Rock the committee found the wind about south west and at 10:30 signals were hoisted for a triangular race of fifteen miles with two and a half miles to a leg and twice around. The committee also signalled that the first leg as southwest with the idea of giving the yachts a beat to the first mark, a reach to the second and another beat back to the starting point. The wind fell off a little as the yachts maneuvered for position and shortly before 11 o'clock it was scarcely more than eight or nine miles an hour off shore.

The race was quite smooth in fact there was but little more any time since the race began.

The two preparatory signals were sounded at 11 o'clock and at 11:10 the yachts were sent away. They all went over on the starboard tack, but one of the Germans was a little ahead of the whistle and had to return. The Vim and Auk crossed the line almost together and five minutes after the start the Auk tacked to port and crossed the bow of the Wannsee. On getting out from the committee boat, nearly all the yachts tacked to port and headed in shore, in order to pick up a more favorable breeze.

The Stone Wireless reported that it was the Glueckauf that went over the line ahead of the signal and had to return. She was handicapped nearly a minute because of the anxiety of her skipper to get the best place.

The Stone Wireless also reported a rally up between the German boats Tilly and Wannsee, just before the start. The tripping lift of the Tilly caught in the forestays of the Wannsee and turned the latter boat around. They cleared however, before the signal was sounded and the Wannsee was able to get a good berth at the line. At 11:30, twenty minutes after the start the Vim was apparently leading the fleet. She crossed the bow of the Auk, Tilly and Wannsee, going on the starboard tack. The Caramba also crossed the bows of the Auk and the Glueckauf and at 11:34 she crossed the bow of the Wannsee. At that time, it was evident that the three American boats were once more leading the foreigners, the Vim first, Caramba second, and the Auk third.

The fight between the boats was most exciting. The yachts made a quick run down the second leg, the Vim and Auk still having a hot fight for the lead. The Auk gained four seconds in the two and a half miles but could not get out ahead. She was 11 seconds behind the Vim at the turn of the second mark on the second time around. The yachts turned the second mark as follows:

Vim 1.38.10, Auk 1.38.21, Tilly 1.42.20, Caramba 1.42.09, Wannsee 1.47.52, Glueckauf 1.49.38.

The Stone wireless reported officially that the Vim won today's race and the Tilly was second.

NEGROES HANGED

Two of Them Paid Death Penalty

PITTSBURG, Sept. 6.—Cornelius Coombs and John Williams, negroes, were hanged in the jail yard here today. Williams shot and killed Mrs. Quincey, his mother-in-law, at her home in this city on September 16 last year.

Coombs shot and killed Lizzie Dickerson at McKeesport, Feb. 8, 1905. The shooting was done in the presence of the woman's husband and was prompted by jealousy.

NEW QUARTERS.

Messrs. A. H. Bixby & Co., who have for the past two years carried on the undertaking business in the Merrimack house block have removed their business to 24 Jackson street in the Fiske building where they have altered over a portion of the building, and today have the most complete and attractive undertaking establishment in the city. Their new place of business is centrally located and can be easily reached by everybody. The sidewalls are done in burlap of magenta shade and the grill work and partitions are of Florence white, making a very beautiful appearance. A large room in the rear of the office can be used as a chapel where services can be held. In another room there is a large line of upright cabinets where an immense variety of elegant caskets can be seen. These cabinets are arranged after an original idea carried out by Mr. Bixby and are certainly a great improvement. There are also concealed cases where robes are kept. There is a morgue in the basement all arranged to take care of any emergency cases that might come to them. Mr. Bixby is an expert embalmer, having worked for years with Louis Jones & Co., of Boston, recognized as the leading undertakers in this section of the country. Mr. Bixby also has hacks and carriages which he can furnish on any and all occasions and all work entrusted to his care will receive careful attention and will be done under his personal supervision. He has associated with him men who are thoroughly acquainted with the business, and there is no reason why he shouldn't receive a generous share of the public patronage.

$100,000 SUIT

Dr. Horace Chase Alleges Slander

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—The gamut of sensations has not yet been run in the famous Chase case of Swampscott, for Dr. Horace Chase, who was recently in the limelight when the mysterious death of his wife was being probed, has filed through his attorney with the clerk of courts of Suffolk county his official declaration in a suit against his brother-in-law, L. B. Phillips of Swampscott, alleging slander.

The principal allegation of the plaintiff is that his brother-in-law intimated certain things at the time of his sister's death which were published in the newspapers.

The amount named in the suit is $100,000.

Mrs. Chase died on Sept. 11, 1905, and her death caused a great sensation. So many theories were advanced that the police took a hand in the mystery, but the woman's death was finally attributed to suicide.

The probating of the last will of the deceased developed into a very bitter contest, and the will was set aside. But its final adjudication is still pending in the supreme court.

KILLED HIMSELF

Harry B. Pyne Cut His Throat

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6.—Harry B. Pyne, head of the firm of Harry B. Pyne & Co., machine manufacturers, committed suicide in the presence of his wife and several others at his home today, by cutting his throat with a razor and then tearing the wound apart with his fingers. He first tried to shoot himself. The act is ascribed to ill-health.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens, of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." The standing of the highest teams at the end of the next to the final day of the national team match is as follows:

U. S. Infantry 287; U. S. cavalry 285; New York 283; Massachusetts 276; U. S. marine corps 276; U. S. navy 274; Ohio 270; New Jersey 268; Wisconsin 268; Washington 264; Minnesota 264; Pennsylvania 261; District of Columbia 260; Florida 260; Michigan 258; Connecticut 249; Rhode Island 246.

GETTING SCARED

The Revolutionists Fear Court Martial

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6. The firm note struck by Premier Stolypin in the official communication embodying the whole government program published last night with the warning that reforms can neither be abandoned nor deferred met with a prompt response on the Bourse today, where prices were not much firm, but very strong without any symptoms of artificial support.

The official note appeared today in the official Gazette, and the semi official Russian press but the attitude of the public has not yet developed.

The ukase authorizing the institution of field courts martial throughout the larger part of the empire is regarded with disquietude in most circles. While it is realized that it is a justifiable way in dealing with armed uprisings, it is claimed that unscrupulous officials are likely to abuse the powers conferred upon them. It has already thrown a panic into the ranks of the contributors to the revolutionary press and the drafters of incendiary proclamations who hitherto have had no worse punishment to fear than imprisonment or deportation.

MRS. ASTOR ILL

Several Doctors Called to Attend Her

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Mrs. William Astor of New York is ill at her apartments at the Hotel Somerset in this city. Dr. James Minot and Dr. J. H. Stevens of this city and Dr. Austin Flint of New York, visited Mrs. Astor shortly before noon and a consultation was held but no statement as to the patient's condition was given out. Dr. Flint came to Boston in an automobile in response to a telegram sent by Mrs. Astor. He planned to return to Newport during the afternoon.

It was said at the hotel this afternoon that Mrs. Astor was suffering from a severe cold and an attack of indigestion. Her condition, it was said, was not serious.

183 KILLED

AND 600 MAIMED BY CELEBRATION OF FOURTH.

The cost of the Fourth of July celebration is set forth as follows by the New Bedford Standard:

STATISTICS OF THE FOURTH.

Statistics of this year's casualties in connection with the celebration of the Fourth of July appear in the Journal of the American Medical Association, and are presumably compiled with care. The total number of deaths from tetanus is given as 75, and from other causes 41. The total number of injured is computed at 53o, the largest number recorded in four years' themes. This is probably an under-calculation, as there must have been many accidents which escaped the notice of the compilers. Of the injured 32 suffered complete loss of sight, 72 the loss of one eye, 56 the loss of legs, arms or hands, and 27 the loss of fingers. If true patriotism was actually promoted by the proceedings which caused these deaths and maimings, possibly the price is not too much to pay. Patriotism is a precious thing, and a country cannot have too much of it, as here it is strong. But it is not observable that the boy who loses two or three fingers by the premature explosion of a cannon cracker is more practically patriotic in his love of country when he grows up than the boy who comes out whole. There are and there have been patriots of the highest rank in this and in other countries who never dreamed that noise was necessary for their production and particularly noise with accompaniment of danger to themselves or to others. So that it must be confessed that it is doubtful whether it is worth while to kill 183 persons and maim more than 600 others for the sake of what patriotism is bred by it.

But He Picked Out His Man

ANTONIO GAVE UP $200

As Security For a $500,000 Package

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A well dressed man drove up to Antonio Matoder's farm, a few miles from Hartford, Conn., last Monday, and for some time gazed at Antonio as he ploughed the soil.

"Just in from Arizona," said the stranger, when the farmer took him the time of day. "Been thinking of buying some property up this way and just looking the ground over. Pretty good, isn't it?"

The stranger spoke splendid Italian, and Antonio was deeply impressed, especially when he was told that his farm looked well. Antonio has desired for a long time to visit his native land, and he soon had visions of selling the farm and getting more than he ever dreamed of. He invited the stranger into the house and that evening the farmer's wife killed two chickens and prepared a feast fit for kings. Antonio and the stranger feasted and drank Chianti, and the trusting farmer told of all the desirable property in the vicinity.

After the meal the stranger asked Antonio to show him the sights of Hartford. They started off, but before they had seen many sights they were joined by a well dressed Italian, who told them he was lonesome and wanted somebody to talk to. He invited them to have a drink, and while the bartender in the booze camp was kept busy the second stranger started in to tell his story.

"I've just in from California, where my uncle, who was a priest, recently died," he said. "He left me $200,000 and I've come here to have a monument erected. I also want to have some masses said for the repose of his soul. Then I want to buy a tiara for the pope, whom I intend to visit at Rome to deliver a dying message from my departed uncle. I'm somewhat nervous carrying this $500 around with me, but don't know of a safe place to leave it tonight."

Antonio promised to take care of it until the banks opened the next day. His kind offer was accepted, and the trio journeyed to the farm. Antonio produced a tin box and the second stranger placed a neat parcel therein.

"Of course I will want some security," the stranger told Antonio. "You look all right but one can't take chances these days."

The farmer forked over $200, all the money he had, and promised to guard the $500,000 with his life. If need be, then the two strangers departed, promising to return the next morning.

After they had gone Antonio's curiosity got the better of him. He had never seen such a fabulous amount of money and he was going to take one little peep. He unwrapped the parcel and beheld a bunch of newspaper.

The Hartford police were notified, and detectives learned that the two strangers had boarded a train for New York. The police here were notified and Detective Sergeant Petrosino got busy. He filed himself yesterday to Macdougal and Fourth streets and lay in wait. After a couple of hours he saw an old expert at the "con" game leave the house of 107 Macdougal street. When the man saw Petrosino he started back, but the detective was right after him and landed him before he could reenter the house. The fellow put up a stiff fight, but Petrosino used his blackjack with telling effect and subdued him.

At police headquarters the prisoner was recognized as Emelio Pacquin, 41 years old. He said he was a merchant. He has been in the tolls four times because of bunco games.

Antonio, who had come on from the farm, picked Pacquin out of fifteen men who were lined up in the detective bureau and identified him as the fellow who fleeced him. The prisoner was then taken to the Jefferson market police court, where Magistrate Sweetser held him until the arrival of requisition papers. The police say Pacquin's brother is now serving a long sentence in Joliet prison, Illinois, for bunoeing Italians.

MORE STATE ROAD

Bids for the construction of a section of the state highway in Tewksbury will be opened by the highway commission next Tuesday. The road bed will be graded to a width of 21 feet in cuts and 25 feet on embankments. It must be completed by the first of November.

OPERA HOUSE

"Why Girls Leave Home," was seen last night at the opera house by a large audience. The cast is as follows:

Dan Sherwood .....T. E. B. Henry
Joseph White ....Edward J. Lee
Sam Stone ....Fred J. Adams
Police Captain ....Chas. F. Newsom
Johnny Hobbins, ...Wm. Weston
Mr. Kelley .. ..Corthund Hopkins
Geo Hedges .....Mary Tobin
Bumbill ....J. F. Luswell
Waiter ... .James Fenwell
Police Officer .....Martin Gans
Bartender ....Harold Merrly
Pearl Sherwood ....Bessie Lee
Dolly Fletcher ....Beranice Belknap
Minnie Sherwood .....Anna Bennett
Mrs. Sherwood ....Hilda Vernon
Sadie Dillick ....Madge Carlton

Miss Bessie Lee takes the leading part of "Pearl Sherwood," the young woman who is being led astray, and her fine acting contributes much to the success of the play. Mr. Henry deserves much credit for the leading part he takes as "Dan Sherwood," the brother of the girl. In the play "Dan" tries to save his sister from the power of a deep-eyed villain, "Joseph White," which part is taken by Mr. E. J. Lee. "Dan" is inclined to be too severe with his sister and her refusal to submit to his commands enrages him so that he strikes her a blow which makes her unconscious. While in this condition the lady is stolen by the conspirators, and concealed in an out of the way place, while "Dan" is accused of the murder and of hiding his crime. After returning to consciousness the girl makes her escape and is able to arrive home in time to save her brother from death by his own hand, he thinking all the time that she is dead. It is a terrible lesson, but well learned, and "Pearl" returns to her home to marry the man who has loved her truly through all her trials.

The humorous end of the play is well looked after by Mr. William Weston, formerly of the Casto theatre stock company, in the role of "Johnny Hobbins," with a voice like a girl, and whose only occupation is making love. One will readily recognize in this drama a faithful and detailed re-unfolding in all but its fatalities of the celebrated tragedy that took place in Allentown in 1903.

The play opens with a room in the Sherwood home, followed by a sectional view of the interior of Kelley's cafe, then a street scene, again a room in the Sherwood home, a room in Dolly Fletcher's road house and the interior of city prison.

This drama points a moral which could be drawn in numerous instances in modern life. It is a story of evil associates and a longing for gay life, yet it has a heroine with innocent intentions. Harshness between brother and sister at home gives the girl excuse for continuing on the seemingly wayward career she has chosen, and many exciting bits of experience make the path extremely fascinating.

There will be matinees and evening performances today and tomorrow of "Why Girls Leave Home," and judging from the large attendance of the two performances of yesterday, crowded houses will rule during the present stay of this clever company in Lowell.

SUPT. HOSMER

Says Hydrant Threads are Uniform

IN LOWELL AND ADJOINING CITIES

Same Here as in City of Boston

The suggestion made by a convention of those interested in fire fighting, that all hydrant and hose coupling threads be made uniform, is being quite universally discussed and favorably commented upon.

Speaking of uniform hydrant threads, Chief Hosmer said: "Hydrant threads in this section are uniform. They average about seven and one half threads to the inch. They are the same here as in Boston and Lawrence. That has always been the case in this section. We could use our hose in Boston or Lawrence just as well as we could use it here."

The discussion has been brought up by the fact that when outside assistance was called to Fryeburg, Me., the engines had to stand idle because the hose couplings would not fit on the hydrants.

SPEAKER CANNON

Was Taken Suddenly Ill in Maine

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 7.—Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the national house of representatives, suffered a severe chill while on his way here by train from Lewiston here yesterday and kept to his bed in a local hotel after his arrival until the early evening but he recovered sufficiently to fulfil his engagement at the republican rally last night and made a very vigorous speech in advocacy of the re-election of Congressman Charles E. Littlefield. When Mr. Cannon left the hall at the conclusion of his speech he exhibited signs of weakness but expressed his belief that a night's rest would restore his normal condition.

WHITNEY IS WANTED

Strong Sentiment in His Favor for Governor

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—The conservative wing of the democracy is still without a candidate against Dist. Atty. John B. Moran for the nomination for governor. Ex-Mayor John H. H. McNamee of Cambridge is not yet in, although Congressman Sullivan made the flat statement yesterday afternoon that the Cambridge man was still an important factor and that it was by no means certain that he would not be the candidate.

It was rumored about town yesterday that the name of Ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews of Boston was being considered by Chairman Quincy and his associates. Congressman Sullivan, who is now acting as spokesman for the conservatives, declined to say whether or not Mr. Matthews' name had been mentioned in the conference held in Mr. Sullivan's office yesterday afternoon. Mr. Matthews is in Europe and it is not known whether he will return before the state convention or not.

In response to the notification sent out late Wednesday afternoon four of the seven members of the committee of the hotel Thorndike conference assembled at Congressman Sullivan's office yesterday about 3 o'clock. This committee is composed of Mr. Quincy, Arthur Lyman, John C. Burke of Lowell, Edward Arundel of Lawrence, Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, Maj. Shea of Fitchburg and Mayor Coughlin of Fall River. The last three did not attend and Congressman Sullivan was added to the committee.

The five men whose names are affixed to the address given out to the voters of the state and printed herewith, talked the situation over for nearly two hours. It is understood that they went over the state very carefully and considered the chances of success or defeat. Congressman Sullivan said that several names were mentioned as possible candidates. He said that he had been trying to get into communication with Ex-Mayor McNamee but had failed to locate him. He expected to see him today, however.

It is possible that the conservatives have a card "up their sleeves." It was hinted both at the Thorndike conference and after the meeting yesterday that Henry M. Whitney might again be induced to enter the field. But Mr. Sullivan has openly said that so far as he was concerned he should urge Mr. Whitney against such a course.

At the conclusion of yesterday's conference the following statement was given out:

"The committee of seven appointed to consider the question of a candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor met at the office of Congressman Sullivan, and after discussing several names adjourned subject to the call of the chair. The committee will take further time in considering the question of a candidacy and voted to issue in the meantime the following appeal to the democrats of Massachusetts:

"To the democrats of Massachusetts—The undersigned, a committee appointed by authority of the conference of representative democrats from all over the state held at the hotel Thorndike, Boston, Sept. 5, make this appeal to the democrats of the state to elect to the coming state convention, unhampered by instructions, the strongest and most representative democrats of their respective localities, and not to instruct these delegates to favor the nomination of the prohibition candidate, John B. Moran, whose nomination by our party would, in our judgment, invite disastrous defeat.

"This committee will shortly issue to the democrats of the state an address setting forth the grounds upon which they deem it their duty to the party to oppose his nomination. (Signed) John A. Sullivan, chairman, Josiah Quincy, Arthur Lyman, John C. Burke, Edward L. Arundel.

TRADE WITH CUBA

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR JUST ENDED.

Following is a statement of our commerce with Cuba in the current year.

Commerce of the United States with Cuba in the fiscal year just ended was greater than in any earlier year of the trade relations between the United States and that island. This is particularly true of exports. The imports from the island fell slightly below those of 1905, due to the fall in the price of sugar, but the exports to the islands were 15 per cent. greater than in 1905, 75 per cent. greater than in 1904, and about 120 per cent. greater than in 1903.

The growth in the exports to Cuba during recent years has been very rapid. The value of exports to that island had never reached the 20 million dollar line until the year 1893, when they were 24 millions. In 1894 they were 20 millions, then during the war period they dropped as low as 8¼ millions, but in 1900 again crossed the 20 million line, being in that year 26½ million dollars. In 1903 they again dropped to a little less than 22 millions, in 1904 33 millions, in 1905 38 millions, and in 1906, $47,763,688.

In imports the gain is less strongly marked. Prior to 1895 the value of the imports into the United States from Cuba ranged in most years from 50 to 75 million dollars, being in 1874 85 millions, and in 1893 78 millions. The year 1905, however, made a record slightly higher than that of 1874, the total value of imports from Cuba in 1905 being $86,304,254. In 1906, the fiscal year just ended, the value of imports into the island was $84,979,831, a slight decrease as compared with 1905.

This fall in the value of imports from Cuba in 1906 was due solely to the fall in the price of sugar. The five articles forming the bulk of our imports from Cuba are sugar, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, iron ore, and bananas. Of these, the most important by far is sugar, which amounted in value in 1906 to 60 million dollars, tobacco 13½ millions, cigars and cigarettes 4 millions, iron ore 2 millions, and bananas 1 million. Tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, and iron ore show an increase in the fiscal year 1906, and bananas show a reduction of less than half a million dollars, while sugar shows a reduction of over 4 million dollars in value in 1906, as compared with 1905. The quantity of sugar in 1906 was, however, more than 34 per cent in excess of that in 1905, being 2,781,901,300 pounds, and the value $60,205,146, against 2,057,684,169 pounds, valued at $64,366,164, imported from the island in 1905.

The principal articles forming the nearly 45 million dollars worth of merchandise exported to the island were iron and steel manufactures nearly 10 million dollars, against a little over 6 millions in 1905, flour over 3 million dollars, cattle about 2 millions, lard about 3 millions, other provisions about 3 millions, including milk valued at $665,277, lumber about 2½ millions, boots and shoes a little less than 2 millions, coal a little less than 2 millions, cotton goods, 1¾ millions, cars and carriages 1½ millions, and corn 1¼ million dollars.

The increase in shipments to Cuba, while visible in many articles, occurs chiefly in manufactures of iron and steel, of which the total exports to the island were $9,879,648 in 1906, against $6,164,508 in 1905.

HELD PRISONER

Charge That Was Made by Girl

COUPLE EAGER TO GET MARRIED

Tell Their Troubles to the Court

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A twenty-two-year-old Bohemian girl, not three months in this country, told Magistrate Breen in the Essex Market police court yesterday that she had been held a prisoner against her will. She had been taken from the immigration authorities by the Austrian Society of New York and had been hired from them by Arthur Gottlieb, a jeweller at 326 Grand street as a servant.

The girl's name is Rosina Fitholda Rosenu. She appealed to the Court for aid on Monday, but her statement was chaotic. A summons was issued for the Gottliebs and Probation Officer Anna Doyle was sent to look into the case.

The girl arrived in this country on the Kronprinz Wilhelm on June 12, in company with Anton Vosak, 27 years old, butcher, who had long been her fiance. As the couple was not married, Rosina was held by the immigration authorities, and from them the Austrian society secured her. It is the practice of this society to take girls in this way, and the society is held responsible to the immigration authorities for the girl's conduct for one year. They are kept in the home of the society at 170 East Eightieth street during this time of probation and are sent out from there only to persons giving satisfactory references.

Gottlieb secured the services of the girl on July 2, agreeing to pay the society $12 a month for her service, this money to be turned over to her by the society.

The girl says she was kept practically a prisoner by the Gottliebs, being allowed to go on the street but a few times during the two months and then only with some member of the family. She says that they also refused to turn over to her any part of the $99 which she says she brought with her and which the society gave into their keeping at the time of her engagement.

Her story was substantiated by the investigation made by Miss Doyle. The girl says Yetta Gottlieb threatened her with deportation when she expressed a desire to leave. She says further that Miss Gottlieb said to her in court, "If you don't say you want to stay you will be arrested."

Magistrate Breen told Miss Gottlieb that he had no right to hold the girl, and instructed her to give Rosina her money.

"I won't do either here," she replied. "I shall have to take her back to the society and I'll give them the money. We have given a bond to the Austrian home and would lose it if we let the girl go."

"A bond," queried the magistrate. "What sort of a bond? You can't have a bond on the liberty of this girl or any other human being in this country."

Miss Gottlieb appeared greatly surprised.

Meanwhile Vosak had been standing first on one foot then on the other. After the [illegible] concerned left the bridge, he and Rosina began telling their troubles to Miss Doyle, both at once.

"We want to get married," was the sum and substance of the story.

Rosina then said that the $99 was money which Vosak had earned in the old country and had given her to prepare for their wedding. She said that the Gottliebs had paid her no salary and given her no money.

"I asked them for two cents the other day to buy plums and they refused," said she.

The probation officer left the court with the pair of lovers in search of a Bohemian church, promising to get the money for them so that they could buy all the plums they wanted.

Mr. Gottlieb was seen later. He said that the girl was not kept a prisoner and that she had but $9. He admitted that he had not yet paid her her salary.

The manager of the Austrian society said last night that he would get the girl back unless she was married.

"If she's married, all right," he said. "But if the fellow doesn't marry her we will get her back here."

He said that the girls in the home were at liberty to leave the building, but that if they didn't come back of their own accord they were found and brought back.

The "bond" to which Miss Gottlieb referred is merely an agreement to pay the girl, through the society, $12 a month. Attached to the agreement is this note:

Servant girls engaged by any party through this office must be brought back again after the discontinuation of their services, otherwise such party can get no other servant from the above society.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Since Monday afternoon when the Hathaway theatre opened its doors for the season Manager John L. Shannon has been complimented repeatedly on the excellence of the week's bill, and incidentally many have remarked on the attractive appearance of the cosy playhouse. This week's headliners are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, two artists who have attained an international reputation in the legitimate drama, and on the vaudeville stage. The title of their sketch is "When Two Hearts Are Won." It is chock full of humorous situations, and the attention of the audience is fixed from beginning to end. Another act that is winning the plaudits of the audience at every performance is contributed by George Thatcher and Charles Ennis, black faced comedians. Their act represents an up-to-date minstrel first part, with Mr. Thatcher on the end, and Mr. Ennis in the centre. Mr. Thatcher's stories and jokes are all new and his vocal effort "I'm Getting Ready For My Mother-in-Law" is a positive treat for individuals who are troubled by this officious personage. Others on the bill are Mosher, Houghton, and Mosher, cyclists of great renown, the LaTour Sisters, comediennes; Helen Tels, comedienne; Paul LaCroix, comedy juggler, Mozarto, musical genius, and the celebrated American Vitagraph. There are daily matinees at Hathaway's. The matinee prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents, and in the evening the prevailing prices are 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1905 was 14,829

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1906.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

☞ This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

☞ An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell, and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

This is old home week all over New England. The vacationists are returning tanned but fresh and vigorous, well prepared for the winter work. A good vacation is worth all it costs in preventing physical, mental or nervous collapse.

THE MAINE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT.

The republicans have fired their two biggest guns way down in Maine in the Littlefield fight when they drafted Speaker Cannon and Secretary Taft. It would be expecting too much from Maine to defeat Littlefield, but we do expect to see his vote of two years ago materially reduced.

TO PREVENT BANK FRAUDS.

If the business of bank breaking grows for the next few years as it has been doing in the past decade it may be necessary to adopt the system of detection and espionage now in force in the post office department. The present system of inspection is a failure. Some other must be devised.

ASPHALT BREAKING UP.

There are several dangerous holes in the asphalt on Market street in front of Brooks' undertaking place not to mention others. Besides the street when viewed colsely shows that it is nearly worn out. We do not believe that this particular piece of work deserves to be held up as a model of smooth paving.

TO CHECK STOCK GAMBLING.

A stock transfer tax would put a damper upon the bucket shop business and also upon that other questionable practice of selling stocks on margins. Both forms of stock gambling have been extensively indulged here in Lowell and any law that would limit either or both would be a great benefit to this community.

THE DEMOCRATIC MUDDLE.

The Boston conference of democrats has decided to fight Moran in the convention, but has not decided upon any candidate to set up against him. It is well to leave delegates unpledged so that they can exercise freedom of action in selecting a candidate. The choice of the democracy may yet be declared for Whitney.

OUT AGAINST HEARST.

The New York democrats have thrown down the gauntlet to Wm. R. Hearst who is a candidate for governor and a possible candidate for president. They have denounced practically all the extreme doctrines advocated by Hearst, such as socialism and public ownership of private property, and particularly his alleged corrupt methods in advancing his canvass. The fight will be ended on Sept. 25 when the democrats will name their candidate for governor.

AN INSULT TO BRYAN.

If as reported Governor Mickey of Nebraska in an address of welcome to Mr. Bryan took occasion to use insulting language in calling him a professional reformer whose creed is one of self-interest, he did what no gentleman would do. If he did not approve of Mr. Bryan's methods or of his political doctrines he should not have accepted the invitation to deliver an address of welcome. It would seem that Governor Mickey is pretty small potatoes.

GOOD ADVICE FROM GOV. FOLK.

Here is a piece of good business sense from Governor Folk of Missouri while addressing the convention of retail merchants:

"We are proud of our splendid cities, and we want them to increase in wealth and population, and we also want our country towns to grow. We wish the city merchants to build up, but we also desire the country merchants to prosper. I do not believe in the mail-order citizen. If a place is good enough for a man to live in, it is good enough for him to spend his money in. No merchant can succeed without advertising in one way or another. Patronize your town papers, build them up, and they will build the town up and build you up increased trade and greater opportunities."

This is in line with The Sun's advice to Lowell residents to trade at home.

THE TREATY ANNIVERSARY.

At the signing of the Portsmouth treaty of peace the anniversary of which was observed Wednesday, the Russian and Japanese envoys gave $10,000 each to be used by the state of New Hampshire for leading charities. Yesterday the interest on the amount accruing from investments in the securities of the two countries was distributed to various charities. The total was $800, and it was distributed to the Home for Aged at Concord, N. H., Orphans' Home at Franklin, Sacred Heart hospital at Manchester and Cottage hospital at Portsmouth. This was an agreeable reminder of the generosity of the envoys at the conclusion of their work. The acceptance of the money was criticized at the time for the reason that our government offered them its free hospitality, but it seemed to be their desire to show their gratitude in some such way and a better could hardly have been selected.

The various charities throughout the State will appreciate this annual donation and all will endeavor to prove worthy of a gift that is designed only for the most deserving.

MINERAL WEALTH NOT LIKELY TO BE EXHAUSTED.

President James J. Hill while a shrewd business man and the head of a great railroad system, cannot be recognized as a prophet. Yet he makes the prediction that in half a century our mineral resources will be exhausted and the industries dependent upon them will in consequence lapse into stagnation. In a country that has so many mountains and so many volcanoes it is not likely that the mineral resources will be exhausted in a century, much less in half a century. The supply of iron ore in the mountains of this country is inexhaustible, the only question is that of getting at it. As to that when our population increases to 200,000,000 millions there will be no scarcity of labor and we shall probably be as well able then to go down 2000 feet as we are to sink 1000 feet today. Some eminent geologists long ago figured out that England would have exhausted her mineral resources ere this but she is still mining iron and coal as she was fifty years ago, and so we surmise it will be fifty or even one hundred years hence in this country despite the prediction of such sensationalists as James J. Hill.

SEEN AND HEARD

Some girls are silly, some are funny, some are wise and some are otherwise, but the girl who penned the following, on a postal card, at which all night rubber, and addressed the postal to a young man at city hall, has been put down as "the limit."

My Dear:

Can I ever forget the sweet words whispered into my ears in the lovely glen, under the caressing beams of that silvery moon. How I think of them by day and dream of them by night, and wonder when the day will come to unite us, never to part again! Let it be soon darling and remember you promised to see me before another week has flown.

You know I am yours and only yours and as we can never be happy without each other, let nothing arise to prevent our renewing the pledges again and again we made the other night, and to meet me at the usual place is the one and only wish of

Your own true

A train was passing a glue factory not long ago and as it drew near the building the passengers began to sniff and look around suspiciously, for the odor emitted in the process of glue making is anything but attar-of-roses. A lady who frequently travelled on that line had provided herself with a bottle of smelling-salts, and as the stench began to invade the car she uncorked the bottle and applied it to her nose.

Seated beside her was an old farmer who was not in the habit of riding on this road. He put up with the disagreeable smell as long as he could, then shouted: "Madam, would you mind puttin' the cork in that 'ere bottle?"

Women are savers rather than spenders. And when they spend they spend to good advantage. A dollar in a woman's hand goes twice as far as a dollar in the hands of a man. If you want to save money, let your wife be the banker. This is for the man who gets wages out of a job and for the man who gets a salary out of a position.

"Madam," he began, as the door opened, "I am selling a new book on 'Etiquette and Deportment.'"

"Oh, you are," she responded. "Go down there and clean the mud off your feet!"

"Yes'm. As I was sayin', ma'am, I am sell—"

"Take off your hat. Never address a strange lady at her door without removing your hat."

"Yes'm. Now, then, as I was saying—"

"Take your hands out of your pockets. No gentleman ever carries his hands there."

"Yes'm. Now, ma'am, this work on 'Etl—"

"Throw away your pipe. If a gentleman uses tobacco he is careful not to disgust others by the habit."

"Yes'm. Now, ma'am, in calling your attention to this valuable—"

"Wait. Put that dirty handkerchief out of sight and use less grease on your hair in the future. You have a book on 'Etiquette and Deportment.' Very well, I don't want it. I am only the servant girl. Go up to the front door and talk with the lady of the house. She called me a downright, outright, no-doubt-about-it idiot this morning, and I think the book you're selling is just what she requires."

A retail house, rather tardy in paying up, received the following letter from a wholesale firm:

"Our cashier fell unconscious at his desk this morning. Up to this time, 4 P. M., we have been unable to get a word out of him, except your name. May we say to him, with a view to his immediate recovery, that we have your check, as we think that is what is on his mind?"

Happy little boy, playing all day long,
There are troubles waitings patiently for you!
Gleeful little minstrel, sing your merry song
While the winds are balmy and the sky is blue!
Shame on him, oh, rosy, laughing little boy,
Who sits down to tell you in a dismal tone
That the world has troubles, that not all is joy,
And that gladness cannot always be your own.

Happy little maid, singing all the day
Many aches are waiting to assail your heart;
You will some day wonder, sitting in dismay,
Why the fates have cast you for your bitter part.
Shame on them, oh, lovely, laughing little maid,
Who attempt to rob you of your present glee;
Play away untroubled, laugh on unafraid
Through the careless childhood God has given thee.

When my heart is glad, let my joy remain!
If you know that trouble waits to cloud my brow,
If you know tomorrow is to bring me pain,
Do not come to rudely tell me of it now.
If my hopes are futile, seek me not in haste
To impart the sorrow I will have to bear;
Oh, the precious, priceless moments that we waste
Looking sadly forward to a distant care!

THE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 7.—The first state convention of the Independence league of California was held yesterday. After adopting a platform the league nominated W. H. Langdon, district attorney of San Francisco, for governor. The platform declares that the trust issue is the paramount one of the day and pledges its candidates to a vigorous anti-trust crusade.

MRS. SCHWAB DANGEROUSLY ILL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Emma E. Schwab, wife of Charles M. Schwab, it was learned yesterday, is seriously ill at her home here.

"Mrs. Schwab is seriously, even dangerously ill" said Mr. Schwab last night. "She is in the hands of surgeons and has been so since our return from our country place at Loretta.

Mr. Schwab would not discuss the nature of his wife's illness.

BISHOP McCABE

No Longer on Policy-Holders Committee

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At the meeting of the International policyholders' committee at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday, at which Richard Olney presided and at which almost the full membership was present the letter recently written by Bishop McCabe to Alton B. Parker, was discussed and resolutions were adopted relieving the bishop from further service on the committee.

The proceedings were held behind closed doors, but after adjournment the following resolutions were given out:

"Whereas, Bishop McCabe accepted membership on the committee but has been unable to attend any of the meetings of those of its subcommittee although respectfully urged to do so, and

"Whereas there was furnished to the press from the offices of the Mutual Life Insurance company on August 31st a letter bearing the signature of Bishop McCabe, addressed to Hon. Alton B. Parker as chairman of the executive committee, which letter has been read at this meeting but has not been received at the time it was given for publication by the Mutual Life Insurance company on the date of its meeting and

"Whereas, Bishop McCabe has been communicated with by telegrams and letters, urging him to attend this meeting so as to present his views to his associates and to be informed of the views of the committee but has made no reply to such communications and has failed to attend, and

"Whereas copies of the proposed address were furnished to Bishop McCabe before the meeting at which the address, as adopted, was mailed at least three weeks before the address was distributed, and no objection or criticism was made by him as to the form of addresses for four weeks after the distribution thereof or until the letter of August 27th, and

"Whereas the views of the committee as to the course that should be pursued by the policyholders in the impending election for trustees as expressed in its address to the policyholders, issued July 5th are opposed to those expressed in the aforesaid letter to the chairman of the executive committee it is

"Resolved that this committee regards the attitude assumed in the said letter as so completely out of sympathy with the announced purpose of the committee as to amount in effect to the surrender by Bishop McCabe of his membership in the committee and he is accordingly relieved from further service.

"Resolved, that the chairman of the executive committee is directed to reply to the communication of Bishop McCabe in such form as he deems appropriate, and

"Resolved, that in the judgment of the committee it is not in the interests of the policyholders to accept or endorse the administrative ticket of either company."

It was stated that the committee had agreed upon the directors of the New York Life as well as those of the Mutual, but no names were to be made public until the tickets are filed with the superintendent of insurance, Sept. 15.

WARNED AGAINST FAKIR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—H. J. Wehman, secretary of the Federation of American Motor Cyclists, yesterday issued warning against a man who has been travelling in New England soliciting members for the organization and who in a number of instances has obtained and given receipts for the necessary membership fees. Mr. Wehman states that the organization has no solicitors.

AERONAUT LOST

Machinery in His Airship Was Broken

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the Tribune from Oconto, Wis., says:

Drifting helplessly 11 miles, 500 feet above the earth in an airship he could not control, William Matteray, a Chicago aeronaut who made an ascension from here last night, disappeared from view.

When last seen Matteray's unmanageable craft was hovering uncertainly over Green Bay, still buoyant and drifting out over Lake Michigan.

Matteray made the ascension against his judgment, knowing that the machinery had been broken and spoiled, but the crowds, eager to see a man risk his life, declared that the story of a broken propeller shaft was to be a ruse to avoid making the ascension. Therefore Matteray went up to "make good."

The bride was becomingly attired in a gray travelling costume, with a hat to match. Previous to the ceremony the bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. John Leggett, and later Mendelssohn's wedding march. The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and costly presents. SENATOR DEPEW

Said to Have Recovered From Illness

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Tribune today says:

When congress meets at the beginning of next December, Senator Chauncey M. Depew will be found in his seat. This assurance was made yesterday by a member of his family.

"Senator Depew's recovery has been slow but the gains he has made have been held."

He said: "At no time during the past year has he been in such good health and spirits and the doctors assert that if the improvement continues he will be equal to the strain of another session of congress. For several months, Senator Depew has been in retirement at his home at Bobbs Ferry. The nature of his study has never been known but was generally understood to have been of the nature of a nervous break down.

ANSWERS BACK

Gompers Refutes "Joe" Cannon's Charges

LEWISTON Me., Sept. 7. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, spoke at City hall for the second time in the present campaign and for the third time since last May, last evening in his effort to accomplish the defeat of Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of the 2d district.

An audience of a little more than half the size of that which heard him two weeks ago Saturday was present, and gave him a hearty greeting. His speech was more moderate in tone than many expected. He took up in turn the several charges which he made against Mr. Littlefield in his previous speech, of opposition to the eight hour bill, the child labor bill, the labor amendment to the anti-trust bill, the anti injunction bill, the conscription feature of the ship subsidy bill, etc., and claimed that Mr. Littlefield had not satisfactorily answered his charges up on any of them.

He denied that he had come here to dictate to the laboring men how they should vote, but said that he had come to appeal to them to cast their votes against Mr. Littlefield. He denounced Speaker Cannon of making up the committee of labor so as to nullify the efforts of labor to better itself and denounced the employment of Chinese to build the Panama canal.

Referring to the charge that he was not a citizen or a voter he said that the records of the superior court of New York would show that he was naturalized in 1872, shortly after he became 21 years and that he had voted ever since. He said he was offered an appointment as statistician in the treasury department by John Sherman, also an appointment by Gov. David B. Hill upon the department of arbitration and conciliation and by President McKinley a position on the industrial commission and declined them all. He had also been nominated by the republicans of New York as a state senator and by a wing of the democratic party.

He denounced Mr. Littlefield as the most cold blooded, deceitful and politically cruel man in public life today. In closing he warned his hearers against the 11th hour tricks which might be sprung when it would be too late for them to be answered and said that if any charge of treachery should be made against him, he promised to return to Lewiston And put himself in their hands to do with him as they would.

Grasse was killed by [illegible] of whom deliberately [illegible]. Before he died [illegible] he did not recognize [illegible] the men with him.

The police theory is that the assassination was the act of a rejected suitor.

Margaret Carcavale, one of the young women with whom Grasse was walking when he was shot, was detained by the police because her account of the shooting appeared to be contradictory.

STRONG PROTEST

Made by Ambassador Thompson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Declaring to be false the reports of a bitter anti-American feeling in Mexico and an organized revolution against President Diaz, David E. Thompson, the American ambassador has reported to the state department, renewing his request that in compliance with the wishes of Mexico's president, this government should take steps to suppress the Mexican revolutionary junta at St. Louis which publishes in Spanish a paper called Regeneracion.

He contends that articles that have appeared in certain newspapers in the United States "give a most exaggerated importance" to the work of men who have fled from Mexico and who continue to endeavor to breed a spirit of unrest in that country.

The ambassador has suggested that if these men could be dealt with as anarchists, President Diaz would feel a deep gratitude. The suggestion made by Mr. Thompson followed interviews he had with President Diaz in which the latter expressed the earnest hope that the U. S. government could take steps to prevent the further circulation of the paper in question.

The state department immediately referred the dispatches of Mr. Thompson to the department of justice with a view to ascertaining what measures might be taken against the newspaper Regeneracion or its publishers.

THE ELECTRIC CAR AS IT JUMPED THE TRACK AT FIRST STREET.

CAR JUMPED TRACK

And Nearly Collided With Car Barn

A car going at a lively rate jumped the tracks at the car barn in First street, last night, and a serious smash was barely averted. Dr. A. E. Evans, the veterinary surgeon of 587 Pleasant street, Dracut Centre and Ellen Stafford of 30 Mammoth road were injured and were removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital.

They complained of severe pains in the abdomen, caused by being thrown against the forward seat of the car. The doctors at the hospital said they did not think the injuries were very serious.

The car was due in Merrimack square at 7.30 and was running a little behind time. The passengers said the car was going fast when it struck the curve. Suddenly there came a jar, and the car shot out toward the corner of the car barn. The car was brought to such a quick stop that it threw many of the passengers forward.

The car was in charge of Motorman Ernest Jenkins and Conductor John Griffin.

In speaking of the accident Motorman Jenkins said: "We were going at a fair rate of speed when the forward trucks left the track. I can't imagine what caused it. My lights were on and if there was an obstruction of any size I would have noticed it." Motorman Jenkins escaped without injury, although had the car traveled five feet more he would hardly have fared so well.

Conductor Griffin said: "We were rounding the curve at the barns, the car traveling at ordinary speed when I felt a slight jar and then came the bouncing when the trucks ploughed into the dirt. The jar frightened the passengers, but only for a few moments, for it was all over in less than five seconds. Those aboard hardly had time to become possessed of fear when the car came to a stop. I can't explain why the wheels jumped the rails."

An extra car was put on the line and ran from Merrimack square to the car barns and made connections with the cars on the Lawrence side, so that traffic was but slightly delayed.

The B. & N. in this division has been particularly fortunate for some time past in having no serious accidents and this one was more in the nature of a scare than anything else.

LAD'S ESCAPADE

He Sampled His Dad's Liquors

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Nine-year-old James Lorenzo, Jr., whose father keeps a saloon at 150 West Forty-sixth street, decided yesterday afternoon while his father was out of the barroom for a few minutes that he ought to make a careful examination of the many different colored bottles. The red one looked so nice to him that he took a good swig of it, feeling certain that it must taste as good as it looked. It was a little bitter, so he drank something that looked like water out of another bottle. This burned his tongue, but he gulped the stuff down and grabbed a black bottle that appeared to contain sarsaparilla. It couldn't have been sarsaparilla, because it smarted like everything when it got into his stomach.

Young James Lorenzo, Jr., then started a swift search for something to take the taste out of his mouth. Away up on a shelf was a cake of something that looked to young Jim like chocolate. It was a plug of the bartender's chewing tobacco, but Jimmie took a bite of it just the same. He had no sooner swallowed it than he grew dizzy and tumbled from the top of the bar to the floor, striking on the back of his head.

He lay unconscious for a time, and the bartender hurried out and found Policeman Smith of the West Forty-seventh street station house. Smith saw that the boy's head was cut and not knowing about Jimmie's sampling examination of his dad's stock concluded that he had a fractured skull, and sent a hurry call to Roosevelt hospital.

When Dr. Auchingloss arrived he had a hard time disentangling Jimmie's symptoms, but finally decided that the boy was suffering from a scalp wound, alcoholism and nicotine nausea. He wanted to take the lad to the hospital, but James Lorenzo, Sr., who came home just then, said that he wanted him to stay at home in order to have an earnest talk with him as soon as he was convalescent.

PICKPOCKETS

WERE GIVEN A CHANCE TO REFORM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Magistrate Finelite, sitting in the Tombs court, yesterday took issue squarely with Magistrate Crane, as to the treatment of pickpockets. He discharged three men who the police said were known thieves with their pictures in the rogues' gallery and who had no visible means of support. The trio were Harry Joseph of 73 Attorney street, Joe Finkelstein of 125 Second avenue and Robert Lewis of 131 East Twenty-first street. All are in their twenties and they bore every evidence of prosperity.

Magistrate Crane in the Tombs court last Monday remanded the group to the Tombs to give the detective sergeants who arrested them a chance to get evidence against them as vagrants. At the same time Magistrate Crane expressed himself in strong terms on the need of the authorities doing something to send this class of criminals to prison, saying that large numbers of them are preying on citizens.

When the defendants were arraigned before Magistrate Finelite yesterday morning the politician whose bail Magistrate Crane refused to accept for the men hovered in the background. The detectives reported having found the addresses given by the prisoners correct but had been unable to find anybody who knew that the men actually worked or what they did.

"Will you reform if I give you another chance?" asked Magistrate Finelite of the trio of grinning crooks who were furtively giving a wink to their friend, the politician.

"Yes, your honor, we'll reform," they said.

"Very well; I'll give you one more chance; you are discharged," he said.

The gang lost no time in getting out into the open air. Outside they laughed and chatted with the detective sergeants as if to show there was not the least hard feeling.

MUST BE HOODOO

Three Victims in Station House

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Fifth street police station cops don't know what to do to shake off the hoodoo that has hovered over the precinct since the "red light" days. There was another bunch of accidents in the station house yesterday, and they feel that no one is safe in the dull white building.

Doorman William Darrack was found early in the morning in bed suffering from typhoid fever and was removed to Bellevue hospital. He is said to be in a critical condition.

About 7 o'clock Ellen Moore, 42 years old, of 390 West Forty-second street, who was locked up the night before to sleep off a jag, was being led up from a cell room by Matron Ellen J. McLaughlin when she tripped and fell down a flight of stairs and fractured her skull.

While an ambulance surgeon from Bellevue was attending to her word came that Policeman Peter Sauerbry had fallen down the cellar stairs and was unable to move. After the surgeon had done what he could for Ellen he looked after Sauerbry and found that he had broken his right ankle. Ellen and the cop were taken to the hospital together.

The hoodoo claimed as its first victim Capt. Diamond, who was dismissed from the force because of testimony he gave at the trial of Wardman Bissert. The latter was also dismissed and sent to Sing Sing for accepting bribes from the proprietors of disorderly houses. Acting Captain James Churchill was also fired off the force because he failed to close up the dives in the precinct.

More policemen have died in the Fifth street station house than in any other in the city the cops say. Not long ago, Sergt. Pryor was found dead in bed. The station also holds the record for sickness. Not a week passes that from two to six cops do not report to the surgeons.

LABOR MEMBERS

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 7.—Without any discussion the trades union congress at its session today unanimously instructed the labor members of parliament to introduce a bill providing for the nationalization of all railways, canals and mines in the United Kingdom.

AN EUTOPIAN CITY

Women Will be Allowed to Vote

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 7.—Such stuff as dreams are made of is outclassed in the plans for a co-operative city which attracted the notice of Inspector Stuart yesterday and of which women are to be given a voice in the municipal government. All this and much more may be secured by investors on payment of $150 cash down.

According to the prospectus, this wonderful city is to be founded in Alabama on the Gulf of Mexico and is to be called "The City of America." It is to be run on a co-operative system and the organization which is its sponsor is called the American Co-operative Community of America. E. Gordon Reynolds, "grand organizer A. C. C. A.," 507, 155 earborn street, is given as sponsor for the association. He is a former attorney and resided formerly in Battle Creek, Mich., it is said. His partner is declared to be F. C. Anderson, general organizer, Welfare Group 509, 115 Dearborn street.

The prospectus declares the investor of $150 pays no interest, taxes, assessment, insurance or outlays of any kind. He pays no rent, tithes nor tolls over the membership fee. The 150 groups to each local council is to be the organization of the city. A council is a precinct of a community and four councils make a residence section.

The benefits are: First, an income of nearly $1000 a year or $10,000 for 10 years and then $1500 a year during life; second, it will pay for a home 100 by 255 feet, with sewers, gas, telephone, electric light and power; third, provide a protective and indemnity fund with medical and hospital aid.

Factories will be provided for the people, the prospectus asserts, and many may obtain positions in the growth and extension department now being organized.

The charge against the prisoners is membership in a revolutionary junta.

JUDGE GASKILL

May be Appointed to the Supreme Court Bench

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Several changes in the personnel of the several courts are looked for this fall.

While the resignation of Judge Lothrop of the supreme bench was not made public officially at the state house or the courthouse, it is known definitely that he has resigned, but just when the resignation becomes operative is not ascertainable. It has been said that Gov. Guild wished to pick his successor before the matter was made public.

The governor has selected his successor and his identity is known to the judges and a few of their friends. It is reported authentically that Judge Francis A. Gaskill of the superior court will be appointed to succeed Judge Lothrop.

It also comes from an accredited source that Judge Richardson of the superior court will resign soon, and furthermore that one of the younger judges, who is able to make much more money practising law than sitting on the bench, is said to be contemplating giving up his office.

For some time it has been expected that Judge McKim of the probate court would resign, and the bill put through the legislature to pension the probate judges was enacted after several attempts to accomplish this end, with a view chiefly to pension Judge McKim, who is comfortably well off, if not wealthy. It is said his home will resign this fall and that Michael J. Murray will be given his place, although Elijah George has been an aspirant to that bench for some years.

Chief Justice Brown of the municipal court is likely to get an appointment to the superior court to fill one of the two, and possibly three, vacancies that will occur.

The most important appointment will be that of Judge Gaskill to the supreme court. He was nominated to the superior bench by Gov. Greenhalge in March, 1895. He had been district attorney for Worcester county. He was defeated in the contest for attorney-general in 1893 by the late Hosea M Knowlton.

GYPSY WEDDING

Followed by Wild, Weird Orgie

BELLE OF TRIBE THE BRIDE

Marriage Dance Followed the Ceremony

BOSTON, Sept. 7 From the cleared space beyond the wooded lane that leads to the Fitchburg railroad land on the banks of the Charles river in Dedham known as Kannuck's island came sounds of wild and weird singing last night. Round and round great open fires before which quarters of beef and mutton sizzled on spits, chattering men and women whirled and pirouetted. The men clapped their hands and the women, whose black hair and long gaudy shawls blew about their faces, struck tambourines fixed with bells that jingled, high above their heads.

It was the rare "wedding dance" of the gypsies, accorded only to couples of degree, and it was in celebration of the marriage of young Theodoroso Rosegant, aged 20, the swarthy favorite of the childless old Chief Stephano John, to pretty 16-year-old Luba Michel, the belle of the tribe, who may one day be its "queen." The wedding was held in the house of Alphonse Luna at 102 Richmond street yesterday afternoon, a special license having been obtained from the probate court, and it was the first genuine gypsy wedding ever held in Boston.

Chief Stephano John, ruler by right and might, tall, broad-shouldered, strong and shrewd, brought his tribe, numbering, about 200, to Dedham a week ago. They had been on the road since earliest spring. They wandered down from New York state and spent the summer in New England.

It so happened that of the three factions comprising the tribe, two of which are subruled by subordinates, both Theodoroso and Luba belonged to the faction of the chief himself, and when the tribe united last spring and began its summer wandering Theodoroso had attained to the stature and discretion of a man and enjoyed the warmest smile of Chief Stephano John, while Luba, good to look upon, had just reached that age when, according to the gypsy ideal, it is best to marry.

THEODOROSO HAS RIVAL.

There was one who strongly dissented from the general verdict, and this was young Risl Stephano, a handsome youth of Theodoroso's own age. Theodoroso, while he was strong in the manner of men, was no knight, and his shyness kept him from making the hoped-for advances, while Risl whispered slightly into the little ear of Luba beside the "lone fire." At last the tribe became so alarmed that counsellors importuned Chief Stephano John to decree the popular union. The old chief shook his head and seemed content to let matters take their course, whatever his own wishes might have been.

And so for a long time Risl wooed Luba, and Theodoroso sulked in the shadow behind the great fires. But one night while the tribe were together, Theodoroso, passing Luba's people's tent on the run, arrived just in time to meet that young person bound for the "lone fire." The two stopped and glanced at one another, and then Luba's eyes fell and red blood deepened the color beneath her cheeks. The love that had been smoldering in the heart of Theodoroso leaped into flame, and with an impulsive motion he took the little gypsy girl into his arms.

The camp of Stephano John had been pitched in Dedham for a week, and it was nearing the time when the factions would separate when yesterday preparations for the wedding feast were complete. The hall above the cafe of Alphonse Luna at 102 Richmond street was hired, and 19 friends of the chief were selected to attend the function.

GREEK CEREMONY OF RINGS.

The ceremony in itself was a plain enough affair although the dress of the bride—red silk—and her bright colored head adornments added a brilliant touch to the sombre surroundings. The wedding party drove to the house of Luna and about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the two were married. Constantine Diktas, a Greek, who was in the cafe at the time, was best man.

Diktas understood the ceremony of the Greek church and while the priest read from the ritual he performed the functions. The bride and groom clasped hands at the word of Diktas and remained that way during the first portion of the ceremony. Then the groom handed two rings to the best man, one of them for the bride, the other for himself. Diktas caused the couple to cross their arms and extend the first finger of their hands. Then he made three passes with the rings fitting them alternately upon the finger of bride and groom, while at each pass the priest murmured a behest. At the third pass the rings were left on the fingers.

Then the priest wrote in a large book while the couple stood together, and when he had finished he went to them and rested his hands on their heads. At the last motion there was a shout from the spectators and Theodoroso kissed his pretty wife for the first time.

As a wedding present the old chief gave the bride $250, which she will keep as her "dot."

Almost immediately after the ceremony the wedding party drove back to the camp, where the whole tribe was waiting. It was after dark and the big fires were lighted. These were not the ordinary camp fires, but great piles of special size—"wedding fires." As the carriages halted in front of the fires and the bride and groom descended, the wierd gypsy wedding chant was begun, and one after another the men and women of the tribe fell into line and circled about the fires.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Had Two Bullet Wounds in His Head

BOSTON, Sept. 7. [illegible] years old, [illegible] unknown [illegible] posed to have [illegible] Palmer, was found dead [illegible] evening on Lewis wharf, with two bullet wounds in the head. A short distance from the body was a 32-caliber revolver with two empty cartridges.

The dead man [illegible] during the afternoon [illegible] while in the company of [illegible] a seaman, had [illegible] threats of ending his life. Nevertheless [illegible] are held by the police of the [illegible] street station to await the [illegible] of Medical Examiner [illegible].

The men [illegible] to whom the dead man is supposed [illegible] that he would commit [illegible] Swanson, who was [illegible] by Sergt. Sweeney and who was [illegible] with two [illegible] did not [illegible].

Swanson was very much under the influence of liquor but [illegible] quickly when the police began to question him.

About [illegible] Watchman McGurty and [illegible] in the employ of the Union Freight Railway company, while going down Lewis wharf found the body of a man lying between two of the cars which were [illegible] on the siding on the wharf. McGurty supposed that the man was asleep and endeavored to arouse him. He threw his lantern in the man's face and saw that he was looking into the face of a dead man.

Upon closer examination McGurty discovered two bullet holes in the left temple, very close to each other, from which blood was still flowing.

McGurty ran up the wharf and notified an officer of division 1.

Within a very short distance of where the body had lain, between the two cars, was found a 32-caliber revolver, with two empty chambers.

Further examination of the surroundings showed a pool of blood in a doorway on the wharf several feet away from where the body was found, and this led to the presumption that the suicide, or, as the police later were led to believe, murder, was committed at that point.

Against this, however, is the statement of one of the witnesses held by [illegible] that the dead man told him [illegible] would never see him again, and [illegible] the police have the theory of suicide. [illegible] regarding the medical examiner will make an examination of the body at [illegible] undertaking establishment on Howard street, and will determine the cause of death.

The dead man was about 5 feet [illegible] inches in height and weighed [illegible] pounds. He was dark complexioned, and wore black underwear, a black cotton shirt, black trousers with light stripes and black hose. When found he had no hat, coat or vest. The only thing found on the body was a ticket [illegible] on the Boston & Maine railroad between Palmer and Boston.

As far as can be learned the dead man came to Boston yesterday as the ticket which he found was dated Sept. 6.

SUPT. BROOKS

FAVORS THE NEW SYSTEM OF SPELLING.

BOSTON, Sept. 7. The recommendations of the simplified spelling board are likely to receive official recognition in the Boston public schools. Stratton D. Brooks, superintendent of schools in the city stated today that he was decidedly in favor of the changes proposed by the board and approved President Roosevelt's order introducing the new forms in executive documents. He added that he might make some recommendations along this line for the Boston schools. Mr. Brooks said that his policy would be to place the list of words recommended by the board before the pupils and to instruct them that these forms are just as good and sustained by just as good authority as the older forms and by the historical development of the language. Then they could use which ever they wished. Mr. Brooks added however, that he did not favor any general spelling reform. "My approval of spelling reform," he said "goes just as far as the recommendations of the simplified spelling board and no farther."

LONG'S SPEECH

Severely Criticised by Morton Dexter

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 7. The recent address by former Secretary of the navy John D. Long, in which he discussed the Pilgrim fathers was the subject of critical comment on the part of nearly all the speakers at the banquet of the General Society of Mayflower descendants last night. Samuel B. Capen of Boston the governor general of the society referred to ex-Governor Long's conclusions as unwarranted as did also several other speakers, but the most elaborate answer to Mr. Long's statements was contained in a speech by Morton Dexter of Boston. Mr. Dexter said that to all intents and purposes Mr. Long charged the Pilgrims with being hypocrites.

"For my part," said Mr. Dexter, "I absolutely repudiate any such conclusion in regard to them."

Regarding the charge of commercialism, Mr. Dexter declared that the Pilgrims were heavily in debt to merchant adventurers who fitted out their expedition and that they made an honest and painstaking effort to pay off this debt. They should be judged he said, by the standard of their own time, rather than by the standards of the present. As a matter of fact, said Mr. Dexter, the Pilgrims themselves were only a small minority of the colony and the laws which they enacted were to suppress the lawless element. None of the crime imputed to them occurred until the colony had been settled for some time.

Mr. Dexter concluded by declaring "there were no men or women anywhere who came nearer to the great ideal of life than those patient, humble men and women."

The general society elected officers as follows:

Governor-general, Samuel B. Capen, Boston.

Secretary-general, Louis E. Fuller, New York.

Treasurer-general, James M. Rhodes, Pennsylvania.

Historian-general, Edward H. Wharf, Massachusetts.

Elder-general, Rev. John L. Ewall, District of Columbia.

Captain-general, Myles Standish M. D., Massachusetts.

Surgeon-general, Abel F. Nelson M. D., Connecticut.

Assistant generals, Howland Davis, New York; Edward P. Swanton, Massachusetts; Herbert Jenny, Ohio; Allen Bush, Col. Walter M. Howland, Illinois; George C. Mason, Pennsylvania; William Waldo Hyde, Connecticut. The convention will continue today.

PRES. HILL

DEFIES THE STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.—Jas. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, has defied the authorities of the state railroad and warehouses commission who subpoena him as a witness before that body.

Last Saturday the commission issued a subpoena to president Hill and gave it to Eric Olson a complaining witness against the railroad to serve. The subpoena cited Mr. Hill to appear before the commission September 18 and give evidence in the case of the citizens of Hastings against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway carries coal for the great northern and the northern Pacific between the Twin Cities and Hastings. Mr. Olson called on President Hill yesterday and handed Mr. Hill the subpoena. Mr. Hill read it and said:

"I cannot attend that meeting. I have too much business on hand. I don't think I will be in the city at that time any way."

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The ball game scheduled to be played at the Arcanum grounds next Saturday afternoon between Lowell S. R. A. and the Lowell Americans has been cancelled.

The manager of Lowell S would like to arrange a game with the winner of the Elm-Ketchup game. Game to be played on either the Arcanum grounds or Spalding park on Saturday, Sept. 22. Address C. E. Edwards, Box 69, Lowell Mass.

Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8, Lowell S will play the Dragons at the Arcanum grounds, Westlands. Game called at 3.15.

The Westford A. A. would like to arrange a game with the Lions, Prospects or any other strong team in Lowell Saturday, Sept. 8.

The Dragons have cancelled their game with the S. P. S. C. and will cross bats with the Lowell S. R. A. team Saturday at 3.15.

The Ketchup A. C. and Elm B. B. C. will battle for supremacy at Spalding park Saturday afternoon. Each team has scored a victory over the other and besides this being the "rubber" game it will also decide as to which team is entitled to the championship as both have proven that they have a strong claim to the honor. The adherents of each team are loyal and will turn out in force to cheer their favorites on to victory.

IN SACRAMENTO

IRRIGATION CONGRESS WILL HOLD NEXT SESSION.

BOISE IDAHO, Sept. 7. The fourteenth national irrigation congress closed after agreeing to hold the next congress at Sacramento, Cal., and electing as president of the fifteenth congress Governor George E. Chamberlain of Oregon.

The attractions of the Jamestown exposition had been cleverly presented and on the first ballot for the convention city, Jamestown was in the lead. Sacramento won on the second ballot. A minority report was presented by Oregon and Utah representatives on the resolution committee voicing a demand that the federal government authorize the issuance of two per cent. bonds running 20 years to enable the reclamation service to finance and carry out all practicable irrigation projects in the United States."

The minority report was tabled.

Congressman Reeder of Kansas opposing the minority report said the eastern congressmen would resent it. He said they had little faith in the success of the reclamation law now being put on trial. In this connection he quoted Speaker Joseph G. Cannon as having said ten minutes before the passage of the reclamation act:

"Reeder that's the biggest and slickest steal I have seen since I have been in congress."

Senator Dubois of Idaho said that but for the personal efforts of President Roosevelt the reclamation act could not have been passed.

THE RAILROADS

ARE NOW OBLIGED TO PAY A TAX.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 7. The state board of equalization of taxes dismissed today the appeal of the Central Railroad from the assessment made against its property in Newark under the Duffield act of last winter providing for the taxation of second class railroad property at local rates for the benefit of the municipalities in which it is located.

William H. Corbin, representing the Erie Railroad and acting as spokesman for the other railroads, announced to the board that his clients proposed to attack the constitutionality of the Duffield act and also to raise a question as to the powers conferred upon the board.

The board ruled that under the constitution, which requires that all property shall be assessed at its true value for purposes of taxation, and under the statute giving it power to equalize taxes it has not authority to accomplish this by reducing the valuation of any class of property below its true value, but may do so only by increasing the valuation of under-assessed property to the basis of 100 per cent.

PICKS HARVARD

WELL KNOWN OARSMAN FAVORS THE CRIMSON.

LONDON, Sept. 7. "I plump whole heartedly for Harvard," writes Vivian Nickalls the well known oarsman to the Daily Mail this morning.

"My reason for doing so is because I consider that in nearly all their trials the Americans have shown more speed and staying power than their rivals."

Mr. Nickalls expressed the opinion that the leg work of Harvard will bring victory. There is likely to be rough water, Mr. Nickalls says, and he prefers the Americans to the Englishmen on a disturbed surface.

CUBAN LIBERALS

Hope to Force Palma to Resign

HAVANA, Sept. 7—While the peace projects have caused a general suspension of revolutionary operations no appreciable progress towards anything like a satisfactory understanding has been made. The liberal leaders insist that it is unjust to regard them as insurgents and assert that they are merely seeking for peace, at the same time declaring that not only must the terms of peace be better than heretofore talked of but there must be some unquestionable guarantee that the conditions will be carried out to the letter. The moderates meanwhile continue in a waiting attitude.

Gen. Menocal was busy throughout the day receiving callers and holding conferences. He said last night that he had no reason to be disappointed with the progress the negotiations are making and that the semi official suspension of hostilities which began today in Santa Clara and Havana provinces would be extended tomorrow to Pinar del Rio giving the veterans a chance to get among their comrades and others in the field and push negotiations for peace. Gen. Menocal appears to be discouraged by the attitude of the liberals.

The Liberals have not yet relinquished the hope that they may be able to force the resignation of President Palma and all the high government officials. The succession of Vice President Mendez Capote to the presidency is also discussed. Liberals seem to think they could reach an understanding with him that would be satisfactory to all.

Many business men of Havana ridicule the whole effort for what they call a patched up peace which, they allege can be no more than temporary and some go as far as to assert that the country never can be governed rightly or investments be absolutely safeguarded unless the United States intervenes. This is frankly stated in some cases, also by high government officials.

Despite all drawbacks however, the fact that peace proposals are pending and the hostilities have been suspended has brought more or less hopelessness to the people of Havana.

FOSTER TO SPEAK.

The 39th annual Trades Union Congress opened in Liverpool, Wednesday, with 70 delegates, representing a membership of a million and a half. F. K. Foster, one of the fraternal delegates from this country, will address the convention today on "Labor Conditions in the United States." As an orator Mr. Foster is the peer of any man in the labor movement and may be trusted to do Boston credit before the European trade unionists.

WOMAN IS CURED

Mary Barros to Leave Lepers

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 7. After a year's residence at the state leper colony on the island of Penikese and a previous year of strict seclusion under the surveillance of the state health authorities, Mrs. Mary Barros of Wareham is shortly to be released as cured of leprosy, according to Dr. Louis Edmonds, the state board's resident physician at Penikese.

She will receive her discharge Oct. 1 and will be allowed to join her husband, Napoleon Barros, who has frequently visited her during her illness. The state health officials will continue to watch her case at regular intervals, but she is considered as practically cured.

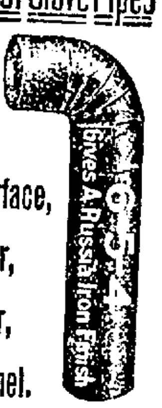

She has never shown any discoloration of the skin from the disease and the presence of leprosy was detected only by examination of a culture from throat secretions.

During the time that she is supposed to have had the disease Mrs. Barros has become the mother of three children, one of whom was born last March on the Island of Penikese. All the children are in normal physical health. Dr. Edmonds does not consider the disease contagious.

Keep the Chicks Growing —Make the Hens Lay!

Early chicks make early layers—early layers bring most profit. Keep the young ones growing fast by giving a sufficient portion of Sheridan's Condition Powder in the daily mash. Only a very little is needed, but its action is most beneficial—helps the chick digest food properly—wards off disease and causes early maturity.

Sheridan's CONDITION Powder

is the one thing you need in the poultry business. Used every day the year round it makes success a certainty. Best thing known to help over the moulting period. Makes flesh forming easy and rapid. Gives vigor to old birds and young.

One pkg. 25c; 5 pkgs. $1; 2 lb. can $1.20; six cans $5. Express paid. Sample poultry paper free.

PROF. MICHAEL IATROS.

DR. GENERALIS

Complained of for Criminal Libel

Michael Iatros, Greek consul, appeared before District Attorney Sanderson yesterday with a complaint of criminal libel against his fellow-countryman Dr. Demosthenes Generalis, the well known physician with offices in the Associate building.

The complainants are the Terzakis brothers who conduct a department store at 124 Market street and who also edit a Greek paper yclept "Metanastis." It is understood that the trouble arose in a newspaper controversy between the Terzakis brothers in their paper and Dr. Generalis who wrote signed articles to a Greek newspaper published in New York.

There are also two other complainants against Dr. Generalis, for alleged causes growing out of the same matter. There are a Dr. Veshnos, also a Greek, and the Greek consul himself Mr. Iatros, who claims that they have been falsely accused in certain serious matters of which Dr. Generalis wrote, in his signed articles to the New York paper.

All the witnesses were present at the opening of court today to tell their story to the grand jury.

AUTO BURNED UP

Alderman Allen Lost His Machine

CAUGHT FIRE IN WOBURN

Only Tire, Robe and Running Gear Saved

Alderman Allen lost his automobile last night.

The alderman arrived in town this morning with a tire thrown over his shoulder and a robe under his arm, all that was left of his fine running machine except the running gear.

The alderman took a trip last night that carried him to Woburn and while passing along one of the streets of that city one of the tires began to give him some trouble. He alighted to see what the matter was and noticed that the machine was very hot. Suddenly a sheet of flame shot up from under the seat and then followed an explosion of gasoline. In a second the auto was a mass of flames and though the doctor did his best to extinguish the fire his efforts were in vain. All the doctor saved was the running gear, a tire and the robe. It was late at night and as there was no train for Lowell until this morning the alderman was obliged to spend the night in Woburn. The insurance on the machine was carried through the agency of Fred C. Church.

WARRANT ISSUED

For the Arrest of Stensland

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A telegram from Attorney Bliss at Washington to Assistant States Attorney Arbour last night said that the president had cabled a warrant to the American minister at Tangier requiring him to surrender Stensland. Word was also telegraphed that the state department had arranged to have an American bound passenger steamer touching at Gibraltar to stop at Tangier and take on board the prisoner and his captor.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Only three more performances of "The Palace of the King" will be given at the Academy of Music and those who have not seen this beautiful play should avail themselves of the closing opportunities. Next week the Severin DeDeyn stock company will present the captivating romantic play, "The Belle of Richmond," a production of continuous charm. In staging it Mr. DeDeyn has given the same artistic care to detail that characterized the opening production.

With the season only one week old the success of the company for the season is already assured for the audiences at each performance were loud in their demonstration of enthusiasm and appreciation and Mr. DeDeyn has received over 100 letters of congratulation from the patrons of the theatre.

It is unnecessary to go into detail in describing the coming attraction for the fact that it is being produced at the Academy of Music by the Severin DeDeyn stock company is in itself sufficient endorsement for the local theatrical public. The souvenir matinee, inaugurated so auspiciously last Tuesday afternoon will be repeated next Tuesday and will be a permanent feature of the theatre every Tuesday afternoon during the season.

GALLINGER LOST

U. S. Senator Defeated by Churchill Men

CANNOT ATTEND CONVENTION

Though He is Head of State Committee

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 7.—United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, chairman of the republican state committee, will not be able to attend the coming republican state convention as a delegate. Senator Gallinger headed a set of six candidates for delegates to the convention from ward 4 in this city, where he resides, these candidates being in favor of the nomination of Charles H. Greenleaf for governor. At the caucus last night, all six were defeated by delegates who will go to the state convention under instructions to vote for Winston Churchill as the party's nominee for governor. James O. Lyford, naval officer of the port of Boston, but a resident of this city, was one of the defeated candidates for delegate from the same ward.

SHE WAS ROBBED

Wife of Lowell Pitcher Lost Money

While watching the New England league game between Lowell and Lynn at Oceanside Park, Lynn, yesterday, Mrs. Mary Young of Franklin, wife of Pitcher Young of Lowell, was robbed of her hand bag containing $15 in money, a gold watch worth $30 and several railroad tickets. Later in the day John Sullivan, aged 12, of 3 Collins street terrace, Lynn, was arrested.

Sullivan, according to a confession made to the police, was with two other boys underneath the grand stand seats. They saw the bag lying unnoticed on the bench beside Mrs. Young's feet, and grabbed it.

Mrs. Young reported her loss to Officers Cahill and Eagan. Coming through Central square they noticed Sullivan and recognized him as one of the boys who hung around the ball park. They chased him, and Sullivan finally dashed into a house on Buffum street, where he was found hiding in the attic.

Seven dollars was found on him. The bag, with the watch in it, was found under a nearby doorstep.

In accordance with the new juvenile law, Sullivan was not locked up for the night, but will be arraigned later with his companions.

IN POLICE COURT

Light Docket Presented This Morning

DRACUT STABBING CASE PUT OFF

Because Lawyer Ford Could Not Attend

In police court this morning Carl A. Mann, charged with drunkenness, was continued in $200 to September 11.

Frank King was before the court for drunkenness yesterday and after telling a hard-luck, large family story was placed on probation. Frank, however forgot the needs of the family when he was allowed to go and this morning again occupied a reserved seat in the cage on a drunkenness charge. Frank's wife came before the court and told her story after which Frank promised "never to touch it again." Judge Hadley gave him a three months' suspended sentence to the common jail.

Dan Regan for his second jag within the past six months had to pay $6.

The continued case of Frank Rogers, charged with assault and battery and with using a dangerous weapon, was called but owing to the absence of Mr. Ford, lawyer for the defendant, who wrote applying for a further continuance, the case was continued till Tuesday next, defendant being held in $600. Lawyer J. Joseph Hennessey appeared for the government and Lawyer Hogan for the injured man.

JAMES BELLOWS McGREGOR, THE OLDEST MASON IN THE COUNTRY.

105 YEARS OLD

MT. SUNAPEE, N. H., Sept. 7.—Within a few miles of here and within sight of his birthplace James Bellows McGregor yesterday celebrated his 105th birthday with a public reception.

A large gathering of neighbors, friends and relatives called to congratulate the centenarian and wish him many more birthdays. A number of workmen called during the noon hour and greeted the sturdy Scotchman.

A delegation from Mt. Vernon lodge, A. F. and A. M., brought him the well wishes of his Masonic brothers.

Mr. McGregor was born Monday, Sept. 6, 1801. He is of Scotch descent and does not use liquor, and never has. He lives in a house he built in 1842, which is shaded by maple trees that he himself planted 60 years ago. He is cared for by his granddaughter, Miss Alice M. McGregor.

For a man of his advanced years his mind and memory are remarkable.

An absolute sale at public auction on the premises regardless of the weather of two two-tenement houses and about 12,300 square feet of land at Nos. 20 and 22, 26 and 28 Dinley street, Dracut, Mass. The house numbering 20 and 22 consists of two tenements of nine rooms and pantry with each tenement: four rooms on the first floor, three on the second floor, and two on the third floor. The house numbering 26 and 28, consists of two tenements with eight rooms and pantry with each tenement; four rooms on the first floor, three on the second floor, and one on the 3d floor. Both houses separate front and back doors with each tenement and good cellars, they bring in a yearly rental of about $444 and are in very good condition inside and out. The lot has a very large frontage on Dinley street, and there is a small barn located in the rear of the lot. The fact of there being 12,300 square feet in the lot; gives plenty of room around the buildings. If you are in the market for a safe and solid investment, one that will pay you a large percentage, look this property up.

Plaintiff Wants It Tried Before a Jury

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Cadwallader M. Raymond's suit for $50,000,000 filed some time ago against Henry H. Rogers and his associates in the Standard Oil Co. to recover damages for alleged breach of contract, came up in the supreme court today before Judge Sheldon on motion of the plaintiff that the order referring the case to an auditor be vacated and the case tried before a jury. Counsel for the defendant objected on the ground that the case was complicated and could be handled by an auditor. The court reserves its decision. The suit is based on an alleged agreement between Rogers, his former partner, Charles M. Pratt, and the late Benjamin P. Greenough whereby in consideration of a royalty of one quarter of a cent per gallon on petroleum products he gave them a secret process for making the same non-explosive. He also was to receive $500 per month, it is claimed. The defendants claim that the process was not good and that the contract terminated in 1898.

GOT FIVE YEARS

For Sending "Black Hand" Letters

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Vinzenzo Triscolo, an Italian, was given a sentence of five years today for writing threatening "black hand" letters. This is the first conviction for this crime.

Triscolo was convicted of writing the letters to Salvatore Grasso, a shoe dealer, demanding $500 and threatening to blow up Grasso and his family if the money was not paid.

MINISTER HICKS

SAYS SUFFERING IS VERY GREAT IN CHILE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—"Suffering is very great," says Mr. Hicks, American minister to Chile, in a despatch received by the state department today, urging the people of the United States to lend a helping hand for the relief of the distress caused by the recent earthquake that destroyed Valparaiso and did great damage in other Chilean towns. The despatches says that action should be prompt and suggested that funds may be sent to Santiago by cable.

Officials at the state department regret the apparent lack of interest shown in the misfortunes of this sister republic of the United States. Agents of the Red Cross report that responses to their appeals and to the proclamation of President Roosevelt have been few. Chile as a nation has made no direct appeal to the generosity of the United States but through diplomatic representatives of other governments has let it be known that financial aid would be received with everlasting gratitude.

FRED P. SHAW

Trying to Get the Atherton Plant

The rumor that William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., has purchased the Shaw Machine company's plant will not down and the report has it that he will manufacture a product to be turned over to the American Woolen company.

There is quite a pay-roll still in effect at the Shaw Machine company's plant and some wonder why it is that the creditors remain so placid in the face of an alleged unwarranted expense.

Fred P. Shaw has not given up his attempt to take the articles, patterns, jigs, etc., from the Shaw Machine company's plant, and he has not met with any very serious opposition since the assault and battery case was heard in police court, in which he was the complainant and Charles Whiteknecht, ex-superintendent of the Shaw plant, defendant. Mr. Shaw expects to have all his goods removed within a few days.

As the representative of out-of-town parties, Mr. Shaw is trying to negotiate for Mr. Cawley's plant at Atherton. He has not yet made known the details, but it has been asserted that it will serve the same purpose as the Shaw Machine company's plant.

Mr. Shaw, in company with Mr. Cawley, visited the plant at Atherton this afternoon.

FRENCH BISHOPS

DISCUSS SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—A unique service which attracted an enormous congregation was celebrated at Notre Dame cathedral this afternoon after the conclusion of the meeting of bishops and archbishops, called to discuss means of complying with the law providing for the separation of church and state without infringing on the constitution of the church. The entire French episcopate was present, this being the first occasion on which they had gathered together in a metropolitan church since 1802 when the concordat was signed. Archbishop Roverie De Cabrieres, in the course of an address recalled that historic event, saying that the present reunion was brought about by the rupture of that solemn contract. No mention was made of the bishop's decisions.

FALL TRADE

HAS TAKEN ON A BOOM IN THIS COUNTRY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicate that fall trade is beginning to be felt even in retail branches, while wholesale and jobbing distributions are now on a liberal scale. Boston reports that fall jobbing trade is steadily expanding and all departments are busy delivering contrats, especially in textile lines. General trade prospects are considered good throughout New England, manufacturing plants being fully employed with orders well ahead. Total bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States are $2,585,866,899, which is 20.5 per cent larger than for the corresponding week last year.

THE GRAND JURY

Did Not Report on Alleged Jury Box Tampering Case

Alleged Bribery of Alderman Hayes in Connection With Granting of Telephone Franchise Not Reported on—John Clancey and Arthur W. McDonald Indicted for Manslaughter

THE GRAND JURY TODAY IN REPORTING ITS FINDINGS ON THE CASES BEFORE IT DURING THE PRESENT SESSION MADE NO MENTION OF THE JURY TAMPERING CASE, THE ALLEGED TELEPHONE BRIBERY CASE AND THE LICENSE MATTER, NOT GIVING A FINDING EITHER WAY.

THE SUN CALLED UP THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE AT EAST CAMBRIDGE THIS AFTERNOON AND MADE INQUIRIES CONCERNING THESE CASES. THE ANSWER WAS: "THERE IS NOTHING FOR PUBLICATION YET."

FROM THIS ANSWER THE INFERENCE IS THAT THE GRAND JURY HAS NOT YET FINISHED ON THESE MATTERS AND MAY OR MAY NOT BE HEARD FROM LATER. MANY WERE OF THE OPINION THAT BECAUSE THE GRAND JURY MADE NO REPORT THE CASES HAVE BEEN CONCLUDED BUT THIS DOES NOT APPEAR TO BE THE CASE.

The grand jury reported its findings on the cases submitted in the September session at the court house in Gorham street this morning and after the arraignment of the defendants at present in the Lowell jail, the court and jury proceeded to Cambridge on the 12.12 train and finished their report in that city. There were eight cases in the Lowell jail awaiting the action of the grand jury and 80 in the Cambridge jail.

Judge Bell presided over the session and District Attorney Sanderson and his assistant, Arnold Scott, presented the cases.

The most important of the Lowell jail cases was that of John J. Clancey whom the grand jury indicted for manslaughter in assaulting and beating William Dillon so as to cause the death of the latter. Clancey pleaded not guilty of manslaughter and the court placed him under $5000, to appear for trial during the session.

Arthur W. McDonald was also indicted for manslaughter.

Albert E. Bailey was indicted on four counts of breaking and entering at Pepperell and he pleaded guilty.

George H. Anderson, the farm hand who stole about everything not nailed in the home of Frederick Casey in Billerica, was indicted on counts of larceny and of receiving stolen property. He pleaded guilty.

William Burns and Fedita Colprone, indicted for breaking and entering the saloon of John Donohoe in Moody street, both pleaded guilty.

Rose Perreault pleaded guilty to an indictment for adultery with Frank Lessard.

James B. Fisher was indicted for having unlawfully married to Ethel A. Morris in that he had a lawful wife living at the time of his second marriage and he was also indicted for adultery with Ethel A. Morris. He pleaded guilty.

No bill was found against Luigi Welcome and he was discharged.

District Attorney Sanderson in reply to a question by a reporter of The Sun stated that the case of Messrs. Dow, Beals et. als., were not down for trial on September 17th and would take place then or as near that date as possible. He was unable to state whether the cases would be heard in Lowell or Cambridge.

JURY TAMPERING CASE.

The biggest surprise in a long time was the sudden and unexpected summons of Chairman Walker, Alderman Hayes, City Clerk Dadman, City Messenger Patter, Assistant Clerk McCarthy and Misses Hill and Storey of the city clerk's office who were ordered before the grand jury yesterday in an investigation of the manner in which the recent panel of jurymen was drawn.

At the special meeting of the board of aldermen a week ago last Monday jurors were drawn, and Alderman Hayes was designated to do the drawing. The list drawn was as follows:—

Freeman M. Bill, 61 Eleventh street; Joseph Farley, barber; Samuel J. Coote, 308 High street; Frank C. Breen, 67 Midland street; Herbert Pilling, 44 Harvard street; John C. King, 219 East Merrimack street.

Upon examining the slips of paper Clerk Dadman found the Freeman Bill slip written in ink, and instead of "Eleventh street," it read "Element," a mistake in spelling. Knowing that it was the custom to typewrite the names for the jury box, he questioned his clerks and they were sure that they had not written a name with pen and ink.

After conference with Chairman Walker, Clerk Dadman disowned the Freeman Bill slip, and decided to bring the matter before the district attorney.

State Officer Rhoades had a private conference with the city clerk Tuesday afternoon, but it was supposed to have relation to the aldermanic cases then before the grand jury.

The name of Freeman M. Bill appears on the printed jury list from which the names are drawn.

The grand jury opened its session at 9.30 this morning, hearing the witnesses in the complaint against Dr. Demosthenes Generalis, for alleged criminal libel. They made their partial report shortly after 11 o'clock. The regular list of indictments was not given out until they reached Cambridge at one o'clock. The list is as follows:

BILLS.

Samuel Miller, George H. Anderson, Billerica, larceny in building, receiving.

Frank Lessard, Rose Perreault, Lowell, adultery.

James B. Fisher, Lowell, polygamy, adultery.

William Burns, Phidine Colpront, Low-

SUPT. JACKSON

To be Sharply Questioned by Cheney

The committee on accounts minus its chairman is wrestling this afternoon with August's quota of bills against the city's sundry departments, and considering, too, some old bills which have been previously before them but failed of approval.

Conspicuous among the latter is the "bill" in favor of the trustees of the public burial grounds, against the city for $1500. This money the trustees will take from the accumulated interest which the perpetual care fund has yielded in 1904 and 1905, $564.09 in '04 and $935.91 in '05. The "bill" or rather transfer has received the approval of Mayor Casey in his capacity as chairman of the cemetery trustees but it needs the endorsement of the accounts committee before it can become a successful issue. The bill has been twice before the committee and twice action has been deferred on it.

The city solicitor in an opinion handed down to the committee last month said the transaction as proposed by the trustees would not be regular, that it would be necessary for the trustees to specify how the money is to be used before the transfer can be legally allowed.

The trustees would transfer the money to the general appropriation for running expenses which seems to be exhausted. Supt. Jackson of the cemetery department before the committee and councilmen Cheney is prepared to ask him some sharp questions relative to the bill. EXTRA

PARK SYSTEM

Mayor Casey Wants More Land for Park Purposes

Mayor James B. Casey issued the following self explanatory letters today and he hits a popular chord when he suggests the development of our park system. The letters:

Sept. 7, 1906.

Hon. John J. Pickman,
Chairman, Park Commission,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

I would respectfully request that the members of the Park Commission give consideration to the matter of acquiring more land for park purposes. The development of our park system should keep pace with the growth of the city. The live and progressive community recognizes that public parks are an absolute necessity; that grounds laid out for the use of the public in convenient places are a source of comfort and enjoyment to the inhabitants.

Lowell has a fairly good park system, but there is room for a further development and growth. It would seem that the Pawtucketville section of the city has grown to such an extent that an extension of the park system to that locality is advisable. Portions of Centralville also furnish an opportunity for the location of new parks.

The laying out of additional land for public playgrounds should also receive the earnest consideration of the commission. Chapter 28 of the Revised Laws gives the commission all necessary authority to proceed along the lines suggested.

I would respectfully recommend that the commission give consideration to the suggestions herein contained with the view of presenting to the city council recommendations for an improvement of our park system.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES B. CASEY,
Mayor.

Sept. 7, 1906.

Edward S. Hosmer,
Supt. of Lighting,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

I would respectfully inform you to notify the Lowell Electric Light Corporation to place on the Princeton and Pawtucket Boulevards the sixty-six additional lights to which, under the terms of the contract, the city is entitled.

In locating these lights it would be preferable to specify that an ornamental post be used.

In accordance with this decision you will please notify the company to petition the board of aldermen for the necessary pole locations.

Truly yours,
JAMES B. CASEY,
JAMES B. CASEY,
Mayor.

McNARY CALLED

To Testify Before Grand Jury

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 7.—The Suffolk county grand jury resumed today its investigation of the charges made by Henry T. Schaefer of this city in connection with his candidacy for lieutenant-governor. The charges which were contained in a public letter written by Mr. Schaefer, allege that he was approached by a man who asked him about the size of the campaign contribution he would be willing to make in order to secure the nomination for the office he desired.

In addition to Mr. Schaefer, who testified before the grand jury yesterday and who was ordered to appear again today, there were several prominent democrats at the court house today, in response to summonses issued by District Attorney John B. Moran. Among those summonsed were Congressman William S. McNary, William A. Gaston, democratic candidate for governor in 1903, Henry E. Lloyd and Dr. E. S. Taylor, friends of Schaefer. Harry Jarqueth, counsel for Schaefer, also appeared at the court house during the morning.

District Attorney Moran interviewed all of the witnesses with the exception of Schaefer, in his private office. Mr. Lloyd and Dr. Taylor were excused until later in the day but Congressman McNary, Mr. Gaston and Mr. Schaefer remained at the court house waiting to be called before the grand jury.

Shortly after noon it was seen that Mr. Moran's investigation of the Schaefer charges was assuming a wider scope than was at first anticipated and this belief was confirmed when Congressman John A. Sullivan and Josiah Quincy, chairman of the democratic state committee put in an appearance at the court house, in response to summonses issued by the district attorney. Congressman Sullivan and Mr. Quincy are the active leaders of the campaign which is being conducted in opposition to Mr. Moran's candidacy for the democratic nomination as governor. Both men informed a group of reporters that they would not submit to a preliminary examination by District Attorney Moran and they added that whatever they had to say in regard to the case would be said to the grand jury.

NO PROTEST YET

Has Been Received From Cuba

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—So far the state department has received no representations from the Cuban government looking to the prevention of the purchases of ships in New York by the agents of the Cuban revolution. The precedents for action by the United States are well established and by a coincidence the strongest are found in the history of the days preceding the war with Spain when the government of that country was appealing to the state department here to prevent the equipment in this country of filibustering expeditions directed against the Spanish government in Cuba. At that time the president issued a neutrality proclamation warning United States citizens against enlisting in this country for hostile attack upon a friendly nation.

Several vessels supposed to be bound for Cuba with arms for the insurgents were detained and in at least one case in Philadelphia the commander of the vessel was convicted of violation of the neutrality laws and sent to jail.

FUNERALS

BROWNE—The funeral of the late Margaret E. Browne took place this morning at 8.30 from the home of her cousin, Miss Nellie Fennell, 178 West London street and later from the Sacred Heart church where a requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon sang Schmidt's mass. At the offertory Mrs. Muldoon rendered "Pie Jesu" and at the conclusion the choir sang the "De Profundis." Among the many beautiful floral offerings were a large spray inscribed, "Cousin," from the Fennell family; large spray, "Sister," from Alice Browne; bouquet, Mrs. Miles Rolls; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fennell.

The bearers were John and James Morrissey of Pepperill and James and Nicholas Fennell.

At the grave Rev. Fr. Flynn read the committal prayers. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, under the direction of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons, undertakers.

INSURGENT LEADER

Col. Guerra to Begin Offensive Movement Against Cuba

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the Herald from Havana, Cuba, says:

Col. Pino Guerra, leader of the insurgent forces in Pinar Del Rio province, announced Thursday that he was ready to begin an offensive campaign against the government. To a correspondent Col. Guerra said:

"You can tell the people north that I am going to take the offensive. If I have not done so already it was because I had to perfect the organization and attend to matters which appeared to be of first importance. I shall not attempt to hold towns or fortify a position to the hills. I shall continue to move rapidly everywhere."

"Has the government made any proposals of peace?" was asked.

"Col. Lolly told me," replied Guerra, "A committee came to see me two days ago at headquarter of Veterans Thursday. Many veterans are awaiting further movements. Unless we obtain an honorable peace they will join us. I have made no proposition to the government. I have no authority to name conditions of peace. I am simply a soldier, obeying the orders of the central committee who it is merely a revolutionary body without taking the form of a government. I obey their directions and recognize their authority.

"Perhaps you would like to know who is my candidate for president. I have none. If Palma should be elected by the people I would be the first to declare my allegiance. I will support any man elected. If the American people had such a government as exists here they would not let it remain in power five days."

MORE ARRESTS

In Naturalization Cases in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Just as certain politicians were beginning to feel that the investigation by United States Atty. French's office into alleged naturalization frauds would amount to nothing two arrests came yesterday with rumors of more to follow.

Yesterday afternoon William J. Monahan, a coachman, of 64 Whitney street, Roxbury, was arrested by U. S. Marshal Waters on complaint of Frank Burke, a secret service operator. Monahan was a witness on a paper issued to Daniel J. Holmes, a carpenter, 68 Whitney street, on Jan. 25, 1904. Statements sworn to in this paper are said to be false.

Holmes was taken into custody yesterday, but was not locked up at the Charles street jail, as was Monahan.

HAVING ACCEPTANCE TRIALS.

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 7.—The battleships New Jersey and Louisiana were both on the measured mile course off here today, having their six months' acceptance trials. The New Jersey was tried yesterday and, while no official report has been made, it was understood she did not come within a knot of the speed attained at the builders' trial, six months ago. It is expected the Louisiana will exceed her previous test which was nearly a knot in excess of the required speed of 18 knots an hour. Communication with the ships was difficult.

Brooklyn Man Says Wife is Alienated

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—William Pitt Rivers of Brooklyn, one of the most noted dancing masters in the United States and the occupant of the famous old Knapp mansion, in the eastern district, served a complaint yesterday on Everett E. Wheeler, a wealthy livery man and his intimate friend for 15 years, charging him with the alienation of the affections of Mrs. Rivers. He places his damages at $50,000.

Mr. Rivers will begin proceedings today to oust from his house Mr. and Mrs. John Newton, their two daughters and one son, who have been living in his house without his consent. Newton and his wife for five years and the daughters and son for 12 years.

The dancing master declares in his complaint that his wife's disloyalty, as alleged, is due to the influence of Mrs. Newton, who is a palmist and a mind reader, and he says, has convinced her that Wheeler is her "affinity."

Counsel for Wheeler is the venerable Judge Daly, believer in communication with disembodied spirits, clairvoyance, clairaudience and telepathy.

Rivers says his wife became acquainted with the judge at the house of Mrs. May Pepper, the spiritualistic medium, and that his house has been used for spiritualistic seances, greatly to his annoyance. He does not believe in spiritualism. The alienation suit will be followed by a suit for divorce.

"DETENTION BUILDINGS" TO BE CONSTRUCTED AT NEWPORT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The navy department will shortly open bids for the construction of several "detention buildings" at the naval training station at Newport, R. I., the sum of $24,852 having been appointed by congress at its last session for this work. It is the intention of the department to use these buildings for the quartering of the recruits during the first few weeks at the station so as to observe their physical condition and thereby prevent the spreading of any hidden disease to the other buildings at the station. Five of the buildings will contain four sets of living quarters for fourteen men each and the sixth building will contain the cook house, laundry, boiler room and the quarters of the petty officers on duty at the camp.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

HENRY M. WHITNEY

May be Tendered the Congressional Nomination

HON. HENRY M. WHITNEY.

By Democrats of Fifth District —Dunbar and Ames Will Have Joint Debate—Nat. Allen After Col. Ames — Campaign Warms Up Materially

Hon. Henry M. Whitney, the apostle of reciprocity and who made such an excellent run for lieutenant governor last year, may be the democratic candidate for congress in this district against the winner of the Dunbar-Ames contest, should he not be a candidate for governor.

The idea of drafting a strong candidate has been discussed by several local politicians the past few days and the name of Henry M. Whitney has aroused considerable enthusiasm. They are confident that if Mr. Whitney could be induced to accept the nomination he would defeat any candidate of the other side and they consider that Mr. Whitney would make a most valuable man for New England interests in congress.

While a candidate has never been drafted in this district before it is an old custom and is allowable.

The Bohemian club held a delightful outing at the Arlington camp on the banks of the Concord river yesterday. Humphrey O'Sullivan was host and toastmaster and the affair was purely and exclusively a social occasion. Fred H. Rourke and Col. J. H. Carmichael were among the guests, but there was nothing doing in the political line.

John L. Hunt will be a democratic candidate for senator. When Mr. Hunt appeared at headquarters for his papers Secretary William J. McCluskey entered into a financial discussion with the candidate, according to Mr. Hunt, whereas the latter objected to such mercenary methods and after quoting the case of Donahue vs. O'Brien threatened to invite the secretary before the grand jury. Mr. Hunt later informed a reporter of The Sun that after receiving his papers he would gladly assist the party both financially and morally, but he disliked the idea of being obliged to put up money as a prerequisite for securing said papers particularly as the law forbids such procedure.

Sec. McCluskey on the other hand was both surprised and chagrined to think that his old friend Mr. Hunt would question his methods or motives even for the short space of one minute. "Mr. Hunt may certainly have his papers without even the payment of a solitary sou which is much less than a cent in value," quoth Sec. McCluskey. "The papers were not ready when he called and I merely suggested that a contribution from the gentleman would be duly appreciated and put to proper uses. Far be it from me to hold up so eminent a democrat and so enthusiastic a campaigner as my friend Hunt. Perish the thought!"

A report was circulated yesterday to the effect that either Fred H. Rourke or Col. Carmichael would withdraw from the mayoralty contest and leave the field against Mayor Casey clear to the other. Mr. Rourke when seen said: "I cannot withdraw now and have had no intention of withdrawing. I will be in the contest till the finish."

Col. Carmichael when seen said: "I have not stated positively that I will be a candidate. I do not know whether I shall run for mayor or not. Until I find out about certain things I shall not know either. I cannot say when I shall be able to declare myself one way or the other."

The plot thickens!

Ames has challenged Dunbar to a duel!

Dunbar has accepted and has chosen his seconds.

The weapons will be words.

For ring-side seats apply to Colonel Chadwick or Joe Legare.

The go will be at catch-weights.

Congressman Ames to Mr. Dunbar:

"Though my opponent is a lawyer, which I am not, and inasmuch as his half-hearted challenge to a joint debate only appeared in a paper at this end of the district, I gladly accept here in Reading the challenge of my opponent, Mr. Dunbar, to a joint debate on any or all of the issues of the campaign at any time and at any place."

Mr. Dunbar to Congressman Ames:

"A political speech delivered by you in Reading last evening does not, like all of your previous utterances, appear this morning in any newspaper. I learned, notwithstanding, that in this speech you challenged me to meet you in joint debate upon any or all of the issues of our congressional contest. This challenge I eagerly accept.

"My campaign committee chairman, Col. Alfred M. Chadwick, will meet you or such representative as you may designate, and make proper arrangements for our debate in regular course."

Ames says that Dunbar challenged him in a half-hearted manner in a country paper which no one in Lowell reads. Dunbar claims that he didn't challenge Ames at all but was glad to get a crack at him and states furthermore that while Ames was careful to have all his other speeches printed broadcast through the district the speech containing the challenge did not appear in any of the papers. Verily things are warming up a bit.

And now comes Nathaniel Allen with a deep-seated grievance against Congressman Ames with a petition for an injunction up his sleeve. It was Allen who wrote for and received the letter from Speaker Cannon endorsing Congressman Ames which the latter has had published throughout the district. The trouble between the congressman and Mr. Allen occurred early last evening when for some reason known only to Mr. Allen he insists that the congressman cease to use Speaker Cannon's letter to Mr. Allen. It may be that Cannon has so requested.

Clinton P. Tuttle, a clerk in the auditor's office, is said to be a candidate for register of deeds against Capt. Joe Thompson.

SCHOOLS READY

All Repairs Have Been Made

BUSY TIME FOR CARPENTERS

Pay Roll Swolen Because of Extra Work

The superintendent of lands and buildings reports that all necessary repairs have been made on the schoolhouses, and the buildings are now ready for the pupils.

The lands and buildings department have ben very busy of late, as extensive repairs were made on school houses.

A great deal of work was done at the high school. A new fire escape has been installed, a new floor was laid in the principal's office and other repairs of a minor nature have been made.

The boilers of the high school annex were extensively repaired and the furnaces of the main building were thoroughly overhauled.

The Highland grammar school has had a number of new ceilings. New floors have been laid in the Butler, Edson, Franklin and Varnum grammar schools. Boilers were repaired at the Butler, Edson, Franklin and Varnum grammar schools. Other repairs have already been mentioned in The Sun.

The expenses for this department are always highest at this time of year, as, in order to get the work done on time, new names are added to the pay roll.

MANY MEETINGS.

Quite a raft of meetings was scheduled for today at city hall.

The aldermen will meet in special session this evening and the precinct officer list as coming from the mayor will be taken up.

The committee on accounts met this afternoon, as did the committee on renaming streets. The committee on appropriations will meet at 7.15 and the committee on the Manchester outing at 7.30.

HALF FARE

MAY BE ASKED FOR SAILORS OF U. S. NAVY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The suggestion has been made to the navy department that if arrangements could be made with the railroad companies to carry sailors of the navy at half fare or reduced rates it would be of great benefit to the service and would cause the enlistment of more men from the inland towns who are now compelled to pay the full fare out of their own pocket when they wish to see their home folk. The sailors of the British navy are permitted to travel on the various boat and railway lines at reduced rates and it has been pointed out to the department that an American bluejacket in uniform will be transported for half fare in England or the colonies.

HARVARD CREW

TO BE GUESTS OF THE REIDS.

PUTNEY, Eng., Sept. 7.—Both the Harvard and Cambridge crews were out for brief periods this morning to keep their muscles tuned up but the work done was confined to practicing starts in which the experts found little to chose between the crews. Each side apparently is quietly confident but among outsiders and riverside oarsmen there is an entire absence of that self-confidence regarding the result which is almost always present a full week before the annual Oxford-Cambridge contests. Generally speaking the professionals favor the Americans and the amateurs pin their faith to the Cambridge crew.

Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid will follow the race tomorrow in a launch, jointly chartered by Harvard and Cambridge for the accommodation of their friends.

The Harvard men who have arranged to sail for home on the American line steamer St. Louis, September 15, will spend Sunday at Cambridge and go to Wrest Park September 10 as the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Reid.

GLUE FACTORY DAMAGED.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 7.—Fire today damaged Swift & Co.'s glue factory to the extent of $50,000.

Y. M. C. I. MEETING.

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. C. I. Thomas Finnerty, Jeremiah Connors and P. C. Cox, were appointed as a memorial committee to make arrangements for the annual observance of Y. M. C. I. Memorial day which will be held in October.

"Ways and means" committee was also appointed, the following members being elected: P. J. Cox, chairman; John Carney, Arthur McQuade, John Welch and Hubert McQuade.

Mr. John Carroll spent Labor Day at Hampton beach. He sent quite a number of pretty view postals to members of the Y. M. C. I.

INSTANT DEATH

Six Men Were Killed at Progresso

TWO OTHERS WERE RESCUED

Parting of Cable Caused the Accident

MERIDIA, Yucatan, Sept. 7.—The parting of a cable on the British steamer Halls in the port of Progresso brought instant death to six men yesterday. They were in a small boat alongside the steamer which was being unloaded when several tons of boxed machinery broke from the hoists and crashed down squarely on top of the small boat. Two were rescued unhurt.

It is understood that the boat will be detained in port until an official investigation can be made of the accident which has excited much comment. All the dead are Mexicans.

MINOR ACCIDENTS.

George B. Holden, aged 27 years, of 25 White street, got his left hand caught in a machine yesterday afternoon while at work, and received a laceration and contusion of the fourth finger. He was treated at the Emergency hospital.

While at work on a planing machine yesterday afternoon Daniel Emerson of 562 Gorham street, aged 47 years received a contusion, and abrasion of the right leg, and sprained a ligament in the knee of the same leg. He was treated at the Emergency hospital.

John Eckengren, aged 23 years, was treated at the Emergency hospital yesterday for a friction burn on the left forearm received while at work.

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SPANISH WAR NURSES.

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Doctor Laura A. C. Hughes of Boston was yesterday elected president of the Spanish-American War Nurses Association at the closing session of their organization. Dr. Anita McGee, Washington, who has been president of the association ever since it has been organized, declined to stand for re-election. The nurses then made Dr. McGee a vice-president as was Miss Margaret McPherson, of Rhode Island. Mrs. Robert H. Neale of Westport was elected recording secretary and Miss Rebecca Jackson of Overbrook, Pa., was re-elected treasurer.

183 KILLED

AND 500 MAIMED BY CELEBRATION OF FOURTH.

The cost of the Fourth of July celebration is set forth as follows by the New Bedford Standard:

STATISTICS OF THE FOURTH.

Statistics of this year's casualties in connection with the celebration of the Fourth of July appear in the Journal of the American Medical Association, and are presumably compiled with care. The total number of deaths from tetanus is given as 75, and from other causes 53. The total number of injured is computed at 5398, the largest number recorded in four years' figures. This is probably an under-calculation, as there must have been many accidents which escaped the notice of the compilers. Of the injured 22 suffered complete loss of sight, 73 the loss of one eye, 56 the loss of legs, arms or hands, and 227 the loss of fingers. If true patriotism was actually promoted by the proceedings which caused these deaths and maimings, possibly the price is not too much to pay. Patriotism is a precious thing, and a country cannot have too much of it, or have it too strong. But it is not observable that the boy who loses two or three fingers by the premature explosion of a cannon cracker is more practically intense in his love of country when he grows up than the boy who comes out whole. There are and there have been patriots of the highest rank in this and in other countries who never dreamed that noise was necessary for their production—and particularly noise with accompaniments of danger to themselves or to others. So that it must be confessed that it is doubtful whether it is worth while to kill 183 persons and maim more than 5000 others for the sake of what patriotism is bred by it.

BREAKING CEMENT

BY STEAM TO SAVE PAVING BLOCKS.

The Worcester Post has the following which will be of interest to street makers:

The work of extending the high service pipe in Main street from the Worcester market to the new Odd Fellows building was commenced this morning by the water department.

In connection with this work, the officials of the water department are experimenting with a new method for tearing up the paving blocks preparatory to excavating.

Heretofore, the process of tearing up pavements has usually rendered unfit for usefulness a great many of the stone blocks, as the blocks would break before the cement. This made the job of opening up a street an expensive one in more ways than one.

Officials of the department, in trying to devise some scheme, whereby the work could be made easier and cheaper, hit upon the idea of steaming the cement, before trying to remove the paving blocks.

This plan is being given a test this week and officials of the water department are much pleased with the results.

Two 60-feet length of two inch steam pipe are encased in a wooden box, which is laid over the pavement which is to be removed. The box is then covered with sacks of sand and bales of hay for the purpose of confining the steam inside the box, and the steam is then sent through the pipes from a portable engine, from 50 to 90 pounds pressure being maintained.

After having been steamed for a day the cement is disintegrated, making it possible to remove the paving blocks uninjured, and therefore suitable for use again.

TEXTILE NOTES

Interesting Items From Mill Centres

UNION HILL, N. J., Sept. 7.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed in the United States district court by Lawyers Smith and Mahon of Hoboken in behalf of the creditors of Frank C. Guenther, who disappeared from West New York over a month ago. Guenther, who was a general contractor, was interested in the Hudson silk mill of West New York. Vice-Chancellor Pitney has appointed V. F. Wilcox of Paterson receiver for the silk mill company upon application of Arthur Ryle & Co. of New York, who are creditors of the concern, holding notes amounting to $4,927.14. In the application for a receiver Ryle & Co. alleged that the Hudson Silk Mill Co. was insolvent and had liabilities amounting to $20,000, while its assets were only half that amount. The defendant company filed an answer to the bill of complaint admitting its insolvency.

TO START MILLS.

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Sept. 7.—The Nemasket worsted mills here, which have been idle for several months, will be in full operation within a short time under the management of Charles W. The Nemasket Co., which purchased the local mills after the failure, will employ 125 hands.

MOVE MILL OFFICES.

CANNELTON, Ind., Sept. 7.—The general offices of the Indiana cotton mills have been removed to this place from Louisville, where they have been for many years. Chamberlain is treasurer of the company.

MAY HAVE SHIRT PLANT.

RENSSELAER, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Representatives of a Rutland, Vt., shirt manufactory were in town inspecting a strip of land just north of the Barnet shoddy manufacturing plant on North Forbes avenue. The manufacturers, it is said, are desirous of establishing a factory in close proximity to Troy and if satisfactory inducements are offered will probably locate on the strip of land, which afford them direct connection with the Collar City, by the Albany & Troy Belt line. This is the second time within the last few months that these men have visited this site, but the attention of the chamber of commerce has not been brought to the matter. The manufacturers are, it is said, desirous of securing a strip of land 200 by 100 feet, with railroad frontage.

A "BATTLE"

MOST INTERESTING FOUGHT THUS FAR.

MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Sept. 7.—What was considered by Major General Fred D. Grant as a most important problem was worked out last night and today by the troops at Camp Roosevelt. Late last night the regular troops and the second regiment, New York National guard, bivouacked and prepared for a battle today. After daylight a long wagon train under escort of half the troops made a trip from Mount Gretna to Lawn, and on the way was attacked by the other half. In order that Assistant Secretary of War Oliver and other Washington officials could see the movement the manoeuvre was somewhat compact. It was the most interesting "battle" that has taken place at the instruction camp and it closed the sixth week of the manoeuvres.

CHARTER OAK

TWO TROTTING AND ONE PACING EVENT.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 7.—Two trotting and one pacing races made up the card for the closing day of the grand circuit meeting at Charter Oak Park, each with the prospect of a small number of starters. The trots are the 2.08 and the 2.17 classes. In the former the probable starters will be Robert A., Turley, Judge Green, Aristo, W. J. Lewis and Kid Shay. In the 2.09 pace the entries are My Star, Princess Helen, Argot Boy, Scheermerhorn and Phalla. The purse in each race is $1000. The meeting at the track has been scarcely up to the average in attendance as the interest fell away when it was seen that the fields of starters became small in spite of large entry lists.

PRETTY PARTY

ANOTHER IN SERIES HELD AT "PLEASANT VIEW" COTTAGE.

The "Pleasant View" cottage on the banks of the upper Concord in Billerica was the scene of a delightful dancing party last evening, managed jointly by the camping club members and several Lowell young ladies. The gathering was the largest ever seen in the spacious cottage for the broad veranda was crowded all evening with members of nearby camps and a number of prominent residents of this city, while on the grounds about the cottage many others held forth. The decorative scheme on the exterior of the cottage while simple was none the less effective, many Japanese lanterns of a pretty hue being strung. Inside the lanterns were used also and here and there bunches of greenery were artistically arranged. Music for dancing was furnished by the famous Calumet orchestra of Lowell, Prof. Wm. F. Gilmore, director. Mr. Walter Flaherty was floor marshal assisted by Mr. Geo. Wilkins, Mr. Frank O'Hare, and Misses Margaret Hyde, Sadie Devine, Elizabeth Devine, Mary Tobin, Sadie Tully, Mary Devine and Mrs. Theresa Gormley. Refreshments were served during the evening and the "last waltz" was danced in time to allow the Lowell contingent to connect with the last car.

SECRETARY SHAW

Warns Banks Against Making Loans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. Secretary Shaw has made public a circular letter dated today to all national bank depositories in which he says in effect that he expects public money in depository banks to be used in the communities where it is deposited and not loaned through brokers and other agents in New York for speculative purposes.

The letter is as follows:

"I am advised that many banks scattered throughout the country are loaning their surplus funds through brokers and others in New York on call at high rates of interest. Money loaned on call is well nigh universally for speculative purposes. I recognize the right of any individual to speculate in stocks or in lands and the legal right of any bank to loan money at appropriate rates of interest at home or abroad, on ample securities, even with knowledge that it is being used for speculative purposes. I am not willing however that government money shall be enticed away from the locality where it has been deposited for the purpose of being used in this way. Public deposits are made in aid of legitimate business as distinguished from speculation whatever its nature. Depository banks are expected to loan at regular rates or not at all and they must not be tempted to act as agents instead of correspondents for other depository banks in making call loans at high rates.

"If you have more money than your community can appropriately absorb, please return it to the treasury for it can be promptly placed where it will do much good. This does not apply to banks with large reserves regularly on deposits with city correspondents."

CAUSED GREAT SURPRISE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Secretary Shaw's letter on the use of public money for speculative purposes created a great deal of surprise in banking circles in this city where it was believed that a good deal of the money to be deposited by the government at interior points would speedily be diverted to this center. Special interest was shown in the secretary's order enjoining depository banks from lending government funds at high rate. It was recognized by New York bankers that the treasury department is in a position to maintain a close watch on the operations of the depository banks in this connection because of the report made by them five times a year to the comptroller of the currency.

HELD PRISONER

Woman in Jail Through a Mistake

NEW YORK, Sept. 7. Mrs. Agnes Peterson, a young woman who has been locked up in Jefferson Market court prison for 12 days as the result of a mistake, was released today.

Mrs. Peterson was summoned to court as the result of a dispute with a neighbor. Magistrate Cornell, who was sitting dismissed the case but the woman in her fright did not understand. A little later a number of papers were put before him by the clerk, one a commitment paper ordering Mrs. Peterson to the court prison. Though the magistrate had previously marked "discharged" on the complaint paper, he signed the commitment and the woman was led into prison. This occurred on Aug. 27.

The mistake was not discovered until Wednesday and then Mag. Cornell who was the only one except a supreme court judge who could remedy the mistake, was out of town. Mrs. Peterson was too poor to engage a lawyer to have a supreme court judge unwind the legal red tape which held her so the court officials had to forward the papers to Magistrate Cornell, who was in Massachusetts.

The papers ordering Mrs. Peterson's release came today.

LABOR LEADERS

Are Accused by Speaker Cannon

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 7.—Just before he left the hotel here today, Speaker Cannon was accosted in the corridors by W. H. Frazier, secretary of the local international seamen's union, Grant Hamilton, chairman of the local federation of labor league, and others with whom he discussed labor questions. Quite a crowd gathered. The discussion centered on the anti-injunction bill.

Speaker Cannon accused the labor leaders of presenting one section of the bill before the people and either misrepresenting that or using an incorrect copy of the bill. He stated that Samuel Gompers does not represent two million voters nor half that number. He asked the labor leaders a number of questions about local labor conditions.

ST. WAS BUNCOED

But He Picked Out His Man

ANTONIO GAVE UP $200

As Security For a $500,000 Package

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A well dressed man drove up to Antonio Maroder's farm, a few miles from Hartford, Conn., last Monday, and for some time gazed at Antonio as he ploughed the soil.

"Just in from Arizona," said the stranger, when the farmer bade him the time of day. "Been thinking of buying some property up this way and just looking the ground over. Pretty good, isn't it?"

The stranger spoke splendid Italian, and Antonio was deeply impressed, especially when he was told that the farm looked well. Antonio has desired for a long time to visit his native land, and he soon had visions of selling the farm and getting more than he ever dreamed of. He invited the stranger into the house and that evening the farmer's wife killed two chickens and prepared a feast fit for kings. Antonio and the stranger feasted and drank Chianti, and the trusting farmer told of all the desirable property in the vicinity.

After the meal the stranger asked Antonio to show him the sights of Hartford. They started off, but before they had seen many sights they were joined by a well dressed Italian, who told them he was lonesome and wanted somebody to talk to. He invited them to have a drink, and while the bartender in the booze camp was kept busy the second stranger started in to tell his story.

"I'm just in from California, where my uncle, who was a priest, recently died," he said. "He left me $500,000 and I've come here to have a monument erected. I also want to have some masses said for the repose of his soul. Then I want to buy a dara for the race, which I intend to visit at Rome to deliver a dying message from my departed uncle. I'm somewhat nervous carrying this $500,000 around with me, but don't know of a safe place to leave it tonight."

Antonio consented to take care of it until the banks opened the next day. His kind offer was accepted, and the trio journeyed to the farm. Antonio produced a tin box and the second stranger placed a neat parcel therein.

"Of course I will want some security," the stranger told Antonio. "You look all right but one can't take chances these days."

The farmer forked over $200, all the money he had, and promised to guard the $500,000 with his life if need be. Then the two strangers departed, promising to return the next morning.

After they had gone Antonio's curiosity got the better of him, he had never seen such a fabulous amount of money and he was going to take one little peep. He unwrapped the parcel and beheld a bunch of newspaper.

The Hartford police were notified, and detectives learned that the two strangers had boarded a train for New York. The police here were notified and Detective Sergeant Petrosino got busy. He hied himself yesterday to Macdougal and Fourth streets and lay in wait. After a couple of hours he saw an old expert at the "con" game leave the house of 107 Macdougal street. When the man saw Petrosino he started back, but the detective was right after him and handed him before he could reenter the house. The fellow put up a stiff fight, but Petrosino used his blackjack with telling effect and subdued him.

At police headquarters the prisoner was recognized as Emelio Pasquin, 41 years old. He said he was a merchant. He has been in the tolls four times because of bunco games.

Antonio, who had come on from the farm, picked Pasquin out of fifteen men who were lined up in the detective bureau and identified him as the fellow who fleeced him. The prisoner was then taken to the Jefferson market police court, where Magistrate Steentser held him until the arrival of requisition papers. The police say Pasquin's brother is now serving a long sentence in Joliet prison, Illinois, for bunco ing Italians.

OPERA HOUSE

"Why Girls Leave Home," was seen last night at the opera house by a large audience. The cast is as follows:

Dan Sherwood .....T. E. B. Henry
Joseph White ....Edward J. Lee
Sam Stone .... Prof J. Adams
Police Captain ....Chas. F. Newsom
Johnny Hobbins, ...Wm. Weston
Mr. Kelley .. ..Cortland Hopkins
Geo. Hedges .....Macy Tobin
Bonbill ....J. P. Laswell
Waiter ....James Fenwell
Police Officer .....Martin Gans
Bartender ....Harold Mercie
Pearl Sherwood .....Bessie Lee
Dolly Fletcher ....Beralee Belknap
Minnie Sherwood .....Anna Bennett
Mrs. Sherwood ....Hilda Vernon
Sadie Dillick ....Madge Carlton

Miss Bessie Lee takes the leading part of "Pearl Sherwood," the young woman who is being led astray, and her fine acting contributes much to the success of the play. Mr. Henry deserves much credit for the leading part he takes as "Dan Sherwood," the brother of the girl. In the play "Dan" tries to save his sister from the power of a deep-eyed villain, "Joseph White," which part is taken by Mr. E. J. Lee. "Dan" is inclined to be too severe with his sister and her refusal to submit to his commands enrages him so that he strikes her a blow which makes her unconscious. While in this condition the body is stolen by the conspirators, and concealed in an out of the way place, while "Dan" is accused of the murder and of hiding his crime. After returning to consciousness the girl makes her escape and is able to arrive home in time to save her brother from death by his own hand, he thinking all the time that she is dead. It is a terrible lesson, but well learned, and "Pearl" returns to her home to marry the man who has loved her truly through all her trials.

The humorous end of the play is well looked after by Mr. William Weston, formerly of the Casto theatre stock company, in the role of "Johnny Hobbins," with a voice like a girl, and whose only occupation is making love. One will readily recognize in this drama a faithful and detailed re-unfolding in all but its fatalities of the celebrated tragedy that took place in Allentown in 1903.

The play opens with a room in the Sherwood home, followed by a sectional view of the interior of Kelley's cafe, then a street scene, again a room in the Sherwood home, a room in Dolly Fletcher's road house and the interior of city prison.

This drama points a moral which could be drawn in numerous instances in modern life. It is a story of evil associates and a longing for gay life, yet it has a heroine with innocent intentions. Harshness between brother and sister at home gives the girl excuse for continuing on the seemingly wayward career she has chosen, and many exciting bits of experience make the path extremely fascinating.

There will be matinees and evening performances today and tomorrow of "Why Girls Leave Home," and judging from the large attendance of the two performances of yesterday, crowded houses will rule during the present stay of this clever company in Lowell.

SUPT. HOSMER

IN LOWELL AND ADJOINING CITIES

Same Here as in City of Boston

The suggestion made by a convention of those interested in fire fighting, that all hydrant and hose coupling threads be made uniform, is being quite universally discussed and favorably commented upon.

Speaking of uniform hydrant threads, Chief Hosmer said: "Hydrant threads in this section are uniform. They average about seven and one half threads to the inch. They are the same here as in Boston and Lawrence. That has always been the case in this section. We could use our hose in Boston or Lawrence just as well as we could use it here."

The discussion has been brought up by the fact that when outside assistance was called to Fryeburg, Me., the engines had to stand idle because the hose couplings would not fit on the hydrants.

SPEAKER CANNON

Littlefield. When Mr. Cannon left the hall at the conclusion of his speech he exhibited signs of weakness but expressed his belief that a night's rest would restore his normal condition.

WHITNEY IS WANTED

Strong Sentiment in His Favor for Governor

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—The conservative wing of the democracy is still without a candidate against Dist. Atty. John B. Moran for the nomination for governor. Ex-Mayor John H. H. McNamee of Cambridge is not yet in, although Congressman Sullivan made the flat statement yesterday afternoon that the Cambridge man was still an important factor and that it was by no means certain that he would not be the candidate.

It was rumored about town yesterday that the name of Ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews of Boston was being considered by Chairman Quincy and his associates. Congressman Sullivan, who is now acting as spokesman for the conservatives, declined to say whether or not Mr. Matthews' name had been mentioned in the conference held in Mr. Sullivan's office yesterday afternoon. Mr. Matthews is in Europe and it is not known whether he will return before the state convention or not.

In response to the notification sent out late Wednesday afternoon four of the seven members of the committee of the hotel Thorndike conference assembled at Congressman Sullivan's office yesterday about 3 o'clock. This committee is composed of Mr. Quincy, Arthur Lyman, John C. Burke of Lowell, Edward Arundel of Lawrence, Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, Maj. Shea of Fitchburg and Mayor Coughlin of Fall River. The last three did not attend and Congressman Sullivan was added to the committee.

The five men whose names are affixed to the address given out to the voters of the state and printed herewith, talked the situation over for nearly two hours. It is understood that they went over the state very carefully and considered the chances of success or defeat. Congressman Sullivan said that several names were mentioned as possible candidates. He said that he had been trying to get into communication with Ex-Mayor McNamee but had failed to locate him. He expected to see him today, however.

It is possible that the conservatives have a card "up their sleeves." It was hinted both at the Thorndike conference and after the meeting yesterday that Henry M. Whitney might again be induced to enter the field. But Mr. Sullivan has openly said that so far as he was concerned he should urge Mr. Whitney against such a course.

At the conclusion of yesterday's conference the following statement was given out:

"The committee of seven appointed to consider the question of a candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor met at the office of Congressman Sullivan, and after discussing several names adjourned subject to the call of the chair. The committee will take further time in considering the question of a candidacy and voted to issue in the meantime the following appeal to the democrats of Massachusetts:

"To the democrats of Massachusetts—The undersigned, a committee appointed by authority of the conference of representative democrats from all over the state held at the hotel Thorndike, Boston, Sept. 5, make this appeal to the democrats of the state to elect to the coming state convention, unhampered by instructions the strongest and most representative democrats of their respective localities, and not to instruct these delegates to favor the nomination of the probation candidate, John B. Moran, whose nomination by our party would, in our judgment, invite disastrous defeat.

"This committee will shortly issue to the democrats of the state an address setting forth the grounds upon which they deem it their duty to the party to oppose his nomination. (Signed) John A. Sullivan chairman, Josiah Quincy, Arthur Lyman, John C. Burke, Edward L. Arundel.

HELD PRISONER

Charge That Was Made by Girl

COUPLE EAGER TO GET MARRIED

Tell Their Troubles to the Court

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—A twenty-two-year-old Bohemian girl, not three months in this country, told Magistrate Breen in the Essex Market police court yesterday that she had been held a prisoner against her will. She had been taken from the immigration authorities by the Austrian Society of New York and had been hired from them by Arthur Gottlieb, a jeweller at 326 Grand street as a servant.

The girl's name is Rosina Pelhoda Rosena. She appealed to the Court for aid on Monday, but her statement was chaotic. A summons was issued for the Gottliebs and Probation Officer Anna Doyle was sent to look into the case.

The girl arrived in this country on the Kronprinz Wilhelm on June 12, in company with Anton Vosak, 27 years old, butcher, who had long been her fiance. As the couple was not married, Rosina was held by the immigration authorities, and from them the Austrian society secured her. It is the practice of this society to take girls in this way, and the society is held responsible to the immigration authorities for the girl's conduct for one year. They are kept in the home of the society at 170 East Eightieth street during this time of probation and are sent out from there only to persons giving satisfactory references.

Gottlieb secured the services of the girl on July 2, agreeing to pay the society $12 a month for her service, this money to be turned over to her by the society.

The girl says she was kept practically a prisoner by the Gottliebs, being allowed to go on the street but a few times during the two months and then only with some member of the family. She says that they also refused to turn over to her any part of the $90 which she says she brought with her and which the society gave into their keeping at the time of her engagement.

Her story was substantiated by the investigation made by Miss Doyle. The girl says Yetta Gottlieb threatened her with deportation when she expressed a desire to leave. She says further that Miss Gottlieb said to her in court, "If you don't say you want to stay you will be arrested."

Magistrate Breen told Miss Gottlieb that he had no right to hold the girl, and instructed her to give Rosina her money.

"I won't do either here," she replied, "I shall have to take her back to the society and I'll give them the money. We have given a bond to the Austrian home and would lose it if we let the girl go."

"A bond!" queried the magistrate. "What sort of a bond? You can't have a bond on the liberty of this girl or any other human being in this country."

Miss Gottlieb appeared greatly surprised.

Meanwhile Vosak had been standing first on one foot then on the other. After the [illegible] ended left the bridge [illegible] began telling their troubles to Miss Doyle, both at once.

"We want to get married," was the sum and substance of their story.

Rosina then said that the $90 was money which Vosak had earned in the old country and had given her to prepare for their wedding. She said that the Gottliebs had paid her no salary and given her no money.

"I asked them for two cents the other day to buy plums and they refused," said she.

The probation officer left the court with the pair of lovers in search of a Bohemian church, promising to get the money for them so that they could buy all the plums they wanted.

Mr. Gottlieb was seen later. He said that the girl was not kept a prisoner and that she had but [illegible]. He admitted that he had not yet paid her her salary.

The manager of the Austrian society said last night that he would get the girl back unless she was married.

"If she's married, all right," he said. "But if the fellow doesn't marry her we will get her back here."

He said that the girls in the home were at liberty to leave the building but that if they didn't come back of their own accord they were found and brought back.

The "bond" to which Miss Gottlieb referred is merely an agreement to pay the girl, through the society, $12 a month. Attached to the agreement is this note:

Servant girls engaged by any party through this office must be brought back again after the discontinuation of their services, otherwise such party can get no other servant from the above society.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Since Monday afternoon when the Hathaway theatre opened its doors for the season Manager John L. Shannon has been complimented repeatedly on the excellence of this week's bill, and incidentally many have remarked on the attractive appearance of the cosy playhouse. This week's headliners are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, two artists who have attained an international reputation in the legitimate drama, and on the vaudeville stage. The title of their sketch is "When Two Hearts Are Won." It is chock full of humorous situations, and the attention of the audience is fixed from beginning to end. Another act that is winning the plaudits of the audience at every performance is contributed by George Thatcher and Charles Ennis, black faced comedians. Their act represents an up-to-date minstrel first part, with Mr. Thatcher on the end, and Mr. Ennis in the centre. Mr. Thatcher's stories, and jokes are all new and his vocal effort "I'm Getting Ready For My Mother-in-Law" is a positive treat for individuals who are troubled by this officious personage. Others on the bill are Mosher, Houghton, and Mosher, cyclists of great renown; the LaTour Sisters, comediennes; Helen Tilx, comedienne; Paul LaCroix, comedy juggler; Mozarto, musical genius; and the celebrated American Vitagraph. There are daily matinees at Hathaway's. The matinee prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents, and in the evening the prevailing prices are 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents.

TRADE WITH CUBA

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR JUST ENDED.

Following is a statement of our commerce with Cuba in the current year:

Commerce of the United States with Cuba in the fiscal year just ended was greater than in any earlier year of the trade relations between the United States and that island. This is particularly true of exports. The imports from the island fell slightly below those of 1905 due to the fall in the price of sugar, but the exports to the islands were 25 per cent. greater than in 1905, 75 per cent. greater than in 1901, and about 120 per cent. greater than in 1893.

The growth in the exports to Cuba during recent years has been very rapid. The value of exports to that island had never reached the 20 million dollar line until the year 1893, when they were 24 millions. In 1894 they were 20 millions, then during the war period they dropped as low as 8¼ millions, but in 1900 again crossed the 20 million line, being in that year 26½ million dollars. In 1903 they again dropped to a little less than 22 millions, in 1904 [illegible] millions, in 1905 38 millions, and in 1906, $47,763,688.

In imports the gain is less strongly marked. Prior to 1895 the value of the imports into the United States from Cuba ranged in most years from 50 to 75 million dollars, being in 1874 85 millions, and in 1893 78 millions. The year 1905, however, made a record slightly higher than that of 1874, the total value of imports from Cuba in 1905 being $86,304,150. In 1906, the fiscal year just ended, the value of imports into the island was $84,979,831, a slight decrease as compared with 1905.

This fall in the value of imports from Cuba in 1906 was due solely to the fall in the price of sugar. The five articles forming the bulk of our imports from Cuba are sugar, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, iron ore, and bananas. Of these, the most important by far is sugar, which amounted in value in 1906 to 60 million dollars, tobacco 13½ millions, cigars and cigarettes 4 millions, iron ore 2 millions, and bananas 1 million. Tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, and iron ore show an increase in the fiscal year 1906, and bananas show a reduction of less than half a million dollars, while sugar shows a reduction of over 4 million dollars in value in 1906, as compared with 1905. The quantity of sugar in 1906 was, however, more than 33 per cent in excess of that in 1905, being 2,781,561,350 pounds, and the value $60,208,148, against 2,067,684,169 pounds, valued at $64,366,104, imported from the island in 1905.

The principal articles forming the nearly 48 million dollars worth of merchandise exported to the island were iron and steel manufactures nearly 10 million dollars, against a little over 6 millions in 1905, flour over 3 million dollars, cattle about 2 millions, lard about 3 millions, other provisions about 3 millions, including milk valued at $695,277, lumber about 2½ millions, boots and shoes a little less than 2 millions, coal a little less than 2 millions, cotton goods, 1½ millions, cars and carriages 1½ millions, and corn 1¼ million dollars.

The increase in shipments to Cuba, while visible in many articles, occurs chiefly in manufactures of iron and steel, of which the total exports to the island were $9,879,648 in 1906, against $6,161,198 in 1905.

THE MERRIMACK DERBY

$2.00

THE DERBY OF QUALITY

The best Derby producers in the country make our MERRIMACK SPECIAL $2.00 DERBY. They're high grade makers—derbies to retail at $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 is their chief business.

This $2.00 Derby is made for half a dozen of their best customers the bodies are made in the off season to keep their force at work—they're practically the $3.00 grades of fur felt that are trimmed less expensively, and are handled in the off season by the hat workers at a special price. It's a close squeeze for the makers to get them finished so as to allow a fair profit on a $2.00 price.

Most of the dealers who buy them get $2.50, which is reasonable. The Merrimack booms its Hat Department, and makes the word "Merrimack" a byword for good value by selling this high grade hat in great numbers at $2.00.

The new shapes are splendid—the high crown, narrow curled brim, or the flat set—each in proportion to suit any physique.

Other new Derbies at $2.00, $3.00 and $4.00.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1906.

This is old home week all over New England. The vacationists are returning tanned but fresh and vigorous, well prepared for the winter work. A good vacation is worth all it costs n preventing physical, mental or nervous collapse.

THE MAINE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT.

The republicans have fired their two biggest guns way down in Maine in the Littlefield fight when they drafted Speaker Cannon and Secretary Taft. It would be expecting too much from Maine to defeat Littlefield, but we do expect to see his vote of two years ago materially reduced.

TO PREVENT BANK FRAUDS.

If the business of bank breaking grows for the next few years as it has been doing in the past decade it may be necessary to adopt the system of detection and espionage now in force in the post office department. The present system of inspection is a failure. Some other must be devised.

ASPHALT BREAKING UP.

There are several dangerous holes in the asphalt on Market street in front of Brooks' undertaking place not to mention others. Besides the street when viewed colsely shows that it is nearly worn out. We do not believe that this particular piece of work deserves to be held up as a model of smooth paving.

TO CHECK STOCK GAMBLING.

A stock transfer tax would put a damper upon the bucket shop business and also upon that other questionable practice of selling stocks on margins. Both forms of stock gambling have been extensively indulged here in Lowell and any law that would limit either or both would be a great benefit to this community.

THE DEMOCRATIC MUDDLE.

The Boston conference of democrats has decided to fight Moran in the convention, but has not decided upon any candidate to set up against him. It is well to leave delegates unpledged so that they can exercise freedom of action in selecting a candidate. The choice of the democracy may yet be declared for Whitney.

OUT AGAINST HEARST.

The New York democrats have thrown down the gauntlet to Wm. R. Hearst who is a candidate for governor and a possible candidate for president. They have denounced practically all the extreme doctrines advocated by Hearst, such as socialism and public ownership of private property, and particularly his alleged corrupt methods in advancing his canvass. The fight will be ended on Sept. 25 when the democrats will name their candidate for governor.

AN INSULT TO BRYAN.

If as reported Governor Mickey of Nebraska in an address of welcome to Mr. Bryan took occasion to use insulting language in calling him a professional reformer whose creed is one of self-interest, he did what no gentleman would do. If he did not approve of Mr. Bryan's methods or of his political doctrines he should not have accepted the invitation to deliver an address of welcome. It would seem that Governor Mickey is pretty small potatoes.

GOOD ADVICE FROM GOV. FOLK.

Here is a piece of good business sense from Governor Folk of Missouri while addressing the convention of retail merchants:

"We are proud of our splendid cities, and we want them to increase in wealth and population, and we also want our country towns to grow. We wish the city merchants to build up, but we also desire the country merchants to prosper. I do not believe in the mail-order citizen. If a place is good enough for a man to live in, it is good enough for him to spend his money in. No merchant can succeed without advertising in one way or another. Patronize your town papers, build them up, and they will build the town up and build you up increased trade and greater opportunities."

This is in line with The Sun's advice to Lowell residents to trade at home.

THE TREATY ANNIVERSARY.

At the signing of the Portsmouth treaty of peace the anniversary of which was observed Wednesday, the Russian and Japanese envoys gave $10,000 each to be used by the state of New Hampshire for leading charities. Yesterday the interest on the amount accruing from investments in the securities of the two countries was distributed to various charities. The total was $800, and it was distributed to the Home for Aged at Concord, N. H., Orphans' Home at Franklin, Sacred Heart hospital at Manchester and Cottage hospital at Portsmouth. This was an agreeable reminder of the generosity of the envoys at the conclusion of their work. The acceptance of the money was criticized at the time for the reason that our government offered them its free hospitality, but it seemed to be their desire to show their gratitude in some such way and a better could hardly have been selected.

The various charities throughout the State will appreciate this annual donation and all will endeavor to prove worthy of a gift that is designed only for the most deserving.

MINERAL WEALTH NOT LIKELY TO BE EXHAUSTED.

President James J. Hill while a shrewd business man and the head of a great railroad system, cannot be recognized as a prophet. Yet he makes the prediction that in half a century our mineral resources will be exhausted and the industries dependent upon them will in consequence lapse into stagnation. In a country that has so many mountains and so many volcanoes it is not likely that the mineral resources will be exhausted in a century, much less in half a century. The supply of iron ore in the mountains of this country is inexhaustible, the only question is that of getting at it. As to that when our population increases to 200,000,000 millions there will be no scarcity of labor and we shall probably be as well able then to go down 2000 feet as we are to sink 1000 feet today. Some eminent geologists long ago figured out that England would have exhausted her mineral resources ere this but she is still mining iron and coal as she was fifty years ago, and so we surmise it will be fifty or even one hundred years hence in this country despite the prediction of such sensationalists as James J. Hill.

SEEN AND HEARD

Some girls are silly, some are funny, some are wise and some are otherwise, but the girl who penned the following, on a postal card, at which all might rubber, and addressed the postal to a young man at city hall, has been put down as "the limit."

My Dear:

Can I ever forget the sweet words whispered into my ears in the lovely glen, under the caressing beams of that silvery moon. How I think of them by day and dream of them by night, and wonder when the day will come to unite us, never to part again! Let it be soon darling and remember you promised to see me before another week has flown.

You know I am yours and only yours and as we can never be happy without each other, let nothing arise to prevent our renewing the pledges again and again we made the other night, and to meet me at the usual place is the one and only wish of

A train was passing a glue factory not long ago, and as it drew near the building the passengers began to sniff and look around suspiciously, for the odor emitted in the process of glue making is anything but attar-of-roses. A lady who frequently travelled on that line had provided herself with a bottle of smelling-salts, and as the stench began to invade the car she uncorked the bottle and applied it to her nose.

Seated beside her was an old farmer who was not in the habit of riding on this road. He put up with the disagreeable smell as long as he could, then shouted: "Madam, would you mind puttin' the cork in that 'ere bottle?"

Women are savers rather than spenders. And when they spend they spend to good advantage. A dollar in a woman's hand goes twice as far as a dollar in the hands of a man. If you want to save money, let your wife be the banker. This is for the man who gets wages out of a job and for the man who gets a salary out of a position.

"Madam," he began, as the door opened, "I am selling a new book on 'Etiquette and Department.'"

"Oh, you are," she responded. "Go down there and clean the mud off your feet!"

"Yes'm. As I was sayin', ma'am, I am sell—"

"Take off your hat. Never address a strange lady at her door without removing your hat."

"Yes'm. Now, then, as I was saying—"

"Take your hands out of your pockets. No gentleman ever carries his hands there."

"Yes'm. Now, ma'am, this work on 'Eti—"

"Throw away your pipe. If a gentleman uses tobacco he is careful not to disgust others by the habit."

"Yes'm. Now, ma'am, in calling your attention to this valuable—"

"Wait. Put that dirty handkerchief out of sight and use less grease on your hair in the future. You have a book on 'Etiquette and Department.' Very well, I don't want it. I am only the servant girl. Go up to the front door and talk with the lady of the house. She called me a downright, outright, no-doubt-about-it idiot this morning, and I think the book you're selling is just what she requires."

A retail house, rather lardy in paying up, received the following letter from a wholesale firm:

"Our cashier fell unconscious at his desk this morning. Up to this time, 4 P. M., we have been unable to get a word out of him, except your name. May we say to him, with a view to his immediate recovery, that we have your check, as we think that is what is on his mind?"

Happy little boy, playing all day long,
There are troubles waitings patiently for you!
Gleeful little minstrel, sing your merry song
While the winds are balmy and the sky is blue!
Shame on him, oh, rosy, laughing little boy,
Who sits down to tell you in a dismal tone
That the world has troubles, that not all is joy,
And that gladness cannot always be your own.

Happy little maid, singing all the day
Many aches are waiting to assail your heart;
You will some day wonder, sitting in dismay,
Why the fates have cast you for your bitter part.
Shame on them, oh, lovely, laughing little maid,
Who attempt to rob you of your present glee;
Play away untroubled, laugh on unafraid
Through the careless childhood God has given thee.

When my heart is glad, let my joy remain!
If you know that trouble waits to cloud my brow,
If you know tomorrow is to bring me pain,
Do not come to rudely tell me of it now,
If my hopes are futile, seek me not in haste
To impart the sorrow I will have to bear;
Oh, the precious, priceless moments that we waste
Looking sadly forward to a distant care!

THE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 7.—The first state convention of the Independence league of California was held yesterday. After adopting a platform the league nominated W. H. Langdon, district attorney of San Francisco, for governor. The platform declares that the trust issue is the paramount one of the day and pledges its candidates to a vigorous anti-trust crusade.

MRS. SCHWAB DANGEROUSLY ILL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Emma E. Schwab, wife of Charles M. Schwab, it was learned yesterday, is seriously ill at her home here.

"Mrs. Schwab is seriously, even dangerously ill" said Mr. Schwab last night. "She is in the hands of surgeons and has been so since our return from our country place at Loretta.

Mr. Schwab would not discuss the nature of his wife's illness.

BISHOP McCABE

No Longer on Policy-Holders Committee

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At the meeting of the international policyholders' committee at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday, at which Richard Olney presided and at which almost the full membership was present the letter recently written by Bishop McCabe to Alton B. Parker, was discussed and resolutions were adopted relieving the bishop from further service on the committee.

The proceedings were held behind closed doors, but after adjournment the following resolutions were given out:

"Whereas, Bishop McCabe accepted membership on the committee but has been unable to attend any of the meetings of those of its sub-committee although respectfully urged to do so, and

"Whereas there was furnished to the press from the offices of the Mutual Life Insurance company on August 31st a letter bearing the signature of Bishop McCabe, addressed to Hon. Alton B. Parker as chairman of the executive committee, which letter has been read at this meeting but has not been received at the time it was given for publication by the Mutual Life Insurance company on the date of its meeting and

"Whereas, Bishop McCabe has been communicated with by telegrams and letters, urging him to attend this meeting so as to present his views to his associates and to be informed of the views of the committee but has made no reply to such communications and has failed to attend, and

"Whereas copies of the proposed address were furnished to Bishop McCabe before the meeting at which the address, as adopted, was mailed at least three weeks before the address was distributed, and no objection or criticism was made by him as to the form of addresses for four weeks after the distribution thereof or until the letter of August 27th, and

"Whereas the views of the committee as to the course that should be pursued by the policyholders in the impending election for trustees as expressed in its address to the policyholders, issued July 9th are opposed to those expressed in the aforesaid letter to the chairman of the executive committee it is

"Resolved that this committee regards the attitude assumed in the said letter as so completely out of sympathy with the announced purpose of the committee as to amount in effect to the surrender by Bishop McCabe of his membership in the committee and he is accordingly relieved from further service.

"Resolved, that the chairman of the executive committee is directed to reply to the communication of Bishop McCabe in such form as he deems appropriate, and

"Resolved, that in the judgment of the committee it is not in the interests of the policyholders to accept or endorse the administrative ticket of either company."

It was stated that the committee had agreed upon the directors of the New York Life as well as those of the Mutual, but no names were to be made public until the tickets are filed with the superintendent of insurance, Sept. 18.

WARNED AGAINST FAKIR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—H. J. Wehman, secretary of the Federation of American Motor Cyclists, yesterday issued warning against a man who has been travelling in New England soliciting members for the organization and who in a number of instances has obtained and given receipts for the necessary membership fees. Mr. Wehman states that the organization has no solicitors.

AERONAUT LOST

Machinery in His Airship Was Broken

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the Tribune from Oconto, Wis., says:

Drifting helplessly 14 miles, 200 feet above the earth in an airship he could not control, William Matteray, a Chicago aeronaut who made an ascension from here last night, disappeared from view.

When last seen Matteray's unmanageable craft was hovering uncertainly over Green Bay, still buoyant and drifting out over Lake Michigan.

Matteray made the ascension against his judgment, knowing that the machinery had been broken and spliced, but the crowds, eager to see a man risk his life, declared that the story of a broken propeller shaft was to be a ruse to avoid making the ascension. Therefore Matteray went up to "make good."

CHANGES MADE

SENATOR DEPEW

Said to Have Recovered From Illness

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Tribune today says:

When congress meets at the beginning of next December, Senator Chauncey M. Depew will be found in his seat. This assurance was made yesterday by a member of his family.

"Senator Depew's recovery has been slow but the gains he has made have been held."

He said: "At no time during the past year has he been in such good health and spirits and the doctors assert that if the improvement continues he will be equal to the strain of another session of congress. For several months, Senator Depew has been in retirement at his home at Dobbs Ferry. The nature of his malady has never been known but was generally understood to have been on the order of a nervous breakdown.

Gompers Refutes "Joe" Cannon's Charges

LEWISTON Me., Sept. 7 Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, spoke at city hall for the second time in the present campaign and for the third time since last May, last evening in his effort to accomplish the defeat of Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of the 2d district.

An audience of a little more than half the size of that which heard him two weeks ago Saturday was present, and gave him a hearty greeting. His speech was more moderate in tone than many expected. He took up in turn the several charges which he made against Mr. Littlefield in his previous speech, of opposition to the eight hour bill, barge bill, the labor amendment to the antitrust bill, the anti-injunction bill, the anti-scrip bill, etc., and claimed that Mr. Littlefield had not satisfactorily answered his charges on any of them.

He denied that he had come here to dictate to the laboring men how they should vote, but said that he had come to appeal to them to cast their votes against Mr. Littlefield. He denounced Speaker Cannon of making up the committee of labor so as to nullify the efforts of labor to better itself and denounced the employment of Chinese to build the Panama canal.

Referring to the charge that he was not a citizen or a voter he said that the records of the superior court of New York would show that he was naturalized in 1872, shortly after he became 21 years and that he had voted ever since. He said he was offered an appointment as statistician in the treasury department by John Sherman, also an appointment by Gov. David B. Hill upon the department of arbitration and conciliation and by President McKinley a position on the industrial commission and declined them all. He had also been nominated by the republicans of New York as a state senator and by a wing of the democratic party.

He denounced Mr. Littlefield as the most cold blooded, deceitful and politically cruel man in public life today. In closing he warned his hearers against the 11th hour tricks which might be sprung when it would be too late for them to be answered and said that if any charges of treachery should be made against him, he promised to return to Lewiston and put himself in their hands to do with him as they would.

REJECTED SUITOR

Believed to Have Murdered Young Man

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Joseph Grasso, 18 years old, died in a hospital today of bullet wounds inflicted while walking with his sweetheart and another girl on an East Side street last night. Grasso was halted by three men, one of whom deliberately shot him down. Before he died he told the police that he did not recognize his assailant or the men with him.

The police theory is that the assassination was the act of a rejected suitor.

Margaret Canovale, one of the young women with whom Grasso was walking when he was shot, was detained by the police because her account of the shooting appeared to be contradictory.

STRONG PROTEST

Made by Ambassador Thompson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. Declaring to be false the reports of a bitter anti-American feeling in Mexico and an organized revolution against President Diaz, David E. Thompson, the American ambassador has reported to the state department, renewing his request that in compliance with the wishes of Mexico's president, this government should take steps to suppress the Mexican revolutionary junta at St. Louis which publishes in Spanish a paper called Regeneracion.

He contends that articles that have appeared in certain newspapers in the United States "give a most exaggerated importance" to the work of men who have fled from Mexico and who continue to endeavor to breed a spirit of unrest in that country.

The ambassador has suggested that if these men could be dealt with as anarchists, President Diaz would feel a deep gratitude. The suggestion made by Mr. Thompson followed interviews he had with President Diaz in which the latter expressed the earnest hope that the U. S. government could take steps to prevent the further circulation of the paper in question.

The state department immediately referred the despatches of Mr. Thompson to the department of justice with a view to ascertaining what measures might be taken against the newspaper Regeneracion or its publishers.

THE ELECTRIC CAR AS IT JUMPED THE TRACK AT FIRST STREET.

And Nearly Collided With Car Barn

A car going at a lively rate jumped the tracks at the car barn in First street, last night, and a serious smash was barely averted. Dr. A. E. Evans, the veterinary surgeon of 587 Pleasant street, Dracut Centre and Elton Stafford of 591 Mammoth road were injured and were removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital.

They complained of severe pains in the abdomen, caused by being thrown against the forward seat of the car. The doctors at the hospital said they did not think the injuries were very serious.

The car was due in Merrimack square at 7.30 and was running a little behind time. The passengers said the car was going fast when it struck the curve. Suddenly there came a jar, and the car shot out toward the corner of the car barn. The car was brought to such a quick stop that it threw many of the passengers forward.

The car was in charge of Motorman Ernest Jenkins and Conductor John Griffin.

In speaking of the accident Motorman Jenkins said: "We were going at a fair rate of speed when the forward trucks left the track. I can't imagine what caused it. My lights were on and if there was an obstruction of any size I would have noticed it." Motorman Jenkins escaped without injury, although had the car traveled five feet more he would hardly have fared so well.

Conductor Griffin said: "We were rounding the curve at the barns, the car traveling at ordinary speed when I felt a slight jar and then came the jolt-ing when the trucks ploughed into the dirt. The jar frightened the passengers, but only for a few moments, for it was all over in less than five seconds. Those aboard hardly had time to become possessed of fear when the car came to a stop. I can't explain why the wheels jumped the rails."

An extra car was put on the line and ran from Merrimack square to the car barns and made connections with the cars on the Lawrence side, so that traffic was but slightly delayed.

The B. & N. in this division has been particularly fortunate for some time past in having no serious accidents and this one was more in the nature of a scare than anything else.

LAD'S ESCAPADE

He Sampled His Dad's Liquors

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Nine-year-old James Lorenzo, Jr., whose father keeps a saloon at 406 West Forty-sixth street, decided yesterday afternoon while his father was out of the barroom for a few minutes that he ought to make a careful examination of the many different colored bottles. The red one looked so nice to him that he took a good swig of it, feeling certain that it must taste as good as it looked. It was a little bitter, so he drank something that looked like water out of another bottle. This burned his tongue, but he gulped the stuff down and grabbed a black bottle that appeared to contain sarsaparilla. It couldn't have been sarsaparilla, because it started like everything when it got into his stomach.

Young James Lorenzo, Jr., then started a swift search for something to take the taste out of his mouth. Away up on a shelf was a cake of something that looked to young Jim like chocolate. It was a plug of the bartender's chewing tobacco, but Jimmie took a bite of it just the same. He had no sooner swallowed it than he grew dizzy and tumbled from the top of the bar to the floor, striking on the back of his head.

He lay unconscious for a time, and the bartender hurried out and found Policeman Smith of the West Forty-seventh street station house. Smith saw that the boy's head was cut and not knowing about Jimmie's sampling examination of his dad's stock concluded that he had a fractured skull, and sent a hurry call to Roosevelt hospital.

When Dr. Auchinglos arrived he had a hard time disentangling Jimmie's symptoms, but finally decided that the boy was suffering from a scalp wound, alcoholism and nicotine nausea. He wanted to take the lad to the hospital, but James Lorenzo, Sr., who came home just then, said that he wanted him to stay at home in order to have an earnest talk with him as soon as he was convalescent.

PICKPOCKETS

WERE GIVEN A CHANCE TO REFORM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Magistrate Finelite, sitting in the Tombs court, yesterday took issue squarely with Magistrate Crane, as to the treatment of pickpockets. He discharged three men who the police said were known thieves with their pictures in the rogues' gallery and who had no visible means of support. The trio were Harry Joseph of 73 Attorney street, Joe Finkelstein of 135 Second avenue and Robert Lewis of 235 East Twenty-first street. All are in their twenties and they bore every evidence of prosperity.

Magistrate Crane in the Tombs court last Monday remanded the group to the Tombs to give the detective sergeants who arrested them a chance to get evidence against them as vagrants. At the same time Magistrate Crane expressed himself in strong terms on the need of the authorities doing something to send this class of criminals to prison, saying that large numbers of them are preying on citizens.

When the defendants were arraigned before Magistrate Finelite yesterday morning the politician whose bail Magistrate Crane refused to accept for the men hovered in the background. The detectives reported having found the addresses given by the prisoners correct but had been unable to find anybody who knew that the men actually worked or what they did.

"Will you reform if I give you another chance?" asked Magistrate Finelite of the trio of grinning crooks who were furtively giving a wink to their friend, the politician.

"Yes, your honor, we'll reform," they said.

"Very well; I'll give you one more chance; you are discharged," he said.

The gang lost no time in getting out into the open air. Outside they laughed and chatted with the detective sergeants as if to show there was not the least hard feeling.

MUST BE HOODOO

Three Victims in Station House

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Fifth street police station cops don't know what to do to shake off the hoodoo that has hovered over the precinct since the "red light" days. There was another bunch of accidents in the station house yesterday, and they feel that no one is safe in the dull white building.

Doorman William Dartard was found early in the morning in bed suffering from typhoid fever and was removed to Bellevue hospital. He is said to be in a critical condition.

About 7 o'clock Ellen Moore, 42 years old, of 300 West Forty-second street, who was locked up the night before to sleep off a jag, was being led up from a cell room by Matron Ellen J. McLaughlin when she tripped and fell down a flight of stairs and fractured her skull.

While an ambulance surgeon from Bellevue was attending to her word came that Policeman Peter Sauerbry had fallen down the cellar stairs and was unable to move. After the surgeon had done what he could for Ellen he looked after Sauerbry and found that he had broken his right ankle. Ellen and the cop were taken to the hospital together.

The hoodoo claimed as its first victim Capt. Diamond, who was dismissed from the force because of testimony he gave at the trial of Wardman Bisset. The latter was also dismissed and sent to Sing Sing for accepting bribes from the proprietors of disorderly houses. Acting Captain James Churchill was also fired off the force because he failed to close up the dives in the precinct.

More policemen have died in the Fifth street station house than in any other in the city the cops say. Not long ago, Sergt. Pryor was found dead in bed. The station also holds the record for sickness. Not a week passes that from two to six cops do not report to the surgeons.

AN EUTOPIAN CITY

Women Will be Allowed to Vote

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 7.—Such stuff as dreams are made of is outclassed in the plans for a co-operative city which attracted the notice of Inspector Stuart yesterday and of which women are to be given a voice in the municipal government. All this and much more may be secured by investors on payment of $150 cash down.

According to the prospectus, this wonderful city is to be founded in Alabama on the Gulf of Mexico and is to be called "The City of America." It is to be run on a co-operative system and the organization which is its sponsor is called the American Co-operative Community of America. E. Gordon Reynolds, "grand organizer A. C. C. A.," 807, 155 earborn street, is given as sponsor for the association. He is a former attorney and resided formerly in Battle Creek, Mich., it is said. His partner is declared to be F. C. Anderson, general organizer, Welfare Group 509, 115 Dearborn street.

The prospectus declares the investor of $150 pays no interest, taxes, assessment, insurance or outlays of any kind. He pays no rent, tithes nor tolls over the membership fee. The 150 groups to each local council is to be the organization of the city. A council is a precinct of a community and four councils make a residence section.

The benefits are: First, an income of nearly $1000 a year or $10,000 for 10 years and then $1500 a year during life; second, it will pay for a home 100 by 225 feet, with sewers, gas, telephone, electric light and power; third, provide a protective and indemnity fund with medical and hospital aid.

Factories will be provided for the people, the prospectus asserts, and many may obtain positions in the growth and extension department now being organized.

CUBANS CHARGED WITH BELONGING TO REVOLUTIONARY JUNTA.

HAVANA, Sept. 7.—Eugio Gutnea, a hotel proprietor, and Enrique Messonier, formerly a member of the city council from which he was removed, have been placed under arrest. Both are liberals and the police claim to have found in their houses manifestos against President Palma.

The charge against the prisoners is membership in a revolutionary junta.

JUDGE GASKILL

May be Appointed to the Supreme Court Bench

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—Several changes in the personnel of the several courts are looked for this fall.

While the resignation of Judge Lothrop of the supreme bench was not made public officially at the state house or the courthouse, it is known definitely that he has resigned, but just when the resignation becomes operative is not ascertainable. It has been said that Gov. Guild wished to pick his successor before the matter was made public.

JUDGE FRANCIS A. GASKILL.

The governor has selected his successor and his identity is known to the judges and a few of their friends. It is reported authentically that Judge Francis A. Gaskill of the superior court will be appointed to succeed Judge Lothrop.

It also comes from an accredited source that Judge Richardson of the superior court will resign soon, and furthermore that one of the younger judges, who is able to make much more money practising law than sitting on the bench, is said to be contemplating giving up his office.

For some time it has been expected that Judge McKim of the probate court would resign, and the bill put through the legislature to pension the probate judges was enacted after several attempts to accomplish this end, with a view chiefly to pension Judge McKim, who is comfortably well off, if not wealthy. It is said his honor will resign this fall and that Michael J. Murray will be given his place, although Elijah George has been an aspirant to that bench for some years.

Chief Justice Brown of the municipal court is likely to get an appointment to the superior court to fill one of the two, and possibly three, vacancies that will occur.

The most important appointment will be that of Judge Gaskill to the supreme court. He was nominated to the superior bench by Gov. Greenhalge in March, 1895. He had been district attorney for Worcester county. He was defeated in the contest for attorney-general in 1903 by the late Hosea M Knowlton.

GYPSY WEDDING

Followed by Wild, Weird Orgie

BELLE OF TRIBE THE BRIDE

Marriage Dance Followed the Ceremony

BOSTON, Sept. 7. From the cleared space beyond the wooded line that leads to the 132 of railroad land on the banks of the Charles river in Dedham known as Kannacke's Island came scenes of wild and weird singing last night. Round and round great open fires before which quarters of beef and mutton sizzled, gaily-clad men and women whirled and pirouetted. The men clapped their hands and the women, whose black hair and long gaudy shawls blew about their faces, struck tambourines lined with bells that jingled, high above their heads.

It was the rare "wedding dance" of the gypsies, accorded only to couples of degree, and it was in celebration of the marriage of young Theodoroso Rosakand, aged 25, the swarthy favorite of the childless old Chief Stephano John, to pretty 16-year-old Luba Michel, the belle of the tribe, who may one day be its "queen." The wedding was held in the house of Alphonse Luna at 102 Richmond street yesterday afternoon, a special license having been obtained from the probate court, and it was the first genuine gypsy wedding ever held in Boston.

Chief Stephano John, ruler by right and might, tall, broad-shouldered, strong and shrewd, brought his tribe, numbering about 200, to Dedham a week ago. They had been on the road since earliest spring. They wandered down from New York state and spent the summer in New England.

It so happened that of the three factions comprising the tribe, two of which are sub-ruled by subordinates, both Theodoroso and Luba belonged to the faction of the chief himself, and when the tribe united last spring and began its summer wandering Theodoroso had attained to the stature and discretion of a man and enjoyed the warmest smile of Chief Stephano John, while Luba, good to look upon, had just reached that age when, according to the gypsy ideal, it is best to marry.

THEODOROSO HAS RIVAL.

There was one who strongly dissented from the general verdict, and this was young Risi Stephano, a handsome youth of Theodoroso's own age. Theodoroso, while he was strong in the manner of men, was no knight, and his shyness kept him from making the hoped-for advances, while Risi whispered slightly into the little ear of Luba beside the "lone fire." At last the tribe became so alarmed that counsellors importuned Chief Stephano John to decree the popular union. The old chief shook his head and seemed content to let matters take their course, whatever his own wishes might have been.

And so for a long time Risi wooed Luba, and Theodoroso sulked in the shadow behind the great fires. But one night while the tribe were together, Theodoroso, passing Luba's people's tent on the run, arrived just in time to meet that young person bound for the "lone fire." The two stopped and glanced at one another, and then Luba's eyes fell and red blood deepened the color beneath her cheeks. The love that had been smoldering in the heart of Theodoroso leaped into flame, and with an impulsive motion he took the little gypsy girl into his arms.

The camp of Stephano John had been pitched in Dedham for a week, and it was nearing the time when the factions would separate when yesterday preparations for the wedding feast were complete. The hall above the cafe of Alphonse Luna at 102 Richmond street was hired, and 19 friends of the chief were selected to attend the function.

GREEK CEREMONY OF RINGS.

The ceremony in itself was a plain enough affair although the dress of the bride—red silk and her bright colored head adornments added a brilliant touch to the sombre surroundings. The wedding party drove to the house of Luna and about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the two were married. Constantine Diktas, a Greek, who was in the cafe at the time, was best man.

Diktas understood the ceremony of the Greek church and while the priest read from the ritual he performed the functions. The bride and groom clasped hands at the word of Diktas and remained that way during the first portion of the ceremony. Then the groom handed two rings to the best man, one of them for the bride, the other for himself. Diktas caused the couple to cross their arms and extend the first finger of their hands. Then he made three passes with the rings fitting them alternately upon the finger of bride and groom, while at each pass the priest murmured a behest. At the third pass the rings were left on the fingers.

Then the priest wrote in a large book while the couple stood together, and when he had finished he went to them and rested his hands on their heads. At the last motion there was a shout from the spectators and Theodoroso kissed his pretty wife for the first time.

As a wedding present the old chief gave the bride $250, which she will keep as her "dot."

Almost immediately after the ceremony the wedding party drove back to the camp, where the whole tribe was waiting. It was after dark and the big fires were lighted. These were not the ordinary camp fires, but great piles of special size—"wedding fires." As the carriages halted in front of the fires and the bride and groom descended, the wierd gypsy wedding chant was begun, and one after another the men and women of the tribe fell into line and circled about the fires.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Had Two Bullet Wounds in His Head

BOSTON, Sept. 7. A man about [illegible] years old, whose identity is at present unknown to the police but who is supposed to have been a resident of Palmer, was found dead at 8.15 last evening on Lewis wharf, with two bullet wounds in his head. A short distance from his side was a .32-calibre revolver with two empty cartridges.

The dead man had been drinking during the afternoon and evening and while in the company of William Davis, a seaman, had made threats of ending his life. Nevertheless, two men are held by the police of the [illegible] street station to await the decision of Medical Examiner Harris.

The men held are Davis, to whom the dead man is supposed to have said that he would commit suicide, and [illegible] Swanson, who was picked up by [illegible] Sweeney and who was walking around with two hats, one of which plainly did not fit him.

Swanson was very much under the influence of liquor, but sobered up quickly when the police began to question him.

About 8.15 last evening, William McGurty and [illegible] in the employ of the Union Freight Railway company, while going down Lewis wharf found the body of a man lying between two of the cars which were pulled on the siding on the wharf. McGurty supposed that the man was asleep and endeavored to arouse him. He threw his lantern in the man's face and saw that he was looking into the face of a dead man.

Upon closer examination McGurty discovered two bullet holes in the left temple, very close to each other, from which blood was still flowing.

McGurty ran up the wharf and notified an officer of division 1.

Within a very short distance of where the body had lain, between the two cars, was found a 32-calibre revolver, with two empty chambers.

Further examination of the surroundings showed a pool of blood in a doorway on the wharf several feet away from where the body was found, and this led to the presumption that the suicide, or, as the police later were led to believe, murder, was committed at that point.

Against this, however, is the statement of one of the witnesses held by the police that the dead man told him that he would never see him again, and on this the police base the theory of suicide. This morning the medical examiner will make an examination of the body at Briggs' undertaking establishment on Howard street and will determine the cause of death.

The dead man was about 35 years old, 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighed 150 pounds. He was dark complexioned and wore black underwear, a black outing shirt, black trousers with light stripe and black shoes. When found he had no hat, coat or vest. The only thing found on the body was a rebate check on the Boston & Maine railroad between Palmer and Boston.

As far as can be learned the dead man came to Boston yesterday, as the rebate check found was dated Sept. 6.

SUPT. BROOKS

FAVORS THE NEW SYSTEM OF SPELLING.

BOSTON, Sept. 7. The recommendations of the simplified spelling board are likely to receive official recognition in the Boston public schools. Stratton D. Brooks, superintendent of schools in this city stated today that he was decidedly in favor of the changes proposed by the board and approved President Roosevelt's order introducing the new forms in executive documents. He added that he might make some recommendations along this line for the Boston schools. Mr. Brooks said that his policy would be to place the list of words recommended by the board before the pupils and to instruct them that these forms are just as good and sustained by just as good authority as the older forms and by the historical development of the language. Then they could use which ever they wished. Mr. Brooks added however, that he did not favor any general spelling reform. "My approval of spelling reform," he said, "goes just as far as the recommendations of the simplified spelling board and no farther."

LONG'S SPEECH

Severely Criticised by Morton Dexter

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 7. The recent address by former Secretary of the navy John D. Long, in which he discussed the Pilgrim fathers was the subject of critical comment on the part of nearly all the speakers at the banquet of the General Society of Mayflower descendants last night. Samuel B. Capen of Boston the governor general of the society referred to ex-Governor Long's conclusions as unwarranted as did also several other speakers, but the most elaborate answer to Mr. Long's statements was contained in a speech by Morton Dexter of Boston. Mr. Dexter said that to all intents and purposes Mr. Long charged the Pilgrims with being hypocrite.

"For my part," said Mr. Dexter, "I absolutely repudiate any such conclusion in regard to them."

Regarding the charge of commercialism, Mr. Dexter declared that the Pilgrims were heavily in debt to merchant adventurers who fitted out their expedition and that they made an honest and painstaking effort to pay off this debt. They should be judged he said, by the standard of their own time, rather than by the standards of the present. As a matter of fact, said Mr. Dexter, the Pilgrims themselves were only a small minority of the colony and the laws which they enacted were to suppress the lawless element. None of the crime imputed to them occurred until the colony had been settled for some time.

Mr. Dexter concluded by declaring "there were no men or women anywhere who came nearer to the great ideal of life than those patient, humble men and women."

The general society elected officers as follows:

Governor-general, Samuel B. Capen, Boston.

Secretary-general, Louis E. Fuller, New York.

Treasurer-general, James M. Rhodes, Pennsylvania.

Historian-general, Edward H. Whorf, Massachusetts.

Elder-general, Rev. John L. Ewall, District of Columbia.

Captain-general, Myles Standish M. D., Massachusetts.

Surgeon-general, Abiel F. Nelson M. D., Connecticut.

Assistant generals, Howland Davis, New York; Edward F. Swanton, Massachusetts; Herbert Jenny, Ohio; Allen Bush, Col.; Walter M. Howland, Illinois; George C. Mason, Pennsylvania; William Waldo Hyde, Connecticut. The convention will continue today.

PRES. HILL

DEFIES THE STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.—Jas. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, has defied the authorities of the state railroad and warehouses commission who subpoena him as a witness before that body.

Last Saturday the commission issued a subpoena to president Hill and gave it to Eric Olson a complaining witness against the railroad to serve. The subpoena cited Mr. Hill to appear before the commission September 18 and give evidence in the case of the citizens of Hastings against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway carries coal for the great northern and the northern Pacific between the Twin Cities and Hastings. Mr. Olson called on President Hill yesterday and handed Mr. Hill the subpoena. Mr. Hill read it and said:

"I cannot attend that meeting. I have too much business on hand. I don't think I will be in the city at that time any way."

The manager of Lowell S would like to arrange a game with the winner of the Elm-Ketchup game. Game to be played on either the Arcanum grounds or Spalding park on Saturday, Sept. 22. Address C. E. Edwards, Box 459, Lowell Mass.

Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8, Lowell S will play the Dragons at the Arcanum grounds, Westlands. Game called at 2.15.

The Westford A. A. would like to arrange a game with the Lions, Prospects or any other strong team in Lowell Saturday, Sept. 8.

The Dragons have cancelled their game with the S. P. S. C. and will cross bats with the Lowell S. R. A. team Saturday at 2.15.

The Ketchup A. C. and Elm B. B. C. will battle for supremacy at Spalding park Saturday afternoon. Each team has scored a victory over the other and besides this being the "rubber" game it will also decide as to which team is entitled to the championship as both have proven that they have a strong claim to the honor. The admirers of each team are loyal and will turn out in force to cheer their favorites on to victory.

IN SACRAMENTO

IRRIGATION CONGRESS WILL HOLD NEXT SESSION.

BOISE IDAHO, Sept. 7. The fourteenth national irrigation congress closed after agreeing to hold the next congress at Sacramento, Cal., and electing as president of the fifteenth congress Governor George E. Chamberlain of Oregon.

The attractions of the Jamestown exposition had been cleverly presented and on the first ballot for the convention city, Jamestown was in the lead. Sacramento won on the second ballot. A minority report was presented by Oregon and Utah representatives on the resolution committee voicing a demand that the federal government authorize the issuance of two per cent. bonds running 20 years to enable the reclamation service to finance and carry out all practicable irrigation projects in the United States."

The minority report was tabled.

Congressman Reeder of Kansas opposing the minority report said the eastern congressmen would resent it. He said they had little faith in the success of the reclamation law now being put on trial. In this connection he quoted Speaker Joseph G. Cannon as having said ten minutes before the passage of the reclamation act:

"Reeder that's the biggest and slickest steal I have seen since I have been in congress."

Senator Dubois of Idaho said that but for the personal efforts of President Roosevelt the reclamation act could not have been passed.

THE RAILROADS

ARE NOW OBLIGED TO PAY A TAX.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 7.—The state board of equalization of taxes dismissed today the appeal of the Central Railroad from the assessment made against its property in Newark under the Duffield act of last winter providing for the taxation of second class railroad property at local rates for the benefit of the municipalities in which it is located.

William H. Corbin, representing the Erie Railroad and acting as spokesman for the other railroads, announced to the board that his clients proposed to attack the constitutionality of the Duffield act and also to raise a question as to the powers conferred upon the board.

The board ruled that under the constitution, which requires that all property shall be assessed at its true value for purposes of taxation, and under the statute giving it power to equalize taxes it has not authority to accomplish this by reducing the valuation of any class of property below its true value, but may do so only by increasing the valuation of under-assessed property to the basis of 100 per cent.

PICKS HARVARD

WELL KNOWN OARSMAN FAVORS THE CRIMSON.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—"I plump whole heartedly for Harvard," writes Vivian Nickalls the well known oarsman to the Daily Mail this morning.

"My reason for doing so is because I consider that in nearly all their trials the Americans have shown more speed and staying power than their rivals."

Mr. Nickalls expressed the opinion that the leg work of Harvard will bring victory. There is likely to be rough water, Mr. Nickalls says, and he prefers the Americans to the Englishmen on a disturbed surface.

GEORGE FOSTER

The new mayor is the publisher of Foster's Daily Democrat. He is a Republican.

CUBAN LIBERALS

Hope to Force Palma to Resign

HAVANA, Sept. 7. While the peace projects have caused a general suspension of revolutionary operations no appreciable progress towards anything like a satisfactory understanding has been made. The liberal leaders insist that it is unjust to regard them as insurgents and assert that they are merely seeking for peace, at the same time declaring that not only must the terms of peace be better than heretofore talked of but there must be some unquestionable guarantee that the conditions will be carried out to the letter. The moderates meanwhile continue in a waiting attitude.

Gen. Monteal was busy throughout the day receiving callers and holding conferences. He said last night that he had no reason to be disappointed with the progress the negotiations are making and that the semi official suspension of hostilities which began today in Santa Clara and Havana provinces would be extended tomorrow to Pinar del Rio giving the veterans a chance to get among their comrades and others in the field and push negotiations for peace. Gen. Monteal appears to be discouraged by the attitude of the liberals.

The liberals have not yet relinquished the hope that they may be able to force the resignation of President Palma and all the high government officials. The succession of Vice President Mendez Capote to the presidency is also discussed. Liberals seem to think they could reach an understanding with him that would be satisfactory to all.

Many business men of Havana ridicule the whole effort for what they call a patched up peace which, they allege can be no more than temporary and some go as far as to assert that the country never can be governed rightly or investments be absolutely safeguarded unless the United States intervenes. This is frankly stated in some cases, also by high government officials.

Despite all drawbacks, however, the fact that peace proposals are pending and the hostilities have been suspended has brought more or less hopelessness to the people of Havana.

FOSTER TO SPEAK.

The 39th annual Trades Union Congress opened in Liverpool, Wednesday, with 491 delegates, representing a membership of a million and a half. F. K. Foster, one of the fraternal delegates from this country, will address the convention today on "Labor Conditions in the United States." As an orator Mr. Foster is the peer of any man in the labor movement and may be trusted to do Boston credit before the European trade unionists.

WOMAN IS CURED

Mary Barros to Leave Lepers

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 7.—After a year's residence at the state leper colony on the island of Penikese and a previous year of strict seclusion under the surveillance of the state health authorities, Mrs. Mary Barros of Wareham is shortly to be released as cured of leprosy according to Dr. Louis Edmonds, the state board's resident physician at Penikese.

She will receive her discharge Oct. 1 and will be allowed to join her husband, Napoleon Barros, who has frequently visited her during her illness. The state health officials will continue to watch her case at regular intervals, but she is considered as practically cured.

She has never shown any discoloration of the skin from the disease and the presence of leprosy was detected only by examination of a culture from throat secretions.

During the time that she is supposed to have had the disease Mrs. Barros has become the mother of three children, one of whom was born last March on the island of Penikese. All the children are normal physical health. Dr. Edmonds does not consider the disease contagious.

PROF. MICHAEL IATROS.

DR. GENERALIS

Complained of for Criminal Libel

Michael Iatros, Greek consul, appeared before District Attorney Sanderson yesterday with a complaint of criminal libel against his fellow-countryman Dr. Demosthenes Generalis, the well known physician with offices in the Associate building.

The complainants are the Terzakis brothers who conduct a department store at 424 Market street and who also edit a Greek paper yclept "Metanastis." It is understood that the trouble arose in a newspaper controversy between the Terzakis brothers in their paper and Dr. Generalis who wrote signed articles to a Greek newspaper published in New York.

There are also two other complainants against Dr. Generalis for alleged causes growing out of the same matter. These are a Dr. Veahnes, also a Greek, and the Greek consul himself. Mr. Iatros, who claims that they have been falsely accused in certain serious matters of which Dr. Generalis wrote, in his signed articles to the New York paper.

All the witnesses were present at the opening of court today to tell their story to the grand jury.

AUTO BURNED UP

Alderman Allen Lost His Machine

CAUGHT FIRE IN WOBURN

Only Tire, Robe and Running Gear Saved

Alderman Allen lost his automobile last night.

The alderman arrived in town this morning with a tire thrown over his shoulder and a robe under his arm, all that was left of his fine running machine except the running gear.

The alderman took a trip last night that carried him to Woburn and while passing along one of the streets of that city one of the tires began to give him some trouble. He alighted to see what the matter was and noticed that the machine was very hot. Suddenly a sheet of flame shot up from under the seat and then followed an explosion of gasoline. In a second the auto was a mass of flames and though the doctor did his best to extinguish the fire his efforts were in vain. All the doctor saved was the running gear, a tire and the robe. It was late at night and as there was no train for Lowell until this morning the alderman was obliged to spend the night in Woburn. The insurance on the machine was carried through the agency of Fred C. Church.

WARRANT ISSUED

For the Arrest of Stensland

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A telegram from Attorney Bluns at Washington to Assistant States Attorney Arbour last night said that the president had cabled a warrant to the American minister at Tangier requiring him to surrender Stensland. Word was also telegraphed that the state department had arranged to have an American bound passenger steamer touching at Gibraltar to stop at Tangier and take on board the prisoner and his captor.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Only three more performances of "The Palace of the King" will be given at the Academy of Music and those who have not seen this beautiful play should avail themselves of the closing opportunities. Next week the Severin DeDeyn stock company will present the captivating romantic play, "The Belle of Richmond" a production of continuous charm. In staging it Mr. DeDeyn has given the same artistic care to detail that characterized the opening production.

With the season only one week old the success of the company for the season is already assured for the audiences at each performance were loud in their demonstration of enthusiasm and appreciation and Mr. DeDeyn has received over 100 letters of congratulation from the patrons of the theatre.

It is unnecessary to go into detail in describing the coming attraction for the fact that it is being produced at the Academy of Music by the Severin DeDeyn stock company is in itself sufficient endorsement for the local theatrical public. The souvenir matinee, inaugurated so auspiciously last Tuesday afternoon will be repeated next Tuesday and will be a permanent feature of the theatre every Tuesday afternoon during the season.

GALLINGER LOST

U. S. Senator Defeated by Churchill Men

Though He is Head of State Committee

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 7. United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, chairman of the republican state committee, will not be able to attend the coming republican state convention as a delegate. Senator Gallinger headed a list of six candidates for delegates to the convention from ward 4 in this city, where he resides, these candidates being in favor of the nomination of Charles H. Greenleaf for governor. At the caucus last night, all six were defeated by delegates who will go to the state convention under instructions to vote for Winston Churchill as the party's nominee for governor. James G. Lyford, naval officer of the port of Boston, but a resident of this city, was one of the defeated candidates for delegate from the same ward.

SHE WAS ROBBED

Wife of Lowell Pitcher Lost Money

While watching the New England league game between Lowell and Lynn at Oceanside Park, Lynn, yesterday, Mrs. Mary Young of Franklin, wife of Pitcher Young of Lowell, was robbed of her hand bag containing $15 in money, a gold watch worth $30 and several railroad tickets. Later in the day John Sullivan, aged 12, of 3 Collins street terrace, Lynn, was arrested.

Sullivan, according to a confession made to the police, was with two other boys underneath the grand stand seats. They saw the bag lying unnoticed on the bench beside Mrs. Young's feet, and grabbed it.

Mrs. Young reported her loss to Officers Cahill and Eagan. Coming through Central square they noticed Sullivan and recognized him as one of the boys who hang around the ball park. They chased him, and Sullivan finally dashed into a house on Buffum street, where he was found hiding in the attic.

Seven dollars was found on him. The bag, with the watch in it, was found under a nearby doorstep.

In accordance with the new juvenile law, Sullivan was not locked up for the night, but will be arraigned later with his companions.

IN POLICE COURT

Light Docket Presented This Morning

DRACUT STABBING CASE PUT OFF

Because Lawyer Ford Could Not Attend

In police court this morning Carl A. Mann, charged with drunkenness, was continued in $200 to September 11.

Frank King was before the court for drunkenness yesterday and after telling a hard-luck, large family story was placed on probation. Frank, however forgot the needs of the family when he was allowed to go and this morning again occupied a reserved seat in the cage on a drunkenness charge. Frank's wife came before the court and told her story after which Frank promised "never to touch it again." Judge Hadley gave him a three months' suspended sentence to the common jail.

Dan Regan for his second jag within the past six months had to pay $6.

The continued case of Frank Rogers, charged with assault and battery and with using a dangerous weapon, was called but owing to the absence of Mr. Ford, lawyer for the defendant, who wrote applying for a further continuance, the case was continued till Tuesday next, defendant being held in $600. Lawyer J. Joseph Hennessey appeared for the government and Lawyer Hogan for the injured man.

JAMES BELLOWS McGREGOR, THE OLDEST MASON IN THE COUNTRY.

105 YEARS OLD

MT. SUNAPEE, N. H., Sept. 7.—Within a few miles of here and within sight of his birthplace James Bellows McGregor yesterday celebrated his 105th birthday with a public reception.

A large gathering of neighbors, friends and relatives called to congratulate the centenarian and wish him many more birthdays. A number of workmen called during the noon hour and greeted the sturdy Scotchman.

A delegation from Mt. Vernon lodge, A. F. and A. M., brought him the well wishes of his Masonic brothers.

Mr. McGregor was born Monday, Sept. 6, 1801. He is of Scotch descent and does not use liquor, and never has. He lives in a house he built in 1842, which mind and memory are remarkable. He is shaded by maple trees that he himself planted 60 years ago. He is cared for by his granddaughter, Miss Alice M. McGregor.

There are 2 Abbott-Downing Wagons; one is 9 feet 5 in. x 4 feet, three springs, cut under, inch and ¾ tire, nicely painted red body and straw gear. This wagon is fully as good as the day it left Abbott Downings'. One Abbott Downing Wagon, 7 feet 10 inches x 4 feet, three springs, cut under, with express top, rolls up all around, inch and ⅞ tire, painted very catchy, red body and straw gear. This wagon is practically new. Also a heavy Concord Wagon, rubber tired. This wagon was built to order for a firm, cost $150, and never was used. The above three carriages are property of a firm that was going into business but owing to other arrangements never started. One full sized Goddard Buggy, built for a doctor, cushion tire, upholstered in blue broadcloth; it is very roomy and has an adjustable seat for a child. This is a first class job and was built to order and was never run over 200 miles; present owner thought it too heavy for his horse. One Stafford Pneumatic Road Wagon, very light, in excellent shape, cost $200. One Piano Box Buggy, rubber tired. One Custom-made Concord, upholstered in dark green leather, painted black body, red gear, inch and ¾ tire, rubber carpet and boot. This is a very nice business wagon and was used about two months. 1 Lenox, cut-under Runabout, with rumble, upholstered in blue cloth, nicely painted and rubber tired. One two-wheeled Chauncy Thomas Cart, upholstered in blue cloth, and very nicely painted. For the description of the balance of the carriages see this paper next week.

No entries will be taken for this sale after five o'clock on Tuesday, September 11. Carriages will be on exhibition Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Commission Rooms.

An absolute sale at public auction on the premises regardless of the weather of two two-tenement houses and about 12,300 square feet of land at Nos. 20 and 22, 26 and 28 Dinley street, Dracut, Mass. The house numbering 20 and 22 consists of two tenements of nine rooms and pantry with each tenement; four rooms on the first floor, three on the second floor, and two on the third floor. The house numbering 26 and 28, consists of two tenements with eight rooms and pantry with each tenement; four rooms on the first floor, three on the second floor, and one on the 3d floor. Both houses separate front and back doors with each tenement and good cellars, they bring in a yearly rental of about $444 and are in very good condition inside and out. The lot has a very large frontage on Dinley street, and there is a small barn located in the rear of the lot. The fact of there being 12,300 square feet in the lot, gives plenty of room around the buildings. Now this is an excellent location; being very convenient to the Navy Yard mills, on the line of electrics and within 100 yards of the Dracut street school. If you are in the market for a safe and solid investment, one that will pay you a large percentage, look this property up.
